Storm Hits Area, Dutchess Man Killed

1,400 Are At Loss For Power

Lightning Fatal, Sets $60,000 Fire

Tornado warnings were issued Tuesday for areas of central and eastern New York State and while no definite tornado materialized the area was hit by a couple of storms which brought high winds and did considerable damage.

The storms were accompanied by severe lightning and high winds which blew down trees and crippled utility lines in many places.

In the local area Central Hudson reported a total of 1,400 customers were without service for varying periods In the Kingston area some 800 customers experienced interruptions, particularly in the High Falls area and in scattered instances from Saugerties to Esopus.

Outside Crews for Repair

There was considerable damage in the Hyde Park area where trees brought down lines and some 350 customers were without service for a time. In the Millbrook area 250 customers also were without power for a time.

In the Poughkeepsie area linemen from Beacon were called in to assist local crews.

Working in Field

James McKinney, 27-year-old Dover Plains farmhand was killed when struck by lightning as he and his employer, Samuel Hall, crouched in a field near a tractor to escape the fury of the storm. The men had been working in a field on the Chestnut Hill Road.

Lightning is believed to have set fire to a house on Violet Hill Road, Rhinebeck about 9:50 p. m. The Myron Furest home was gutted. State Police reported the loss as estimated at $60,000.

Storm Around State

An Associated Press from Albany concerning storms in several state areas said:

Central Hudson reported services were interrupted over a wide area by falling trees and in instances to trees being struck by lightning. At the peak of the storm high winds swept over the area.

At Napanoch state police reported a tree was blown down obstructing the highway for a time.

In the village of Ellenville a tree was blown down doing considerable damage to the home of Attorney Benjamin Lonstein on Canal Street and trees were also blown down on Park at Center Street and on Circle Avenue at Warren Street, halting traffic for a time.

Cablevision Out

In Kingston a tree was blown down at Albany and Tremper Avenue and branches were reported down in various other parts of the city. Cablevision, which has many Lines running on Central Hudson poles, was out of commission for some time during the early evening due to trees and branches damaging lines.

Over 40 Microphones Are Hidden in Moscow Embassy

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. security agents have dug more than 40 secret microphones out of the walls of the American Embassy building in Moscow during the past month and are searching for others which may still be hidden in the building.

Officials are investigating to determine if any important secret information was obtained by the Soviets through the microphone network.

Makes Formal Protest

Ambassador Foy D. Kohler has made a formal protest to the Soviet government over the listening devices.

The story of the hidden microphones was disclosed by the State Department Tuesday. A statement by the department's security chief, G. Marvin Gentile, said indications are the devices were "placed in the building prior to its occupancy by the United States" 11 years ago.

Used Since 1953

The building was assigned to the United States by the Soviet government for use as an embassy in 1952 and was occupied in the spring of 1953.

Officials said that not counting the newly found network, since 1949 more than 130 listening devices of various types were discovered and removed from U.S. Embassy buildings in Moscow and other Eastern European capitals.

Had Suspicion

They said any information losses which may have occurred through the microphone network were probably limited by "the measures taken for protection against such a possibility."

This apparently referred to the fact that all employes of embassies in Communist countries are warned frequently that their offices and residences may be bugged and are cautioned against discussing secret information where it might be picked up.

In Principal Offices

The microphones were dug out of the eighth, ninth and 10th floors of the Moscow embassy. It is on these floors that Kohler

McNamara Says Yanks Receiving Best Available

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara said today that American soldiers in South Viet Nam "are receiving the best equipment available for the unique task at hand."

With this statement, McNamara sought to refute charges that the use of obsolescent planes in South Viet Nam caused the death of two American fliers.

Questioning to Follow

McNamara gave his views in a statement for a closed session of the House Armed Services Committee. A copy of the statement was released by the committee as McNamara began to testify.

Members of the committee were expected to question him closely.

The chairman, Rep. Carl Vinson, D-Ga., said in an opening statement, also released by the committee, that "I want every member to feel free to develop any thought he may wish to express or ask any question that

Adlai Will Give Important U. N. Talk on Thursday

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson will deliver an extremely important speech in the U.N. Security Council Thursday on what the United States considers "the deteriorating situation in Southeast Asia," a U.S. spokesman said today.

Stevenson, the chief U.S. delegate to the United Nations, cut short a tour of Europe and was due in New York this afternoon from London.

The U.S. spokesman said he had been asked to come home by Secretary of State Dean Rusk.

Vols Will Hear N. Y. Fire Head At August Event

Guest speaker at the annual banquet of the Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association at Sportsmen's Park, Rosendale, Thursday, August 6, will be New York City Fire Department Commissioner Edward Thompson. Announcement that Commissioner Thompson would be the speaker was made by Convention Co-chairman Charles Peterson Tuesday night at the May meeting of the Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association at Sawkill.

52 Units Sign

Plans for the convention are progressing rapidly and to date 36 companies with 16 musical units have signed up for the parade which will mark the closing of the convention Saturday afternoon, Aug. 8 in the Town of Rosendale.

There will be 14 trophies awarded to companies participating in the parade.

Deadline for reservatioins for the banquet was announced as July 24 and no more tickets will be available after that date.

Admission of the Tobasco Town of Rochester Fire Company No. 2 to the County Association brings the number of companies on the roll at 76. The company was received into membership Tuesday night.

Record Crowd Attends

At the meeting, which was held in the Sawkill firehouse, there were 41 companies represented with a record crowd of 175 members in attendance.

President Herbert Faurte presided and after the welcome by Chief George Leedecke of the Sawkill Fire Company and the opening prayer by Chaplain Leonard Seaver, the business of the evening was taken up.

Ulster County Fire Co-ordinator Winfred Snyder reported 189 fires during the month. There were 16 mutual aid calls, seven emergency calls, four false alarms and four out of district calls.

Progress was reported on plans for the Ulster County Field Day and the date will be announced.

A report also was given on the

Maryland Gives Wallace 42.66 PC

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP)—Sen. Daniel B. Brewster, running as a stand-in for President Johnson, defeated Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace in a Maryland presidential primary clouded by a close vote and a murky legal question.

In a Democratic race pinned on his opposition to the civil rights bill pending in the Senate, Wallace drew 212,068 votes Tuesday, 42.66 per cent of the party total.

Better Showing

It was better than his showing in Indiana—29.8 per cent—or Wisconsin—33.7—and he claimed vindication in the Maryland vote of his stand against the rights bill originated by John F. Kennedy and pushed by Johnson.

Brewster, 41, a former Marine elected to the Senate only two years ago, was elated by his effort to preserve Maryland's 48 national nominating convention votes for Johnson.

He had been tapped by the party organization—with Johnson's blessing—to take on Wallace in a border state with a recent history of racial strife marked by repeated outbreaks of violence in Cambridge.

Brewster wound up with 264,613 votes, 53.23 per cent of the total. The remaining 4 per cent were cast by voters preferring Andrew J. Easter, a Baltimore draftsman, or an uninstructed delegation to the national convention.

Different Views

"We made the fight and we won and I'm glad," said Brewster.

He aimed this parting shot at Wallace: "In baseball, anyway, it's three strikes and you're out."

Wallace didn't see it that way. "This Maryland vote," he said, "should let them know in Washington and in both national parties that they can't get rid of us by calling us bad names."

The governor hinted of a possible technical challenge of the results because of Maryland's old unit vote system. Similar to the Electoral College vote in presidential elections, it makes it possible for a candidate to win a primary even though he trails in the popular vote.

Hearing Set Monday

A U.S. District Court in Baltimore has nullified the unit vote system in Maryland primaries for statewide office. It has set a hearing for Monday on a suit to apply the ban to the presidential primary also.

Brewster led in enough counties and Baltimore city districts to get a 92-79 margin in unit votes. But his popular vote edge in Baltimore County, which has 14 unit votes, was only 106 out of 93,000 cast.

A reversal of the unofficial vote in that county when the official count is taken in about a week could change the unit vote picture, but Atty. Gen. Thomas B. Finan has said this would be meaningless.

They can't change the rules in the middle of the game," Wallace insisted. An aide said the Baltimore County canvass would be closely observed.

Unlikely Manned Probes Will Be Tried for Year

FLORENCE, Italy (AP) — It may be a year before either the United States or the Soviet Union undertakes major new manned space ventures.

Both countries must solve crucial problems before they can try space experiments more spectacular than the manned orbital flights of 1963.

Problems Raised

During the annual meeting of the International Committee on Space Research — COSPAR — which closed today, United States and Soviet scientists said manned space flights had raised the question of whether a man could tolerate more than five days in space with present equipment.

The scientists said astronauts were showing such after-effects of space flights as low blood pressure. Delegates from both countries indicated the five-day flights by Soviet astronauts last year were about the longest that could be safely attempted now.

Prof. Anatoli Blagonravov, chief Soviet delegate, said it might be a year before his country is ready to try a major new venture.

The United States reported it planned to start flights by two-man Gemini ships by the end of 1964 or early in 1965. Privately, American scientists said the first Gemini ship probably would not be launched for a year.

Others Have Plans

The Soviet Union and the United States plan to continue sending satellites and rockets aloft.

Italy and France also have important space plans. The Italians hope to launch their first satellite, using a floating launching platform off Kenya and an American rocket. France is preparing to orbit a 100 per cent French satellite with a 100 per cent French rocket.

Other space experiments being planned:

—By the end of 1964, a Mars probe by a U.S. Mariner rocket that will fly past the planet and transmit television pictures back to earth.

—By 1970, U.S. and Soviet attempts to put artificial satellites in orbit around Mars.

Unanimous Approval Given by City Council

Will Take Two Months for Processing Broadway East Job by Finance Agency

Forwarding of a loan and grant application is the next step, probably to be taken next week, in advancing downtown's Broadway East urban renewal project, Eric Hemphill, local UR director, said today after unanimous approval Tuesday night of the project by the Common Council.

It will take the Housing and Home Finance Agency about two months to process the application for the rehabilitation project, which will cost an estimated gross sum of $9,222,000. After processing, the city receives the actual grant, and then relocation of families and razing of buildings will start.

Sale of land in the 116-acre project area will bring an estimated $577,000, making the net project cost $8,646,000.

Listed for displacement in the project area are 442 families.

Advanced As Needed

The federal grant is not forwarded in lump sum, but will be advanced in such sums as are needed as the project progresses.

Tuesday night's Common Council action culminated some five years of preliminary work and planning.

Leaders Comment

"Many have worked hard" through those years, Council Majority Leader John Machione (R) 12th Ward, emphasized at the meeting. The project, he said, will not only be an asset to the downtown area, but to the city as a whole because of the tax relief the rehabilitation of the area will bring. He congratulated all who worked on planning of the project.

"This is a night that will long be remembered," said Minority Leader James F. Howard (D) 10th Ward, when one thinks in terms of what is to be done for the future prosperity of Kingston. Last night's action he said, represented some five years of work brought to a reality. He said he was proud to belong to the age, which achieved it.

Commends Yallum

Alderman-at-Large Joseph F. Carroll Jr., who noticed Elmore C. Yallum, former city planning board member, and chairman of the board in the council chamber, commended him for his years of work in behalf of city planning and urban renewal.

Approved also last night on request of City Treasurer M. G. Richardson was a measure calling for consolidation of 1963 bond issues totaling $233,600, prior to sale. They include sums for street and sewer work, and the purchase of new accounting and billing machines.

Rockefeller Steps Up His Attacks

RIVERSIDE, Calif. (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller said today he doesn't believe a majority of his party's voters will regard Sen. Barry Goldwater's political philosophy as "responsible Republicanism."

The New York governor, with the campaign field all to himself, stepped up his attacks on his lone opponent in California's presidential primary — a test he said could make or break their battle for the nomination.

His Opinion

"This is it, in my opinion," he said of the June 2 election in a radio program Tuesday.

Earlier he said that if Goldwater wins the race for California's 86 delegate votes it might put him over the 655 needed for the nomination at the Republican National Convention in July.

But, he added, if Goldwater doesn't cinch it on the first ballot "then he won't get it at all." The Arizona senator expects to go into the San Francisco convention with more than 500 delegates. Rockefeller has 28, but is counting on all of New York's 92.

Goldwater Leaves

Goldwater headed back to Washington Monday and doesn't plan to return until next Monday. Rockefeller has scheduled four days of compaigning this week and five more next week.

Opening his final swing in Southern California, Rockefeller repeatedly singled out instances where he said Goldwater differed with former President Dwight D. Eisenhower and other "responsible" party leaders.

Points to Upset

He said his upset victory in Oregon, where he ran ahead of Henry Cabot Lodge and Goldwater in a six-way contest, indicated the direction the voters want the GOP to take.

"At stake is whether the Republican party shall remain a party of progress, moderation and responsibility, or whether it shall leave the mainstream of American political thought and action and represent the narrow doctrinaire views of a small minority," he said in a statewide television appearance from Los Angeles Tuesday night.

In a speech prepared for California Baptist College in Riverside today, Rockefeller said that Goldwater is out of step with his party and the times.

Famous School Closing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Caroline Kennedy's famous White House school is being closed at the end of the present term. One of its teachers will take over a new cooperative school Mrs. John F. Kennedy is setting up for John Jr., 3, and his friends.

Caroline, 6, who is finishing first grade, will attend the Sacred Heart Convent, a Roman Catholic school in Bethesda, Md., next year. Her school has been meeting at the British Embassy since her father was assassinated.

Alice Grimes of Providence, R.I., Caroline's teacher this year, will take over the cooperative, which will meet in the children's homes, a spokesman for Mrs. Kennedy said Tuesday.

No Opposition Is Heard on Buses, Praised by Mayor

A Public Service Commission hearing Tuesday in the Municipal Auditorium on application of Urban Transit Corp., to continue operating bus service in Kingston on a permanent basis, drew no opposition, and Mayor John J. Schwenk testified in behalf of continuance of the service.

Urban Transit, headed by Julius Lipton, which acquired the bus franchise on a temporary basis after it was discontinued with PSC permission by the Kingston City Transportation, seeks to continue operating permanently.

The hearing was conducted by Isadore Crade, PSC examiner.

Mayor Schwenk testified as to the satisfactory performance of the corporation and said he had heard favorable comment in the city concerning service provided.

Urban Transit, which began operating last Nov. 4, also seeks to extend service to the Town of Ulster shopping area, and awaits

Fiery Vessel Is Reported Sinking In Pacific Ocean

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)—"Oh, God, I love you, honey. I'm glad you're safe."

At this greeting, Randi Schjeldrup fell into the embrace of her Aunt Josephine after the nightmarish burning of a ship at sea, in which one died and nine others were missing.

Mrs. Schjeldrup, 29, her three small children and her husband, Sindre, were among 45 survivors from the Norwegian freighter Sandanger, on which Schjeldrup was chief engineer.

The 45 arrived here Tuesday night aboard their rescue ship, the German freighter Bodenstein.

The Bodenstein raced to aid the stricken Sandanger in the predawn hours Monday, less than an hour after the Sandanger was ripped by an explosion that ignited her cargo of baled cotton and wood pulp. The Bodenstein's crew plucked the survivors from liferafts near the burning ship.

Social Security Account Deserves Strict Attention

Your social security account deserves the same careful attention you give to your bank account, your savings bonds, or any other matter important to your future. This reminder came today from George J. Habernig, social security district manager in Kingston.

He pointed out that the earnings credited to the account of an employe or self-employed person covered by social security determines the amount of any benefits to be paid to him, to his dependents, or to his survivors. The higher the wages credited, the higher the benefits, he stated.

"As a matter of fact," Habernig said, "although a minimum number of credits are required in all cases, it is the amount of wages or self-employment income credited that determines how much in social security benefits a person will get."

An employe can use his W-2 form as one means of checking the wages reported for him. In addition to total wages earned and taxed for withholding purposes, the W-2 should show wages for the year subject to social security and the amount of FICA taxes deducted. The wages subject to social security taxes are the basis of your social security credits for the year. The Federal Insurance Contributions Act (FICA) tax finances the social security benefit program.

Anyone can get a statement of his social security credits by writing to the national headquarters in Baltimore. If you change jobs frequently it is especially important that you check at least every three years, according to the manager.

A postcard request form can be obtained from any social security office. Since your record is confidential, no one else can check your record for you; you must do this yourself.

Habernig urged anyone having questions about social security to get in touch with the nearest social security office. The telephone number is FE 8-7307, and for inquires by mail or personal visit, the address is 57 Albany Avenue, Kingston.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—First reports on the economy in May show the April advance is being maintained. June might well set new peaks before the start of the anticipated summer slowdown.

More About Politics

And by then people will be thinking less about the business cycle and more about politics, anyway.

The upward pace isn't as fast as in the final weeks in 1963, but the news reports are peppered with advances in particular industrials and with even more glowing predictions.

Steel production continues to confound its own industry experts. Output is still on that uphill course that helped pull April's all-inclusive industrial production index to a new high. The steel mills are pouring out tonnage at the highest rate since last June.

The current outlook is that this month's total production will fall short of last May's 11.5 million tons. Still, orders for June are coming in better than expected earlier and the industry now expects to end the first half of 1964 with total output well ahead of its New Year's predictions.

Sales Holding High

Auto makers are pushing production. And new car buyers are keeping sales high. Detroit, too, is planning for a summer slowdown as it changes over for new models, a more extensive revision this year than last. And it is girding for labor contract bargaining.

Retailers in general report sales holding high. Some chains note marked advances in recent weeks, even if over-all retail figures haven't jumped as quickly as some advocates of the federal income tax cut had predicted.

The increase in consumer credit totals shows the public still in a buying and borrowing mood. And the stepped-up clearing of old debts is considered putting more families in position to start buying soon in greater volume.

The Commerce Department has just revised downward its earlier estimate of the Gross National Product in the first three months of the year. But the optimists even here can point to the causes of the revision as having good points.

The reason for the revision, the department says, is that business inventories didn't climb as fast as first thought, and government spending did not reach the pace earlier indicated. But keeping stocks trim quiets fears of excesses leading to a slump. And government spending is expected to climb later.

To Sentence Woman In Stabbing May 28

BATH, N.Y. (AP) — Leola Stevens, 38, faces sentencing May 28 after pleading guilty to a manslaughter charge in the stabbing of 20-year-old Fred Jackson Jr. in the back seat of an automobile.

The woman, from Elmira, had been charged with second-degree murder. But Judge Alton J. Wightman of Steuben County Court permitted her Tuesday to plead guilty to a lesser charge of second-degree manslaughter.

Jackson, also of Elmira, was stabbed in Bath last Sept. 15. A motive has not been learned.

Rochester Town Planners Meet

Th Planning Board of the Town of Rochester met at the Accord Firehouse recently with John Scribano, chairman presiding. A request from the town board to inspect a new road in the Sheldon Development and a portion of the Project 32 road that connects with the Stonykill Road, was discussed and it was agreed that such inspection would be made as soon as possible.

A rough draft of new specifications for minor roads was mailed previously to all members of the Planning Board by Samuel Reavin and was taken up, item by item at the meeting. Most of the specifications were approved as read, but there were a few items which required clarification. At the next meeting of the Planning Board Wednesday, May 27, the superintendent of highways and the members of the town board expected to be present to contribute their help in making up these specifications and, it was decided to leave these matters open until that time.

Scribano read letters from Daniel Smiley of Lake Mohonk House and Timothy Tetlow of the Peterskill House in Alligerville, expressing their thanks for the open meeting on the proposed "Skyline Drive" study.

It was also decided that when the Planning Board took up the matter of street names, it would call in as a consultant, someone familiar with local history.

Planning Board members present included Aaron Bell and Edward C. Carle, in addition to Scribano and Reavin.

Highland Troop To Present Eagle At Honor Court

The Eagle Award, the highest rank in Boy Scouting, will be awarded next week to Junior Assistant Scoutmaster Robert Petery of 33 Brescia Boulevard, Highland, a member of Troop 70.

The award will be presented at an outdoor Court of Honor Monday evening at the Troop's campsite by the Recreation Park.

A former member of Troop 41, Hyde Park, young Petery actively served as den chief, assistant patrol leader, patrol leader, patrol leader and senior patrol leader. He started in Scouting as a Cub Scout.

Since joining Troop 70 in April, 1963, he has been active not only in assisting in troop activities, but also in advancement, earning the Life Scout award last July. At this time he also received his warrant for junior assistant scoutmaster.

Petery attended summer camp last year at Camp Tri-Mount, East Jewett, where this year he will be a member of the staff. He also attended Junior Leaders' Training camp last September at Camp Tri-Mount.

As a junior in Highland High School, he is a very active member in the Audio Visual Squad. He is a communicant of St. Augustine's Church.

Milk Price Dips

WASHINGTON (AP)— Prices dairymen received for fluid-milk—used for bottling purposes—were slightly below the 1958-62 May average during the early part of this month.

An Agriculture Department report said producer prices for the country as a whole averaged $5.07 a hundred pounds early this month compared with the five-year May average of $5.13. But retail prices in May averaged 27.3 cents a quart, delivered, up 1.4 cents from the five-year May average.

Majority Against Him, But —

Wallace Proves His Point On Opposition to CR Spheres

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Alabama's segregationist Gov. George C. Wallace has proved his point: There is wide opposition to President Johnson's civil rights bill to give Negroes equal treatment in many spheres of American life.

This is what he said he wanted to prove when he entered the presidential primaries in Wisconsin, Indiana and Maryland, where a victory would have let him capture their delegates to the Democratic National Convention.

He lost in all three in running against stand-ins for Johnson: In Wisconsin to Gov. John W. Reynolds; in Indiana to Gov. Matthew E. Welsh; and Tuesday in Maryland to Sen. Daniel B. Brewster.

But—in Wisconsin he got about 34 per cent of the Democratic vote, in Indiana about 30 per cent and in Maryland roughly 40 to 45 per cent.

His main appeal was against the civil rights bill—now stuck for 11 weeks in the Senate because of a Southern filibuster against it.

Too Soon to Say

It is too soon to say what effect his showing, particularly in Maryland, will have on the bill. But it will fortify the Southerners who can say now with good evidence that they're not alone in wanting it killed.

If the supporters of civil rights can take any solace from the results of Wallace's three campaigns it is this: In all three states the majority of the voters were against him.

Probably very few of the people voting in these primaries have read the civil rights bill in its entirety or, if they have, could claim to understand all its legal implications.

Wallace combined his attack on civil rights with an appeal to those who see, or think they see, the encroachment of socialism in American life.

He said at one rally: "This bill would take over every home, farm, business, and labor union in your state. The left-wingers want to drive this country straight to socialism."

Aimed at Liberals

Knowing that liberals, favoring civil rights legislation, were against him, Wallace's appeal was to conservatives and racists. He said he expected to get a vote which would knock the liberals' "eyeteeth" out.

Always he argued the civil rights bill is an invasion of states' rights. Putting equal treatment for Negroes in double harness with states' rights was probably especially helpful to Wallace in Maryland.

That state has been up to its neck in the states' rights issue.

One of the cases in which the Supreme Court ruled out official prayers in public schools came from Baltimore. The Maryland House of Delegates has been reapportioned by court order. And a federal court has ordered the state's congressional districts redrawn.

Maryland Steamed Up

Last March, the Maryland Legislature passed a public accommodations law—the Senate's civil rights bill has a somewhat similar provision—prohibiting racial or religious discrimination by operators of restaurants, hotels, inns and similar eating and lodging places. It did not apply to bars, taverns or cocktail lounges.

On top of all this, there had been severe racial disturbances on Maryland's Eastern Shore, especially in Cambridge, where National Guardsmen last week used tear gas to disperse demonstrating Negroes.

All these factors had Maryland steamed up before Wallace ever got there. He didn't miss any bets in talking on the sore points. For instance, he brought in the Supreme Court's ban on official prayers or required Bible reading.

Early this month, preaching in a Baptist church, he asked, "Did you ever think the Bible would have to be bootlegged into the schools?"

THE SALVATION ARMY

Mark Twain once remarked, "Always do right. This will gratify some people and astonish the rest."

Among the many fine volunteer organizations which strive to do "right" by their fellow citizens. young and old, stands The Salvation Army.

For nearly a century, the soldiers and officers of The Salvation Army have dedicated themselves, individually and collectively, to caring for the homeless, visiting the ill and strengthening the individual. Across the nation they strive for better communities built on happy, healthy family circles.

While the efforts of the Salvation Army to help others are gratifying indeed, the depth and scope of the Army's social service ministry does amaze a thoughtful person.

The multi-faceted social welfare program of The Salavation Army aims at helping and integrating the total man, his spiritual, physical, mental and social being. Whether it is making a discharged prisoner's return to his family smoother, easing the family tensions of a predelinquent, counseling the alcoholic, caring for the homeless or providing comfort for the aging, each task is approached "With Heart to God and Hand to Man."

So while we take this week, National Salvation Army Week to honor the dedicated men and women who serve in The Salvation Army, let us also use it to further our knowledge of their endeavors by visiting them in their places of work and worship.

The refusal of Congress to get into the squabble over daylight saving may be regarded as a bit of neck saving.

SIGNS TO GO BY

No, to answer your question, wonders will never cease.

Latest proof of this is the announced plan to erect metal signs at all bus stops in New York City, diagramming the complete route of the bus that stops there. (If more than one bus, the routes will be shown in different colors.)

Thus, at a glance, traveler will khow where he is and exactly where a particular bus will take him. But this is not all: Buses will be marked with their route number not only in front but on both sides as well. People will no longer have to race to get in front of the bus to see if it is the one they want.

This revolutionary development is staggering in its implications. Yet, like all great achievements of the human mind — the wheel, the airplane, Robert's Rules of Order —its basic concept is of the utmost simplicity. Like every great invention, one wonders why after all these thousands of years it was never thought of before.

Just imagine — signs telling you precisely how to get where you want to go. And provided by city hall, no less.

No, wonders will never cease.

Consumer debt is now nine times as much as in 1960. In addition to living hand-to-mouth, we now also live on the cuff.

Living is getting easier so we should all eat less, it is said. Maybe so, but this further complicates the problem of what to do in leisure time.

THE BEST OF THE DAY

Morning, for more or less obvious reasons, has always symbolized freshness. Few thoughts can be less original than that the world looks new and lovely — in a word, fresh — soon after dawn.

As with many of the experiences common to men down through the centuries, however, it is worthwhile to see once again how the real thing measures up to the recollection. Being up at dawn, or at least not much later, confirms memories of other early mornings when the senses have opened up to delights — the fragrance of air still moist and cool from the night, the special ebullience of first birdsong, the very quality of the light itself — found at no other time of day.

This is second nature to countrymen, who tend to rise early the year 'round. For town dwellers it is a rarer experience, one highly recommended. Getting up with the sun may be a struggle, but being up at that hour is wonderful.

'These Days'

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

THE AFL-CIO'S GEORGE MEANY SHOULD BE HEARD

When the longshoremen refused to load wheat for Soviet Russia, they were reprimanded by State Department spokesmen in Washington for trying to "make foreign policy" for the United States. Yet when Secretary of State Dean Rusk, nettled by British trade with Castro's Cuba, suggested to London that he might not be able to stop private U. S. citizens from boycotting British goods, he tacitly admitted that any American has a right to "make" his own foreign policy provided he stays within the law. A refusal to load grain is protected by the Thirteenth Amendment, which prohibits involuntary servitude; a boycott is "customer's choice," a thing to be treasured in a free society.

Somebody has to make sense in foreign policy, after all, and if citizens want a hand in the process, who in the State Department can say them nay? Certainly nobody in Washington is saying nay to George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO, who is currently on the warpath against Senator Fulbright — though some powerful forces in the country seem bent upon denying publicity to Mr. Meany's signed editorial in the May issue of the AFL-CIO Free Trade Union News, which got virtually no attention anywhere outside of labor circles.

Mr. Meany's thrusts at Senator Fulbright's attack on supposed "myths" about Communism are the most pointed that this columnist has seen. The "myth" that Khrushchev is about to subside in his efforts to provoke revolutions in the African and Latin American worlds is dealt with by Mr. Meany by quotations from Pravda, the Kremlin's mouthpiece, which reiterates that "The Communist Party and the Soviet people consider it their international duty to give all-around political and economic support, and if necessary, the help of arms, too, to the national liberation struggles of the people." Mr. Meany observes that Khrushchev reserves the right to decide all on his own what is a "national liberation struggle" and that he insists on unilateral definition of what constitutes a "people's democracy." But when the U. S. reserves a camparable right to keep watch over the disposition of missiles in Cuba, which may or may not be "defensive," Khrushchev's boy Castro wants to refer the matter to theUN.

As a free enterprise supporter, this columnist has not been exactly friendly to such institutions of organized labor as industry-wide collective bargaining, or feather-bedding on Diesel trains. But I must admit that labor, through such spokesmen as George Meany, has been far ahead of most businessmen in assessing the continuing danger of appeasing the international Communist movement. The willingness of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce to make a buck out of East-West trade is not to be decried in itself. But I don't notice any particular businessmen's concern for the people in the captive nations of eastern Europe when it comes to welcoming trade deals with Moscow. Where is the business organization that insists on a political quid pro quo that will gain new liberties for Poles, Czechs, Hungarians, and Bulgars in return for shipments of grain? Let's hear some business group speak up.

To counter Senator Fulbright's statement that "in a perverse way we have grown rather attached to the Cold War," Mr. Meany calls attention to the presence on Hungarian soil of 40,000 Soviet troops. He mentions the recent suppression in Poland of the intellectuals' demand for more freedom of expression. There may not be "monolithic unity" in the Communist world, but when a nation seeking its right to "diversity" has to experiment under the eyes of 40,000 alien soldiers, Senator Fulbright's idea that worries about the Cold War are "perverse" seems a trifle perverse in itself.

The home truths which George Meany persists in sticking to should be echoed in other quarters. Things have come to a pretty pass when the free enterprise world lags behind labor in fighting a movement that is the enemy of enterprise all over the globe.

Heart Region Pains May Be Forerunner to Coronary

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

If you have pains around your heart, don't neglect them. It is true that they may be due to a mild indigestion, but they may also be due to a narrowing or a hardening of the arteries that nourish the heart.

Pain will develop in any muscle that is forced to work with a reduced supply of oxygen. In the case of the heart the pain is called angina pectoris. It is often a forerunner of a coronary heart attack—a complete blocking of one of the coronary arteries.

So if you regard your anginal pains as a warning, much can often be done to prevent a full heart attack. What are the things that precipitate anginal pains in a person with narrowed coronary arteries?

One is sudden exposure to cold. But on cold days the exposure itself is not as likely to cause the pain as the increased exertion required to buck a strong wind or to tramp through deep snow. Your increased rate of breathing and your increased pace to keep warm are added factors.

Frustrations and anger may also be precipitating causes, especially if you have to keep them inside. If, instead of doing a slow burn, you can work off your rage by taking a brisk walk, swinging at a little white ball with a driver or a mashie, or taking a lusty poke at a punching bag, you will be doing your heart a favor.

Sitting dow and quietly talking about your feelings to your spouse or a sympathetic confidant may relieve your tensions and spare your heart.

Some persons are awakened from a sound sleep by an anginal attack. This may be done to emotion filled dreams that they do not remember on awaking or to discomfort in the digestive tract or bladder.

If you have anginal attacks and are a smoker, you may have to choose between your smokes and your heart. It is also wise to avoid heavy meals. Eat often but take small portions. If you are overweight, however, every effort should be made to reduce, especially if your blood cholesterol level is high.

Although drugs for relief of anginal attacks are not as important as the preventive measures mentioned, they can be of great help. Nitroglycerin has long been a stand-by for this purpose. Long-acting nitrites are now available and have the advantage of keeping the coronaries dilated most of the time. Other drugs with a similar action include dipyridamole and pronethalol.

The surprising development has been the discovery that griseofulvin, the drug used to control fungus infections, reduces the frequency of anginal attacks. Probenecid, the drug used in the treatment of gout, was likewise found to be effective in stopping attacks.

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Former President Harry Truman, back in Washington to celebrate his 80th birthday at a National Press Club luncheon, gave his friends a tip on how to get along with the press.

The Man from Missouri might well have been sounding a warning to President Johnson—who has held press conferences in the White House rose garden, on the south lawn and while walking the grounds — when he said:

"The first thing to do is to cuss the h--- out of the reporters every chance you get!"

IN THE MIDST of President Johnson's family-plan, picnic-style press conference on the south lawn of the Executive Mansion, one reporter noted:

"Well, I guess it beats following him while he runs laps around the White House."

"Yeah," answered a second, "but what's he going to do for an encore?"

AT THE CIVIL Liberties Union's recent presentation of the Oliver Wendell Holmes Bill of Rights award to Washington Post editorial writer Alan Barth, someone recalled this story about the late Supreme Court justice:

On the eve of Holmes' 87th birthday — when he became the oldest man to sit on the Court—a Washington paper sent an inquiring reporter into the streets to determine whether the average citeizen knew who Holmes was.

The reporter put the question to a man in overalls who was reading the sports pages in Capitol Square.

"Sure I know who he is," the man replied. "He's that young fellow on the Supreme Court who always disagrees with the old guys."

AT A RECENT Harrisburg press conference, a reporter asked Pennsylvania's Gov. William Scranton:

"May I make one small request, governor? Please don't invite wives and children of the members to the press conference."

Scranton laughed and answered: "O.K., but we're going to take walks, though. And I'm planning to subject you all to the Royal Canadian Air Force exercises."

WALKING INTO a sparsely attended, off-the-record press briefing the other day, a high government official grimaced in mock disappointment, then quipped:

"It's a rather small turnout in view of the fact that mothers, grandmothers and mothers-in-law were invited."

..NEAR THE END of a recent speech before the Advertising Council, U.S. Information Agency director Carl Rowan noted:

"Time is running out, and I promised my wife this morning that I'd try to remember her definition of an optimist and not talk too long.

"She says an optimist is a woman who puts her shoes back on when I say 'In conclusion . . ."

Gang-Up on Goldwater Seen as Harmful Tactic

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — The Republican party certainly needs a psychoanalyst or a mentor of some kind to save it from suicide. There is no more certain way to break a party into pieces than to do what the California campaign manager for Henry Cabot Lodge did when he announced that all the strength that might have been mobilized for Ambassador Lodge would be thrown to Gov. Rockefeller in the California primary.

This is an amazing announcement. It means, in effect, that there are those in the Republican party who are far more interested in knocking off someone who is likely to get the nomination than in presenting on his merits a rival candidate with a different or even better appeal.

Negative attitudes never have won prestige for a party. They have resulted in nearly every instance in a disunity that has sacrificed the final election.

Sen. Goldwater, on the face of it, seems to have the largest number of delegates thus far, and this has led his opponents to a desperate and frantic maneuver to block him at all costs. The move is incomprehensible because the only effective way to defeat a front-runner is to present someone else who is better able to articulate the issues in a way that will appeal to a larger number of voters.

Perhaps the most sensible man on the sidelines today among the leaders of the Republican party is former President Eisenhower. He never has been regarded as a politician, but he certainly has always displayed common sense and the courage of his convictions. In an interview the other night with Walter Cronkite of CBS, the former President said several things which were not printed in the newspapers generally. So it's pertinent to quote, for example, the following:

"I am trying, first of all, to be one individual who is not becoming involved too much in the personal campaigns of individuals, so there is to be at least one to preach the doctrine of party unity and who, believing —like I think all of us do — in the two-party system, will be in the position probably to soothe ruffled feelings.

"I think this is important because on one side we hear some individuals saying, 'Well, if so-and-so is nominated, I don't think I could support him,' and on the other side, you will hear another say, 'Well, we might just walk out of the convention,' or words to that effect.

Now I think this is all very childish and is very bad. But if we are going to fight this type of inner struggle, then I think it's more than ever important that someone is in a position to say, 'Now, let's get together and be Republicans and not be babies.'"

When asked whether his position of neutrality would not perhaps work out in Sen. Goldwater's favor, Mr. Eisenhower said:

"Well, I don't know. But I think this: I personally believe that Sen Goldwater is not as extreme as some people have made him. But, in any event, we are all Republicans. We all have a certain set of basic principles, and the problem has come about in how we apply them to the issues of the day. And if we don't have some kind of consensus, why then everybody wants to run away, or they talk like they are going to run away. I will say this—in the other party, when it comes to election time, they all coalesce, and I think it's time we were doing it.

When asked specifically whether the principles for which Sen. Goldwater stands would satisfy Mr. Eisenhower at the San Francisco convention, the former President replied:

"Sometimes it's a little bit difficult to figure out exactly what any individual means. Now, I have been reading some of Sen. Goldwater's position papers and, for example, he has made a long explanation of what he meant when he first said, 'I want to sell TVA down in Tennessee.' The way he tells it in explanation, it is not a radical move at all—it's just getting private enterprise into a lot of things that are now the government's doing.

"But, you see, a statement made during the past months and years that is now taken as gospel—it means to the average citizen that somebody is very much to the right or to the left and otherwise. And this applies to the only other announced candidate. So what I am trying to do is to be able to do my part in getting this party together. That's what I really want to do."

Every preconvention campaign is naturally a contest between different sets of views. But in the long history of political parties, there has been, for the most part, a tolerance of differences of opinion and an effort to compromise and reconcile conflicting viewpoints. Rarely does any faction within a party issue an ultimatum and say that under no circumstances would it support a candidate who holds opposing views. This kind of threat merely aggravates the situation and intensifies friction.

To gang up on Sen. Goldwater today is a wrong tactic, and it is surprising that the move has not been repudiated by the top men in the Rockefeller and Lodge organizations. For it's not the way to produce harmony in a political party which, after the convention, must do battle against the opposing party.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

You have dragged us down to the edge of contempt. There is no forgiveness in me because you did not do it in ignorance, but rather with intelligence and forethought. You extremists—White and Black—have become the curse of our people.

Stop it. Your sit-ins, drag-ins, police dogs, bombings, picketing and lay-downs are not advancing the cause of brotherhood. To the contrary. You are forcing the rest of us to pick a side. There are scores of millions of us who aspire to be on the side of the law. Nothing more. You White Supremacy Councils and Black Muslims have taken the matter off the high plane of justice and brought it into the gutter of personal venom.

The War Between the States was fought with a degree of honor. It was something for a young man to don a uniform and go out prepared to die for a principle, right or wrong. But this thing upon which you have embarked is neither war nor peace, and the last time it had a shred of honor was when the United States Supreme Court handed down the original opinion ten years ago this week.

This opinion, which stated that separate but equal facilities between races was discrimination, is now the law. Whether anyone likes it or not, it will remain the law and all of us must obey it. The South, predictably, dragged its feet and continues to drag its feet. The Justice Department continues to fight this reluctance to obey.

In the ten ensuing years, I have toured the South twice to watch, to ask opinions of Whites and Negroes, and to note the token obedience to the law. Once, I went around the North for the same purpose, and I was chagrined to find that my pious White brethren who preach brotherhood for the South, do not practice it in the North.

Both North and South, I found Negro leaders who did not want school integration at once because it would penalize colored children whose educational levels are a year-and-a-half to two years behind White schools. In Harlem, there were Negro leaders who said: "A hundred years after the Emancipation Proclamation, you people are ready to take us in, but we are not ready." I asked one man: "Well, what do you want?" He said: "We want all the fences knocked down today, with the right to jump across them twenty years from now, or whenever we feel ready."

But, inch by inch, day by day, the fanatics of both races have taken command of the convulsion. The Muslims preach the coming dominance of the Black World, but will not move to a Black Country. The White Supremists fight in front of television cameras to keep a poor Negro out of a restaurant he couldn't afford if you ushered him to a table. General Motors is picketed, not because they do not hire enough Negroes, but because not enough are in executive positions.

What is right in this situation? What is wrong? At one time I was sure I knew the answer. It was law and time. Now, I no longer know. Now there is a pox on both your houses and you are infecting the rest of us. You are not interested in reason, or understanding, or progress. Instead, you tell me how to hate, how to degrade, how to make the Negro and the White worse than he is.

The Negro wants to keep me from going to the World's Fair, but he can't tell me why. The White Supremist tells me that the Negro secretly aspires to marry my sister, even though the Bible shows that robins remain with robins, and larks remain with larks—even when they live in the same tree. If it is true that the law cannot force a Negro to invite me to his home, then it is equally true that I do not have to invite him to mine.

Convulsion can induce coma. Those of us who thought that the Supreme Court decision of 1954 was a good one are beginning to feel comatose. Our newspapers are full of strife, of grown men lying in front of vehicles, of shieking women, policemen swinging nightsticks, of federal officers escorting children to school, of pious clergymen deploring the evil in men's hearts while they assure their flocks that God has white skin, of Negro leaders who preach "Hate everything White", and of smug White men who roar: "Keep the Negro in his place or he'll take over."

As for me, I have had enough. The thing which began as a movement toward equity in justice, toward true understanding between men of many hues, is now a clash between the irresponsibles on both sides. They get the headlines. They, from governors down to ditch diggers, defy the law to send them to jail. They seek martyrdom. Let them have it.

You who have done this awful thing have dragged the rest of us down with you. Someday, the newspaper editors and television commentators will tire of you too. A man's zeal is best tested when he is alone in the dark. You haven't got it. . .

Yank's Death Is 230th in Viet, Officer Wounded

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—An American soldier was killed and an American officer wounded in an ambush Tuesday night while on operational patrol 45 miles northwest of Saigon near the Cambodian border.

The officer, a member of the U.S. Army Special Forces, was flown to a hospital in Saigon and was reported in good condition.

The death of the Special Forces enlisted man brought to 132 the number of Americans killed in combat in Viet Nam since late 1961. The total of American deaths since then number 230.

Prof. Lattimore Says China Studies Are Very Importan

By ANTHONY WHITE

LEEDS, England (AP)—It's just over 10 years since Prof. Owen Lattimore—then lecturer in Chinese history at Johns Hopkins University—was caught in the turmoil of the McCarthy era rows, accused of being a Soviet agent.

Today he lives a quiet life in England, remote from political controversy, the troubles of the 50s just a memory. In one way he's started life again.

Last summer, Lattimore left Johns Hopkins University, where he had worked for 25 years, to head a new department of Chinese studies at Leeds University.

Likes It

"I like it here," he says, and leans far back in his heavy office chair and the smoke from his pipe curls around his sandy hair. "It's not given to many men at 64 to be starting something new like I am. Most academics at my age are running down like unwound clocks."

He dresses in hairy Scottish tweed jackets and comes to his office each day from his nearby village home, which has the picturesque name of the Old Rose Cottage. He lives there with his wife Eleanor. They have a son, David, now at Yale.

Would Forget All

To Lattimore now his trials of the McCarthy days are memories he'd rather forget. He says he bears no grudges, still regards the United States as his home, and plans to go back there when he retires in 1967.

At one time during the 1950s Lattimore was branded by Wisconsin Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy as "the top Russian espionage agent in the United States." Later McCarthy modified this to read "one of the top" agents. At one point Lattimore was indicted on seven counts of perjury. In 1955 a federal court dismissed two of the counts and then the Justice Department dropped the rest.

"I was angry at the time, Lattimore said in an interview "as anyone would be had the been so falsely accused. But the is no use sitting around nursin rancor. That doesn't get yo anywhere."

Must Know Chinese

The dominating interest Lattimore's life now is his de partment of Chinese studies. H is its first professor. It is four-year degree course when the "language lab" system tapes is used. Lattimore claim great success so far.

"At the end of 12 weeks," h said, "we had students takin simple dictation."

Lattimore sees an increasin need for a knowledge of Chin and Chinese as the nation grow in power and world importance And it is a power and impor tance which cannot be ignored he says.

Demonstration Fizzles Again

NEW YORK (AP) — Three times in two months, civil rights groups have called Negroes into the streets here for major demonstrations and three times they have failed to come in the numbers wanted.

Monday the chief planner of the March for Democratic Schools marking the 10th anniversary of the U.S. Supreme Court desegregation decision, asked for 15,000 demonstrators.

The most generous published estimate of the crowd in City Hall Plaza was 5,500. Some estimates were as low as 3,000.

"I consider that we did not have the kind of crowd that is needed," said Bayard Rustin, organizer of the demonstration, jointly sponsored by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People and the Congress of Racial Equality.

Others, not directly connected with the march, flatly called it a failure.

Last Feb. 3, the Negro and Puerto Rican communities jolted New York with a public school boycott that was the largest civil rights demonstration ever staged in the United States. It, too, was planned by Rustin and 464,362 children missed classes—almost half of the million-pupil enrollment.

The Rev. Milton A. Galamison of Brooklyn, a leader in the first school boycott, called another on March 16 and only 268,064 pupils missed school. The NAACP, CORE and the Urban League—which had supported the first—did not endorse the second boycott.

On April 23, a rebel faction of CORE planned an automotive "stall-in" on highways leading to the World's Fair, opening that day.

Leaders spoke of almost 2,000 cars pledged to participate, but only 12 cars showed up at the assembly point.

Then came Monday's setback—the City Hall turnout climaxing other disappointments on the day-long program of demonstrations.

Proposes Limit On Congressmen, None Over 70

WASHINGTON (AP)— A constitutional amendment that would prevent anyone over 70 from running for Congress is being proposed by a 67-year-old foe of the seniority system.

Rep. Everett G. Burkhalter, D-Calif., whose blast several weeks ago at the old-timers in control startled his colleagues, follows up today by introducing legislation to retire them.

His bill would limit senators to three 6-year terms, representatives to five 4-year terms—present terms are two years—and declare that no one could be elected after reaching 70.

Burkhalter, the oldest freshman in the House, has already announced he is quitting after one term. He says he is disgusted at being shackled by a system he says requires members to put in 20 or 25 years before they can hope to have much impact on the affairs of Congress.

Teachers to End Walkout in Utah

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah (AP) — Utah's 10,000 public school teachers have voted to end a two-day walkout, after preparing for the next round in their fight for more money for education.

About 90 per cent of the teachers voted Tuesday to resume teaching today, but they also decided not to sign next year's contracts until a special legislative session is called to consider an emergency $6 million school appropriation, and other demands are met.

The normal time for signing teachers' contracts has gone by.

Chances of recruting new teachers from out of state appear slim. The National Education Association asked its 902,000 members not to accept jobs in Utah until the crisis is over.

Besides the legislative session, the teachers asked at a mass meeting for approval of Utah Education Association solutions to "the financial problems of the educational situation"

Shortening the 1964-65 school year has been discussed as one such solution.

In Cyprus, home industries survive in farmhouses and cottages. Lacework, scarves and spreads are made by the woman and sold by men.

In Probe of Fatal Crash

CAB Is Critical Of Mohawk, Crew

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Civil Aeronautics Board, looking into the cause of the airliner crash at Rochester, N.Y., last July 2 in which seven of the 43 persons aboard were killed, reported evidence today of:

Plane Cartwheeled

1. Faulty judgment by the captain and failure by the crew to comply with company rules.
2. Poor management by the airline, Mohawk.
3. Lax surveillance of Mohawk's operations by the Federal Aviation Agency.

The twin-engine Martin 404 started its takeoff from Rochester-Monroe County Airport, bound for Newark, N.J., as a thunderstorm approached, and entered heavy rain and shifting wind conditions as soon as it took off.

Its left wing struck the ground, and the plane cartwheeled. Although the plane was destroyed by impact and fire, 36 person survived the crash. The seven victims included the captain, Richard M. Dennis, 39, and first officer John W. Neff, 31.

The CAB said the probable cause of the accident was "a loss of control during an attempted takeoff into a severe thunderstorm."

It added that Mohawk's stations at Utica and Ithaca, N.Y., failed to relay the latest weather information, including a pilot report of severe weather, properly to the flight crew.

Faulty Training

Other Mohawk employees improperly released the flight and showed evidence of faulty training, the board said.

The board said Dennis previously had been involved in a landing accident and an in-flight propeller reversal incident, and had been reprimanded at least twice for infraction of company rules.

The CAB said that while a Mohawk vice president rated Dennis below average and a check pilot described him as a "hazard," the FAA inspector who rode on two check flights characterized him as "a good pilot."

No Plans Other Than AG Post, Bobby Declares

NEW YORK (AP) — Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy says he has had conversations about the possibility of running for the U.S. Senate from New York next fall but, "All things being equal it would be better for a citizen of New York to run for the position."

Kennedy told a news conference Tuesday that friends had raised the possibility of his seeking Democratic nomination to the Senate.

"I have no plans other than staying on as attorney general" until after the November election, he said.

New York Democrats are looking for a candidate to oppose Republican Sen. Kenneth B. Keating in November.

BAGFUL OF RECORDS — Tracy Barnes, 25, of Minneapolis, Minn., went aloft in his home-built rig, including black bag full of oxygen—and came down with a claimed trophy of seven free-flight records. Barnes says he reached 37,000 feet altitude, breaking the class 3-A record held by a Russian of 23,286 feet—plus six other records, set by larger balloons.

Unmanned Apollo Orbit Scheduled For Next Tuesday

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) —The first attempt to orbit an unmanned model of the Apollo moonship is scheduled next Tuesday.

A Saturn 1 rocket will propel the Apollo model toward an intended orbit ranging from 110 to 140 miles above the earth.

The rocket and spacecraft are forerunners of machinery being developed to launch three-man teams to the moon late in this decade.

Rules Prisoners Must Okay Line-Ups

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A federal judge has forbidden use of prisoners in line-ups unless police have the prisoners' permission.

Dist. Court Judge Abraham L. Freedman ruled Tuesday there was substantial merit in suits filed by two prisoners at the City Detention Center in Holmesburg. They contended forced participation in a line-up violated their constitutional rights.

Students, Police Clash

SEOUL, Korea (AP) — Students protesting the Japan-South Korea normalization talks clashed with police in demonstrations at Seoul and Tokyo today.

About 1,000 left-wing Japanese students staged a sitdown and ignored blasts from fire hoses after police halted their march toward the Foreign Ministry.

Police in Seoul used tear gas to disperse about 1,000 students from 10 universities in the capital. More than 50 students were arrested. Police beat the students with fists and the students threw rocks at the police.

School to Hear LBJ

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP)— City school officials said that President Johnson has accepted an invitation to speak to the graduating class of his alma mater, Johnson City High School on the night of May 29.

Johnson was one of six students graduating from Johnson City High in 1924.

Talent Assembly Big Success at Local School

A talent hunt conducted recently by Mrs. Katy Stowe, vocal music teacher at Woodstock elementary school, revealed unusual and varied talents among the pupils. It was climaxed by two highly successful Variety Assemblies.

Each room had its own talent show and the class members voted on the best performers to represent them at the variety assembly. The kindergarten through sixth grades attended the assembly in the gymnasium where the entertainment was enjoyable and varied.

At the assembly presented for the morning group, vocal solos were given by George and Gail Adams, Sharon Schultz and Carolyn Biesele. Piano selections were presented by Jennifer Gavin, Edmund and Angela Tomaselli, Tandy Sturgeon, Sally Kinns, Sonja Klaessig, Miranda Wise and Thomas Hafele.

There were recitations by Adrienne Baptiste and Joan Webster. Linda Hyde did a baton twirl and Nona Craig and Dawn Criscimagna, in costume, performed a can-can. Barba Bouymaster played a flute solo and Dawn Palker, Verna Quednau, Brenda Tougas and Carol Schultz danced an Irish jig.

Second Performance

A skit entitled "Abbott and Costello Meet Frankenstein" was presented by Harry Krum, John Wison, Mark Parrish, Carl Sjursen, Lawrence Miller and George Quinn. The assembly ended with the playing of "America" by an instrumental trio consisting of Robin Sturgeon, Antoine Baptiste and Edward Mercier. Master of ceremonies for the assembly was Mark Bailey of the sixth grade.

In the afternoon, the performers were equally versatile. Laurie Meyer played a piano solo and there were vocal selections by Sophie La Blanch, Wendy Stern, and Dean Schreiner. Donald Harris presented a ukulele selection and Brenda Howland a keymonica solo.

Joyce Steinlauf played a guitar solo. Dominique Beeh presented a drawing and story after which Debbie Moscowitz did a pantomine. Diane Connick performed a modern dance and Daniel Sonnenberg appeared as a comedian with Jonathan Kotzbauer. Entertaining skits were presented by Eve Moscowitz, Terip Tripicco and Kathy Parrish.

Prolonged applause greeted the conclusion of both assemblies. Everyone expressed the hope that Mrs. Stowe would continue the talent shows annually.

Public Hearing On Ohayo Plat Set Thursday

The Woodstock Planning Board has scheduled a public hearing Thursday at 8 p. m. in the town hall on the application of the Catskill Mountain Homes, Inc. of Woodstock, developer for a subdivision plat to be known as "Ohayo Hills."

The petition for plat approval was submitted to the Planning Board by Mike Earnest of Zena.

The subdivision is located at the end of Old Wagon Road, also called Old Quarry Road, on the east side of Ohayo Mountain in the town of Woodstock. The number of units and other factors involved in the development will be announced at the hearing.

A prominent Woodstock artist, Fritz Werner, who owns a nine-acre plot near the site of the proposed new development, has filed a petition in opposition to plat approval.

Lynfield Ott Is Winner Annual Kleinert Award

One of Woodstock's most distinguished young painters, Lynfield Ott, has been named 1964 winner of the Herminie Kleinert Annual Memorial Award, it was announced today. The award carries with it a cash prize of $300.

Ott, who is known professionally as Lynot, resides in the Zena section of the township. A native of Scranton, Pa., born in 1926, he studied under the late, great Kuniyoshi of Woodstock. He attended the Rhode Island School of Design.

Ott has had many one-man shows in Woodstock and several New York City art galleries. He is married to the former Phyllis Silverman and they have four children.

Hearing Tonight On Ordinance

A public hearing on a proposed peddler's ordinance for the Town of Woodstock is expected to draw opposition from the Woodstock Township Chamber of Commerce at the public hearing scheduled tonight at 8 o'clock in town hall.

The proposed new ordinance is designed to replace an omnibus ordinance in existence since 1934.

The Chamber is opposed to a reduction in peddler's license fees from $25.00 to $2.00 as proposed in the new ordinance. The ordinance is designed to regulate and license the hawking, peddling, vending and selling of goods, wares, merchandise and magazines and soliciting orders therefor.

Lehigh Firm Says No Strike Clause Is Cause of Rift

A dispute regarding amendments to the collective bargaining agreement of last year between Local 129 United Cement, Lime and Gypsum Workers of America, and Lehigh Portland Cement Company, Alsen is the cause of the strike now in its second day at the Greene County plant.

A statement from Allen H. Uhler, plant manager indicates the stalemate in discussions Monday afternoon was created when the company refused to remove the "no strike provision" from the present contract.

180 on Strike

Approximately 180 plant employees went on strike Tuesday morning after negotiations broke down, and picketing of the Alsen plant has been in effect.

The statement from Uhler follows:

"The company's Alsen plant is being struck by Local Union 129 because the company refuses to remove the no Strike provison from the collective bargaining agreement. The current contract provides compulsory arbitration for employe grievances which cannot be resolved. "The union now insists that the contract be amended to provide them with the option of arbitration or the right to strike over unresolved grievance.

"The current contract, which was negotiated in 1963, and which does not expire until 1965, provides for the negotiation of the grievances and arbitration procedure in 1964. The current contract negotiated in 1963 provides economic benefits amounting to 25 cents per hour and includes 14 cent wage increases (7 cents of which was effective May 1, 1964), a fourth week of vacation after 20 years of service and improved pension and group insurance plans.

In Most Contracts

"Most collective bargaining agreements within and outside of the cement industry contain an arbitration procedure and a 'no strike clause' such as found in the company's agreement. According to the Bureau of National Affairs, approximately 94 per cent of all collective bargaining agreements in the nation provides for a 'no strike clause.'

"The company proposed several amendments (Monday afternoon) to the present arbitration procedure which seemed to satisfy many of the union's objectives to that portion of the agreement. However, it is the company's position that a 'no strike clause' is essential to the business-like conduct of labor-management affairs and that a contract without such a clause is realy no contract at all."

Three Drivers Fined

Three drivers, charged with traffic violations, were fined in city court today, and one was given a suspended $5 fine after trial. Thomas Howard, 24, of 109 Clinton Avenue, was brought in on a warrant charging failure to appear in court when he was due on April 24, and was fined $10 for passing a red light. Maurice S. Daly, 28, of Stone Ridge, and Marion Nanna, 37, of 67 South Manor Avenue, charged with flashing red light violations, paid $10 each. The suspended $5 fine was imposed on Jerry Martin, 65, of Jerry Martin Pontiac, Inc., 708 Broadway, charged with driving around railroad gates.

REV. J. F. CONNOLLY

Son of Kingston Native to Become Priest on May 24

The Rev. John F. Connolly, son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis E. Connolly, of 891 Mercer Street, Albany will be ordained to the priesthood in the Cathedral of The Immaculate Conception, Albany on Saturday, May 23 by the Most Rev. William A. Scully, D. D., bishop of Albany.

Father Connolly will celebrate his first solemn Mass in the Church of St. Vincent De Paul, 900 Madison Avenue, Albany on Sunday, May 24. Ministers of the Mass will be assistant priest, the Rev. John R. Sise; deacon, the Very Rev. Daniel V. Flynn; sub-deacon, the Rev. John L. Cairns. The sermon will be preached by His Excellency, the Most Rev. Edward J. Maginn, vicar general of the Diocese of Albany.

Father Connolly was born in Albany September 15, 1936. He attended Vincentian Institute, Albany and graduated from Vincentian High School in 1954. Later he attended Siena College, Loudonville, N. Y. and entered Master Christi Seminary in Albany, and graduated in 1958. He then was assigned to St. Joseph's Seminary, Dunwoodie, Yonkers.

Father Connolly's father, a native Kingstonian, is a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Francis Connolly, who resided at 180 Broadway. He left Kingston in 1920 and has since been connected with the Treasury Department, Internal Revenue Service, Albany as Chief, Returns and Receipts.

Father Connolly's mother is the former Beatrice Beck of New York City and he has a brother, James Connolly.

Mrs. James Flynn of 42 Adams Street and Mrs. Louis Arace of 19 Henry Street, Kingston are aunts of Father Connolly.

Downtown Man Held

Edward Rymer, 50, 125 Hasbrouck Avenue, was picked up Tuesday by Senior Investigator Edward Shannon of the Lake Katrine substation and Detective Charles McCullough of the Kingston police department on a warrant charging second degree grand larceny. It is alleged the incident involved taking of tools. Before Justice of the Peace Robert Stedge of Town of Ulster Rymer asked for a hearing and the matter was adjourned to May 25. He was remanded to jail.

Started Small

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP)—You've heard of two-stage missiles, but have you heard of two-stage fish bait? Conservation Officer Ray Frandsen of the State Game Commission reports an enterprising angler at Burchard Lake in Southeast Nebraska caught a 6-pound largemouth bass using the two-stage technique. With a worm for bait, the fisherman caught a bullhead. Then, using the bullhead as second-stage bait, he caught the bass.

Kingston Library Fiction Additions

Fiction additions to the Kingston City Library come almost exclusively from foreign authors. No Pulitzer Prize for American Fiction was awarded this year and 1964 is definitely not the year of the great American Novel.

William Golding, author of Lord of the Flies which had such an impact on the young adult because of the ideas of society there in expressed, has again explored society by the use of symbolism. The Spire tells of the building of a church to glorify God but God was lost as men centered their attention on the building of a masterpiece. Prize winning French novelist Roger Bordier tells in The Golden Plain of a man who lives for today and a woman whose religion and family ties bind her to the past.

The same theme of love and heritage is explored by Yudit Handel in Street of Steps which takes place in modern Haifa, Israel.

Brazilian author Jorge Amado, who wrote Gabriella, Clove and Cinnamon, has written of a lusty master mariner more lusty than seaworthy. Amado writes with gusto of the Brazilians and their wild country. The title of this novel is Home Is the Sailor.

Alain Albert, a young Frenchman, has written about his impression of what it means to be black and live in Mississippi. The Crossing is a fine story with a powerful emotional impact.

An American novel on the great game of politics is William Cobb's An Inch of Snow. It begins with the statement that Yankees are no good and outlines with high humor how the Southeran Democrats tried to get those clean thinking Republicans out of the South. This is a needed bit of humor in an otherwise deadly serious election year.

Cuba Alerts Armed Forces, Sabotage Told

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Cuba observed the 62nd anniversary of its independence from Spain today amid reports of sabotage and threats of armed action against the Communist dictatorship of Fidel Castro.

This was the day on which Manuel Ray, Castro's first minister of public works, promised to be fighting in Cuba against his former chief.

Leaves Canceled

From Havana, The Associated Press reported that Cuban armed forces were placed on a state of alert and all military leaves were canceled.

Then the telephone line went dead, not unusual for circuits between Cub a nd the United States.

The Miami exile colony was excited over the possibility that Ray, or one of two other groups, would make a raid on Castro's island during the day.

Headquarters of the three groups said only that they still plan to carry guerrilla warfare, sabotage and subversion to their homeland soon.

A shortwave broadcast purporting to originate inside Cuba said this morning that commandos of the anti-Castro Student Directorate, still another exile group, had burned hundreds of acres of sugar cane in eastern Cuba.

Communique Due Later

The broadcast, monitored in Miami, also reported that saboteurs had burned three taxicabs in Havana and that anti-Castro slogans had been painted on walls in Cuba's capital city.

In Miami, officials of the Student Directorate declined to discuss the broadcast, but a spokesman said the organization would issue a communique later in the day.

Havana radio made no mention of the reported sabotage, but blared defiance to aggressors and announced new preparedness measures, including worker mobilization in Oriente Province, Cuba's largest and easternmost.

Asks Blood Donations

Broadcasts monitored in Miami did not mention the armed forces alert and cancellation of military leaves, but the Cuban Ministry of Health called for blood donations for "any emergency."

The Cuban Armed Forces Ministry did say that coastal artillery and military jet planes would hold maneuvers along the northwest coast of Cuba.

A spokesman at headquarters of Ray's organization in Miami said: "We are waiting to hear from him in Cuba. We have not heard from him."

Storm Damages

Mill at Napanoch was put out of commission for lack of water after lightning struck a small pump house about 500 feet north of the main mill. The pumps and motors were destroyed and the plant was shut down today for lack of water.

Catches Fire

It is believed the pump house was struck about 5 p. m. but the fire was not discovered until about 5:30 p. m. when a warning bell announced no water coming through to the mill. Employes went to the pump house which is located in a wooded area, and found the place on fire. Napanoch firemen were summoned. A spokesman for the company said it was not until the water in the long flume was exhausted that the alarm signal was sounded and the fire discovered about 5:30 o'clock. Efforts were being made today to secure new equipment so operation at the plant could be resumed. The plant operates on a 24-hour basis.

The U.S. Weather Bureau lifted its warnings of yesterday that tornadoes might strike along a wide belt through the Upstate region.

Before the "all-clear" from the bureau Tuesday night however, two tornado-like storms had hammered rural areas in Central New York and a series of turbulent thunderstorms had hit Upstate.

Bad Near Syracuse

The fiercer storms struck the hamlet of Cicero Center near Syracuse and roared through an area that included the village of Madison in Madison County.

No one was reported injured in either area.

The sky turned black at Cicero Center in early afternoon, residents said, and high winds, rain and hail punished the community.

The winds reached an estimated 70 miles an hour, the Onondaga County Sheriff's Department reported. They tipped over a 50-foot house trailer, uprooted a huge maple tree and knocked down several other trees.

Path 15 Miles Wide

The Madison storm left a path of destruction about 15 miles wide and of a length not immediately determined. It bowled over trees, ripped roofs from houses, overturned house trailers and cut electric power service.

Elsewhere across the State, thunderstorms brought high winds, lightning and soaking rains.

Hail pelted Massena and Jay, in the Adirondacks. Wind gusts reached 64 miles an hour in Binghamton, officials said.

In Schenectady, lightning damaged a house adjacent to a dwelling that had been struck by a bolt—but not damaged—a few hours earlier.

Some sections of the Adirondacks were hit with ice chunks measuring three-quarters of an inch in diameter.

Weather Bureau authorities said a cold front had moved south from Canada and spawned several of the storms.

The cold air moved behind the front and threatened to drop temperatures to the frost level in some areas tonight.

Kong Le Gives Up New CP

VIENTIANE, Laos. (AP) — The last positions held by neutralist forces in the Plaine des Jarres region have fallen to the Communists, Premier Souvanna Phouma announced today.

Neutralist Gen. Kong Le abandoned his emergency command post and withdrew further southwest in the face of continuing Communist pressure, a spokesman for Souvanna said.

A government statement said "following massive attacks, prepared well in advance launched by the Lao-Viet — Pathet Lao and North Vietnamese — troops against our neutralist positions in the Plaine des Jarres and Muong Phanh, the last neutralist positions existing on the plateau of Xieng Khouang have fallen."

Muong Phanh, perched on the western edge of the Plaine des Jarres, was Kong Le's original headquarters site which the Communists took Monday after an offensive over the weekend.

The statement did not pinpoint additional neutralist positions that have fallen. Earlier it was reported that the neutralists were clinging to several positions on the fringes of the plain, including Muong Kheung, the headquarters for Kong Le's armored regiment some 20 miles northwest of Muong Phanh.

Kong Le's withdrawal — his second in two days — was not reported caused by a fresh Red attack although two Communist battalions, roughly 800 men, were said to be close behind. It appeared to be that the neutralist general was seeking to avoid a showdown battle.

After the withdrawal from Muong Phanh on Monday, Kong Le set up a new command post in a hilltop position at Ban Khong, four miles southwest of Muong Phanh.

Western military observers had believed the neutralist position at Ban Khong would be defended.

NEW YORK (AP)—A strong rally by rails spearheaded a stock market rally early this afternoon. Trading was moderately active.

Industrials followed along, giving the list a pretty good rise after two days of sharp decline.

The rails nudged to new records on average even during Tuesday's falling market.

The rails attracted new speculative and investment demand, producing a string of gains which ranged well over a point.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .7 at 305.2 with industrials up .6, rails up 1.2 and utilities unchanged.

Steels, airlines, oils and coppers strung along in the advance while utilities did little. Tobaccos and building materials were mixed.

Texas Gulf Sulphur met some renewed demand, opened on a 19,000-share block and held a 1-point gain in early afternoon.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 2.35 at 819.63.

Zenith and IBM were ahead about 2 each, Polaroid and U.S. Smelting 3 apiece. Xerox was off a point.

Prices moved higher on the American Stock Exchange.

Corporate bonds were mixed. U.S. government bonds were mostly unchanged.

FIRE AT QUARRY STREET—A one-story frame and concrete block building at 20 Quarry Street, housing Anthony Gentile's venetian blind laundry was badly damaged by fire Tuesday afternoon, and a volunteer fireman was injured at the scene. Origin of the blaze is unknown, firemen said. The building was heavily involved in flame and smoke when firemen arrived. Cleansing equipment, an oil burner, and other contents were damaged along with the roof and roof timbers, window frames and other parts of the interior. A telephone call at 3:22 p. m., was followed by an alarm from Box 4616, at the J. Watson Bailey School. Units from Central and Wiltwyck Stations, Excelsior, Wiltwyck and Wicks volunteers responded, with the Union Company covering at Central Station. Michael Douglas, 19, of 434 Washington Avenue, a member of Excelsior Hose Company, suffered abrasions of the left leg and hip when he moved into the path of an engine from Central Station after leaving the Excelsior truck. He was taken to Kingston Hospital by Doctor's ambulance for emergency treatment. (Freeman photo)

McNamara Says

he thinks is pertinent to this inquiry."

Vinson said that he had asked McNamara to answer the points raised in various news reports about the deaths of the pilots who were flying T-28 propeller-driven planes in South Viet Nam.

The secretary was also in for questioning about over-all development of the U.S.-backed fight against communist guerrillas.

Intends to Continue

McNamara recalled the contribution of Kosciuszko, Van Steuben and Pulaski to the fledgling United States and said "the mission of our men in South Viet Nam is the same as the mission of those Europeans who came to assist us in our fight for liberty."

"Let me be clear," McNamara said. "We are sending highly skilled and trained men to Viet Nam. We intend to continue this commitment and the Vietnamese intend to win the fight.

"The road ahead will be long and hard. But it is not in our tradition to back off when the going gets tough."

This was McNamara's second consecutive day of testimony on Capitol Hill about the Viet Nam situation, and he returns Thursday.

Others Testify

McNamara and Secretary of State Dean Rusk, along with foreign aid director David E. Bell and Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, testified Tuesday before the House Foreign Affairs Committee.

They presented the administration's case for an additional $55 million in military aid and $70 million in economic aid for South Viet Nam.

It was McNamara's findings on his inspection mission to South Viet Nam that prompted President Johnson to ask for the stepped-up aid.

After the closed hearing, Rep. William S. Maillard, R-Calif., said the administration witnesses pictured a "very serious and difficult situation that has deteriorated since last fall."

"It is a strange thing," said Rep. Clemente J. Zablocki, D-Wis. "We are told the Viet Cong are losing battles and men but they seem to be winning the war."

Refers to Coups

Rusk told newsmen, "The Viet Cong have stepped up their efforts to try to take advantage of events in the last few months," a reference to the two coups in South Viet Nam.

Asked if the request for more men and money to help Viet Nam was related to the Communist advances in neighboring Laos, Rusk said, "They are not immediately connected but one has influence on the other."

McNamara said the Viet Cong's terror tactics are being held in check but he again cautioned that the war will be "long, hard and very difficult" but would end successfully.

DR. GRANT D. MORSE

Groundbreaking Set for School At Blue Mountain

Groundbreaking ceremonies for the proposed Dr. Grant D. Morse Elementary School at Carelas Corners, Blue Mountain are scheduled for 2 p. m. Thursday.

The new 21-room elementary school is estimated to cost $1,130,000.

Dr. Morse retired from the position of superintendent of schools late in 1962 after 39 years in the Saugerties system and 43 years of service as a public school administrator. He was succeeded by Dr. Dexter O. Arnold, who will also participate in the ceremonies.

Contractors bids were opened last week for general construction, plumbing, heating and electrical work.

The new elementary school is part of a $2,875,000 bond issue approved by the voters of the district in June 1963.

The expansion program includes a five-classroom addition to Mt. Marion School where construction has been underway for some time, and a 26-room addition to the junior-senior high school.

The elementary school is to be constructed on a 20-acre site at Carelas Corners on the Blue Mountain-Quarryville Road.

Note Purchase Of First Land for Wittenberg Park

Senator E. Ogden Bush and Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson announced today the signing of a purchase agreement for the first piece of land in the proposed 500-acre Wittenberg State Park in the Town of Woodstock.

According to the State Conservation Department a 52-acre parcel of land owned by Mrs. Noelle Gilmore of Mount Tremper has been signed under the State's Park and Recreation Land Acquisition Bond Act program.

Commenting on the proposed park, the legislators said the Wittenberg Park project has been enthusiastically received by scores of organizations and hundreds of individuals.

Resolutions favoring the park development have been passed by the Woodstock Town Board, the Town Board of Shandaken, the Catskill Mountain Development Council, the Empire State Grange, church and civic groups, many Chambers of Commerce, sportmen's clubs and various fire companies.

The Conservation Department also told Senator Bush and Assemblyman Wilson that negotiations are underway for several additional parcels and additional purchase agreements are expected to be signed in the near future. When completed, the park area will total approximately 500 acres and will include an 80-acre man-made lake on the Little Beaver Kill.

progress of plans for Ulster County Day at the Firemen's Home in Hudson. Any fire company which has available acts of entertainment was asked to contact the committee.

The Association will continue the annual Fire Prevention Week essay contest as in the past but there is a discussion on which school grades should be eligible for the contest. That matter will be decided later. There will be cash prizes to winners as in the past.

Visiting the Association were Joseph Wicker, president of the Orange County Association and John Satterlee of the Intercounty committee.

A report was given on the Hudson Valley Volunteer Firemen's convention which will be held at Lake George June 18-21. Henry Ulrich, Ulster County vice president of the H.V.V.A., reported there are 86 companies with 56 musical organizations signed up to date.

Fireman of Year Discussion

Designation of Fireman of the Year by the county association was discussed. It was suggested that the County association designate some fireman who has done some outstanding act in line of duty as the Fireman of the Year. No action was taken on the matter. It will be discussed further.

Ulster County Fire Coordinator Winfred Snyder expressed his thanks to the members of fire companies who have participated in searches for missing persons. Firemen are frequently called out to give assistance to the authorities in locating some person reported missing and that service is of great value to the community.

Eight New Members

Eight new members were received into the county association. They are Ralph Cardello, Eugene Picco, Harold Berean Jr., Frederick Pizzuto, Thomas Rizzo, Louis Timperio, Lester A. Rheal and Donald R. Vache all of Highland.

The June meeting will be held at Rosendale with Active Hose Company as host. The meeting will be held in Rosendale Grange Hall.

The meeting adjourned out of respect to the memory of Edward Underhill, Saugerties Exempt Fireman and Harold Denike of R. H. Snyder Hose Company of Saugerties and a past president of the County Association.

Couple Switch Shares To See U.S.A. on Income

Q) "I intend to retire in June, 1965, when I will be 55 years old. My pension will amount to about $5,300 a year. In addition, I have 100 Litton Industries, 20 General Electric, 100 Monroe Auto Equipment, and $7,800 in savings accounts. The reason I plan to retire so early is that my wife and I are well and would like to spend time traveling through the good old U.S.A. at leisure. We would rent our house, sell our stocks, and put proceeds and savings into income issues to supplement my pension. Any suggestions?" — J. T.

A) I sincerely hope you can carry out your fine program.

I suggest you leave at least $1,000 in savings. I would also hold Litton, a strong growth company, as a hedge against inflation.

Sale of your other stocks and the balance of savings would come to $9,500. I would invest this in Atchison Rwy., Libby-Owens-Ford Glass; and United Gas Improvement — average yield, 4.8 per cent.

Q) "Will you please tell me what happened to Graham-Paige? Also should we change our United Corp. for something with faster growth? I would also like your opinion on Van Raalte." — S. J.

A) I can tell you what happened to Graham-Paige, but I'm afraid you're not going to like it very much. This company acquired control of Madison Square Garden Corp., and merged with it on April 21, 1960, with Madison Square Garden Corp. the surviving company. Madison Square sells on N. Y. Stock Exchange around 1⅝, pays no dividends, and has been operating at a deficit. If you hold Graham-Paige, write to the Bankers Trust, New York, and learn the steps necessary to exchange your stock.

United Corp. is slow from a growth standpoint, and you might switch this holding into fewer shares of Texaco.

I believe Van Raalte shares are a sound holding for income and moderate growth.

Mr. Spear cannot answer all mail personally but will answer all questions possible in his column.

State Criticises Kingston Town

The State Department of Audit and Control has criticized the Town of Kingston for use of its highway equipment for "private purposes." In an audit covering a period from January 1, 1961 to Dec. 31, 1962, the report stated the town board May 19, 1961 apparently had authorized use of town equipment for private use.

The report also is critical of a payment of $247 in premiums for comprehensive fire, theft and collision insurance covering automobiles owned by town constables of the town.

Criticism also is expressed over payment of $420 to John Winne, a town highway employe for rental of a dump truck to the town.

The report also criticizes the community for failure to claim $335.58 from the state in state aid as a reimbursement for money it spent, on which the report alleges state aid was allowable.

Olive Purchasing Plan Under Fire

Town of Olive purchasing without advertising for bids for materials over $1,000 and a payment of $43.59 to Rudy DeSilva for supplying anti-freeze, hand tools and kerosene to the town highway department while DeSilva was the town's deputy town clerk, are criticized in a report from the State Department of Audit and Control.

The report notes that the town law provides that no claim or demand of any nature shall be audited in which any town officer has an interest, either direct or indirect, except for lawful salary and expenses. The report covers a period from Jan. 11, 1961 to Dec. 31, 1962. The report stated no record could be found where items over $1,000 had been advertised for.

Area Planners Hear State Men

A joint meeting of Town and Planning Board officials of Marbletown, Rochester, Rosendale and Wawarsing was held at the Accord Fire Hall recently to discuss town planning and to meet John S. Deffigos and Gerald Morrison of the New York State Department of Commerce, Bureau of Planning. John W. Scribano, chairman of the Town of Rochester Planning Board, presided.

Local Level Planning

Deffigos spoke on planning at the local level, the creation of a Planning Board for those communities which had none as yet, and their duties as advisory and regulatory bodies. He stressed the main object of such Planning Boards; to develop a master plan by making basic studies of the past and present, and a projection for the future, based on these studies. Other duties of a Planning Board were to draw up subdivision regulations, approve plans, make housing studies, draw up zoning regulations and compile a capital improvements program, as well as making up an official map. He warned, however, that such planning must be kept reasonable and within limits that a Town Board would accept, as the elected officials were responsible for implementing such planning by changes in organization, the adoption of new ordinances, etc. Many questions were asked and answered during this informal discussion.

Deffigos also spoke on obtaining a professional study and the financial arrangements for same in New York State, which were administered by the Department of Commerce.

The Housing and Home Finance Agency of the Federal Government provided money for planning to the states. New York were provided with ⅔ of the cost of professional planning, the State provided 1/6 of the cost and the community paid the remaining 1/6 of the cost. If a number of communities banded together to have one professional plan, this 1/6 of the cost could be shared, but a logical planning area would have to be involved, he said. Areas must be adjacent and have many features in common. The Bureau of Planning administered this program and acted as a bank; that is, the consultant would be paid by the state who would put up the Federal share and the town share. At the end of the study, the commuity would be billed for its share and the Federal Government would also be billed.

Certain Requirements

In order to qualify for such assistance, communities would have to meet certain requirements—such as cooperating with the state official, providing tax records, fire records, health records and also cooperating with each other by monthly meetings and working with each other. No community without a Planning Board authorized to approve plans would be considered and other requirements would have to be met. Deffigos, in answer to some questions, said that a professional planning consultant would be selected by the towns involved, even though he would be paid by the state. Professional studies were made over a period of two years, and towns would not be required to pay their share until the end of this period.

Official present were:

Wawarsing — George M. Barthel, Wilfred Kopp.

Rochester — Edward C. Carle, Gerald DeWitt, Franklin S. Kelder, Raymond Lawrence, Joseph Lee, Angela Pellicane, Samuel Reavin, John W. Scribano, Morris Sims and Winston Van Kleeck.

Today is Date Ray Scheduled in Cuba

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — This is the day on which Manuel Ray, who was the first minister of public works in Fidel Castro's government, promised to be fighting in Cuba against the Communist dictatorship of his former chief.

The Miami area's refugee colony was excited at the possibility that Ray, or one or two other groups pledged to act against Castro soon, would make some raid on Cuba during the day, the 62nd anniversary of Cuba's independence from Spain.

Headquarters of the three groups said only that they still plan to carry guerrilla warfare, sabotage and subversion to their homeland soon.

Pearson to Stand By Decision of Cabinet on Flag

OTTAWA, Canada (AP)—Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson's Liberal government is going to survive or fall soon on its proposal to give Canada a new maple leaf flag as part of its program to end the separatist movement in French-speaking Canada.

Pearson told the House of Commons Tuesday night he soon would have a Cabinet decision on the new flag's design to submit to the House and would stand on it as a matter of policy.

"I would make it quite clear," said Pearson, "that when the government submits to Parliament a matter of policy—and this is certainly a matter of policy—the government must stand or fall on the result of the decision of the House."

If former Prime Minister John Diefenbaker's Conservatives or other opposition parties oppose the new flag, he said, they could make the issue one of confidence. If the government loses a confidence vote, it must resign and new national elections must be held.

Pearson's 13-month-old government lacks a majority in Commons but has not lost a confidence vote yet.

Pearson also said he hoped "O Canada" could be declared the official national anthem at this session of Parliament. A member of the British Commonwealth, Canada has used "God Save the Queen" since it became a dominion in 1867.

Opposition to a new flag is spearheaded by the Royal Canadian Legion of war veterans, whose national convention booed Pearson in Winnipeg last weekend when he announced he was going ahead with his proposal.

The legion planned a barrage of telegrams to every member of Commons demanding that Canada's battle-honored Red Ensign be retained.

Capitol News in Brief

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON (AP) — In the news from Washington:

NATIONAL DEBT: Informed sources say the Treasury is expected to ask Congress to raise the national debt ceiling to $320 billion or more for the fiscal year that starts July 1.

The present temporary debt limit is $315 billion but this is scheduled to stop automatically to $309 billion on June 30. Unless Congress acts, the limit will revert the next day to the permanent ceiling of $285 billion.

The national debt now is $309.2 billion.

WAGE-PRICE: The AFL-CIO again has challenged President Johnson's appeal for labor and business to hold the wage-price line.

"Neither wage nor price restraints are tolerable in a free society except in the gravest national emergency, and then only when coupled with stringent restraints upon excess profits," the labor group's Executive Council said in a statement Tuesday.

PAPERWORK: Unnecessary reports to the government can cost a small businessman $3,000 to $5,000 a year, a spokesman told a House subcommittee on Government Statstics today.

George J. Burger, vice president of the National Federation of Independent Business, set this price in testimony prepared for the subcommittee's hearings on reduction of paper work.

Civil War Buffs Plan Shoot Test For '64 Skirmish

Sharpshooters from a wide area will participate in the North-South Civil War Skirmish, sponsored by the 120th New York Volunteer Regiment, to be held in June at Knaust Field, Saugerties.

Shooting on Saturday and Sunday, June 13 and 14, will begin at 11 a. m., and continue through to 4 p. m. on both days. A total of 40 invitations have been sent to muzzle-loading teams from New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Maine, Maryland and Virginia, and to date, a month ahead of the event, 18 teams have already accepted.

An outstanding feature will be a competition in which a muzzle-loading team will shoot against a team composed of members of the Saugerties Town Police Force. The muzzle-loaders, who will be top marksmen selected from the various visiting teams, will use authentic Civil War weapons, while the town police will shoot with their regulation service revolvers.

Other features of the weekend will be a parade, a military observance, cannon and individual competition, and team competition.

Visiting teams will appear in their various company uniforms, a colorful array which includes everything from Scottish kilts, hunter green of the Main Sharpshooters, to the dazzling Sauave balloon pants. Their ladies attend in their hoop skirts and 1861 gowns.

A Blue and Gray Ball will be held for team members and their families on Saturday night.

Refreshments will be available at the field and there is no admission charge. The public is cordially invited to attend.

CONFIRMATION AT WEST CAMP—Three members of the confirmation class of St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran Church, West Camp were received into the fellowship of the church Sunday during service observing Pentecost. The Rev. Alvin F. Messersmith, pastor, prepares to administer the rites of confirmation upon (from rear) Diana Lewis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Lewis; Irene Fischer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Fischer, and Barbara Emerick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Luther Emerick. They will receive their first Communion with the congregation on Sunday (Trinity Sunday) at the 11 a. m. worship service. Each received a gift from the congregation and a lawn reception was held after the service.

List Statistics On Teachers for Recognition Day

Governor Nelson A. Rockefeller this week issued a proclamation designating Teacher Recognition Day, May 19.

Dr. Dexter O. Arnold, superintendent of schools, has provided some statistics concerning teachers in the Saugerties Central Schools which may be of interest.

Saugerties teachers range in experience from the present year only to 41 years. Twenty-three are teaching their first year. Seventy-two have had five years or less over-all teaching experience. The median number of years of experience is six.

Experience in Saugerties parallels the total experience quite closely. Thirty-eight are teaching their first year in Saugerties. One has taught here 41 years. Ninety-one have had five years or less teaching experience in Saugerties. The median number of years in Saugerties is three, Dr. Arnold said.

One gains the impression, and rightfully so, that we have a faculty of late comers. However, we have a number of teachers who have had a wealth of experience: fifteen have had 25 or more years of experience, and 50 have had 10 to 25 years experience.

One hundred thirty teachers hold a bachelors or advanced degree and forty-five earned a masters degree.

Thirty-six women and eight men teachers are unmarried while 57 women and 48 men are married.

Dr. Arnold stated, "We have a fine faculty in Saugerties Central Schools. In the relatively short period I have been here I have come to respect and admire the attitude and dedicated spirit of many of our staff. I find a willingness to work, to improve, to cooperate in the many activities embodied in our schools.

There is a sincerity of purpose evident as our teachers go about their daily business of helping the youth of the district to achieve according to their abilities. I find a deep interest displayed in the pupils and their progress. The professional spirit is high and is enhanced by the Saugerties Central Schools Teachers Association.

"Teacher Recognition Day provides an opportunity to express our appreciation for the conscientious teachers to whose care we entrust our most precious resource. If your child's teacher is doing a good job, a short note or a pleasant word can do much for morale," Dr. Arnold said.

Board of Education President Robert Herb issued this statement today:

"Very often we are prone to realize the value of those who work with our children; be it an athletic group, a fraternal group, a religious group or a group known as "teachers". We neglect to praise or reward these people for their contribution to our childrens' growing up.

"On this annual 'Teacher Recognition Day' we salute the devoted people who day after day give of their knowledge in order that our children may grow intellectually, physically and morally.

"Their task is not easy! Our teachers must be many things: disciplinarians, diplomats, counselors, guides, instructors; they must have the patience of Job, the strength of Hercules, and a dedication that is far beyond the normal calling of the average citizen.

"Their service to the community is irreplaceable, their devotion unmatched by many others; their goal, the finest: to give to and expect from each pupil all that he is capable of achieving.

"To each and every one of our teachers in the Saugerties Central Schools System, my sincere thanks and appreciation for your part in the education of our youth.

Council, Churches Install Officers Monday, May 25

Saugerties Area Council of Churches will hold its annual meeting and installation of officers Monday 6 p. m. at Flatbush Reformed Church.

Ladies of the church will serve dinner and reservations should be made with Mrs. Zelda Boice by Friday. Pastors of member churches are urged to invite members of their congregations.

The same officers as last year will be installed by the Rev. Alvin F. Messersmith, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran Church, West Camp, a past president.

The officers are:

President — The Rev. Joseph Rainear, pastor of the Saugerties Methodist Church; first vice-president—the Rev. Henry Reinewald, pastor of Mt. Marion Reformed Church; second vice-president — the Rev. George Wood, pastor of Flatbush Reformed Church; secretary—Robert Myer, treasurer — R. Earle Haley.

Speaker for the evening will be the Rev. Roy Severance, pastor of Hyde Park Methodist Church, chairman of the N. Y. State Council Committee on Radio and Television. Those wishing to attend the meeting and not the dinner are cordially invited.

Miss Saugerties Pageant Slated Saturday, Sept. 19

This year's Miss Saugerties Pageant to chose the titleholder for 1965 will be held Saturday, Sept. 19 at the high school auditorium, it was announced at Tuesday night's Saugerties Area Chamber of Commerce meeting held at the municipal building.

Preliminary plans for the annual event were announced and committee meetings scheduled.

Executive Secretary Alfred R. MacMullen announced that organizations planning events are invited to make use of the Chamber's calendar of events to avoid conflicts with other organization events. Dates may be listed and checked by calling the secretary at the Chamber office, he said.

Christmas street lighting and the ban by the State Department of Public Works on strings across state highways was discussed at length.

A questionnaire was received from the State Council of Retail Merchants asking merchant's asociations and Chambers to advise if they are effected by the order. On the basis of the poll the council will proceed with measures to alleviate the problem. Saugerties Chamber has a large investment in Christmas street lights which they purchased some years ago and have replaced from year to year.

Reports were also heard on the project to provide street lights at both entrances to the Thruway, due to dangerous condiions at these two points. The Chamber has been in contact with the State Department of Public Works regarding the problem.

The Chamber voted to again make a cash award to the local high school graduate, both girl and boy, who have excellent conduct records in school. A sum of $20 each will be awarded to a boy and girl graduate.

Chamber President Joseph Bosco Jr., presided.

Antique Show Set At VFW Hall on Friday, Saturday

The second annual VFW antique show and sale starting Friday for two days, will feature carnival glass, German bisque dolls, antique jewelry, bric-a-brac, oddities, primatives, china, coins, and other items. Doors will be open to the public from 10 a. m. to 9 p. m. each day at the Post Home, Livingston Street,, Saugerties.

Twelve dealers from the Hudson Valley and Long Island will offer their wares in attractive displays. The two local florists, The Flower Garden and Overbaugh's, will add to the interest with live and artificial displays.

Sponsored by the Ladies Auxiliary to Saugerties Memorial Post 5034 VFW, this year's show promises the browser a day of enjoyment, according to the chairman, Mrs. Kay Helm. A nominal admission fee is charged. Refreshments will be available for snacking, lunching or a light supper.

All profits realized will be used in the Auxiliary's hospital and rehabilitation work.

Dealers participating include: Mrs. Anna Tice, Mrs. Margaret Ruth Smith, Mrs. Violet Martin, William Igoe and Mrs. Kay Helm, all of the Saugerties Township; Mrs. Rose Netburn of Kingston; Mrs. Lea Rapp of Athens; Mrs. Marianne Boeckel of Poughkeepsie; Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Schermerhorn of Raven; Jerry Mooney of Ravena; Mrs. Margaret DeCelle of Lynbrook, L. I., and Mrs. John Stromp of High Falls.

Blue Mountain Cub Scout Pack Lists Activities

Cub Pack 37 of Blue Mountain journeyed last week to Pleasant Valley Inn, Freehold on a swim outing. Parents and families joined in the car caravan with 20 cubbers.

The pack held its meeting at the Saxton Firehouse with the theme, Mardi Gras.

A grand parade was held around the hall for all cubbers in costume.

Cubmaster Calvin Valk listed future activities, a swim May 9, the family outing and picnic at Camp Tri-Mount May 23, and the round-up in June.

Scott Olsen was welcomed into the pack by David Bright and presented a Bobcat pin.

Scott Hill was awarded his Webelos Badge by Cubmaster Valk and encouraged to continue into Boy Scouting. Michael Munro was given his graduating certificate from cubbing.

Dens two, three, four and five created games in their projects and the pack was invited to play.

Den Chief Gary Shultis conducted the opening flag ceremony assisted by Rodney Lemon and Michael Munro.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Louise Shultis. Mrs. Marie Sheehan and Mrs. Doris Valk.

Blue Mountain Church Slates Firemen's Sunday

Firemens' Sunday has been scheduled for May 31 at Blue Mountain Reformed Church for officers and members of Centerville Fire Company at the 11:15 a. m. worship service.

An invitation has been issued by the Rev. August Pfaus Jr., pastor, who is fire company chaplain.

Dominic Crane Elected to Head St. Mary's P-TA

Dominic Crane will preside over the Parent-Teacher Association of St. Mary of the Snow school during the coming year.

Other officers elected at the meeting Sunday night were Walter Nealy, vice-president; Mrs. Paul Pavlovitch, secretary; Mrs. Frank Ruddy, treasurer; Kenneth Blundell, trustee for one year; and Warren Martin, trustee for two years.

The constitutional amendment calling for the selection of trustees was passed prior to the election of officers. The trustees will serve in an advisory capacity and provide "continuity of activity" according to the amendment framed by a committee under chairman James Garde.

Brown and green plaid jumper style outfits will be the new uniform for girls studying at St. Mary's, following a decision made at the meeting. The boys will wear charcoal grey trousers, along with their present white shirts. The new colors will become compulsory in September 1965.

The membership voted to assume financial responsibility for the public address system now in operation in the school. Contracts for maintenance of the system during and after the payment period will be investigated.

Since the educational programs of Channel 13 from New York are not now available with the Vidi-Comm hookup, this will be suspended until they can be received, according to an announcement by outgoing president Warren Martin. Martin also thanked Professor Merola for his work with the new St. Mary's band, and said that music lessons would continue during the summer for those interested.

Mrs. Pearl Christianna thanked all who donated and worked to make the recent bake sale a success. Mrs. Faye Washburn reported that the P-TA cookbook of over 100 pages is expected to be on sale at the June meeting.

The group voted to pay for the eighth grade diplomas, as has been done in the past, and to send a donation to the Saugerties Council of Campfire Girls.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Joan Staudiger and a committee of Sixth Grade mothers.

Wilbert Drescher Named to Head Kiskatom Vols

Wilbert Drescher was elected president of Kiskatom Fire Company at its recent annual meeting held at the firehouse.

The annual dinner will be held Thursday 5 p. m. at Jahn's Valley View Farm.

Also named were Donald Doney, vice president and Ronald Rieseberg, treasurer. Frank Dovigh was elected chief; Ronald Van Deusen, first assistant and James Katt, second assistant.

Viet Favors Cambodia Border Talk

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — A South Vietnamese spokesman at the United Nations says his government wants border talks with Cambodia and would welcome U.N. help to arrange them.

Pham Khac Rau, charge d'affaires of the South Vietnamese Embassy in Washington, stated this position in an interview Tuesday night after the Security Council opened debate on a charge by Cambodia that South Vietnamese raids across its border constituted aggression by South Viet Nam and the United States.

Rau denied the aggression charge. He said the border incidents arose because the Viet Cong Communists fighting to overthrow his government "have been able to use Cambodian territory as their sanctuary."

Rau said his government wanted to "remove the causes of these border incidents."

With the Soviet Union and Czechoslovakia voting no, the Security Council voted 9-2 Tuesday to let South Viet Nam join in the debate. The Saigon government first must send credentials authorizing a representative to speak for it since South Viet Nam is not a member of the U.N.

The debate was recessed until Thursday to await word from Saigon.

Gov. Reflects on Vote

Wallace Points To New Trend

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP)—The limp carnation was turning brown in his lapel, the coffee was cold in the stained cups littering his headquarters, the last echo of elation had died in a hoarse whisper of fatigue, and George C. Wallace's 10-week campaign in the North was, at last, finished.

No one, Wallace included, could know precisely what it meant or where it would all lead.

His own estimation was that the votes he got in Wisconsin, Indiana and Maryland demonstrated a reversal of white sympathy in the North for the Negro civil rights movements.

"I have shown," he said late Tuesday night after all the votes were counted and he was reflecting on the race in his strangely quiet motel room, "that sectionalism is not a factor in opposition to the trend of trying to solve everything by federal force.

"It is now evident that a new trend has been established, and it transcends sectional lines.

"This Maryland vote," he said, "should let them know in Washington and in both national parties that they can't get rid of us by calling us bad names.

"They called me a bigot, a liar, a racist, an agitator, a trespasser. They pictured my supporters with Ku Klux hoods. They called in 10 senators to beat us down, and yet," he said with an air of triumph, "a majority of the white people in Maryland gave me their support. I'm elated. That's far more than I ever expected."

43 PC for Governor

The Alabama governor won about 43 per cent of the vote in the Maryland Democratic presidential primary against Sen. Daniel B. Brewster, favorite-son stand-in for President Johnson. The state's Negro population is 17 per cent.

For one brief moment shortly after the polls closed Wallace sniffed an actual victory.

The first returns showed him leading Brewster—152 to 136 in one district, 194 to 69 in another, then some totals: Wallace 28,000 to 22,000 with 11 per cent of the vote in; Wallace 39,000 to 33,000 with 17 per cent counted.

The victory-inspired levity lasted about 30 minutes. Then it ended, almost abruptly, when an announcement came that with 41 per cent of the vote counted Brewster had pulled ahead.

Wallace was plainly disappointed, even though moments before the polls closed he had outlined once again, with paper and pencil, how it would be impossible for him to get a majority.

Mrs. Wallace, who accompanied her husband on his campaign swing through Maryland, sat quietly, looking fresh in a white dress with red and blue accents and an orchid corsage on her left shoulder. Later, when the last meeting with cheering supporters was over, she seemed genuinely relieved.

"I'll be glad to get back to Alabama and see the children," she said. "I can't remember the last time I was away for so long."

As for her husband, at this moment fatigued to the point of exhaustion, he clearly longed for more battles to join. But he refused to say what form they might take. One guess was that he will concentrate on expanding his unpledged elector movement, overwhelmingly successful in Alabama, to other Southern states.

Scranton Favors Alliance to Beat Barry Goldwater

NEW YORK (AP)—Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania says he approves of the alliance of the Rockefeller and Lodge forces in California in a move to beat Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona in the California presidential primary June 2.

Scranton, a potential compromise Republican candidate for president, who is on good terms with both the Goldwater and anti-Goldwater forces, said Tuesday he does not believe there is a "full-fledged" movement in GOP ranks to stop Goldwater.

'Logical' Move

He said the California support given to Gov. Rockefeller by the forces of Henry Cabot Lodge, ambassador to South Viet Nam, was a "normal and logical" move by those interested in the nomination. Rockefeller and Goldwater are the only candidates entered in the contest for California's GOP convention delegates.

Backers of Lodge, hoping to keep the GOP convention open, decided Monday to support Rockefeller in California in an effort to keep Goldwater from adding the state's delegates to his front-running national total.

Answering newsmen's questions, Scranton said he and his political associates are not involved in an anti-Goldwater campaign.

States His Thoughts

Scranton made the statements prior to a non-political luncheon at the Bond Club, where he was guest speaker.

At a news conference after the luncheon, Scranton said in effect that the "logic" of the Lodge forces' support of Rockefeller in California was this: if Goldwater won the crucial presidential primary in that state, he probably would go on to become the presidential nominee.

But if Rockefeller defeated Goldwater in California, the nomination race would be thrown wide open and Rockefeller, Lodge or someone else — including former vice president Richard M. Nixon — night well be nominated.

Dr. William P. Locke was guest of honor at a dinner party Friday night. Members of the medical staff, the nurses' organization and administrative staff of Northern Dutchess Hospital paid tribute to the Hyde Park physician as he starts a long vacation with no office hours in the offing. The affair was held at the Nurses' Home. It marked Dr. Locke's semi-retirement from 30 years of service in this area. His office will continue to function under the direction of Dr. James P. Irwin and Dr. Graenum R. Schiff. Long devoted to sailing small craft, Dr. and Mrs. Locke will spend the next several months at Cape Cod. Later they plan to go to the Bahamas and the West Indies.

West Hurley

Recognition Day

In honor of Teacher Recognition Day proclaimed by Gov. Nelson Rockefeller the West Hurley P.T.A. feted the faculty and staff of the West Hurley School on May 12 at a luncheon. The buffet was delicious, and those who attended felt greatly honored by the gesture. In addition, corsages were also presented to the faculty in honor of the day.

The Country Fair held on May 9 was a huge success. A profit of more than $300 was realized and will be used for a school project. The committee wishes to thank all those who contributed their efforts.

P-TA officers for the 1964-65 school year will be installed at the final P. T. A. meeting of the year on May 26. The program for the evening will be a panel to discuss "Community Youth Activities."

On Wednesday, May 27, the West Hurley P-TA the West Hurley Fire Department and Mr. George Schroeder will offer a bicycle safety program at the West Hurley Fire House and the Spillway Fire House. The campaign will begin at 6:30 p. m. Those children who do not fulfill the safety requirements will be afforded another opportunity at a later date to qualify as a competent bicycle driver.

The Mid-Hudson District P-TA will hold its spring conference on June 9 at New Paltz. Officers and members of the executive committee will attend this meeting.

Mothers Club Meets

The Mothers Club of Troop 12 and Explorer Post 12, Old Dutch Church held its monthly meeting after a recent Mother and Son dinner.

Mrs. John Devine, president presided. Mrs. Elwood Robinson, former president agreed to be program chairman. It was announced that the final meeting of the year will be the annual banquet. Mothers will meet at the church 6:15 p. m. Wednesday, June 10 and arrange for transportation to Gene Whalen's Ulster Landing Lodge.

The Indians, Troop and Post drum corps will play for the opening of the Knot Hole League May 24. On Memorial Day they will play in the morning in the Port Ewen parade and in the afternoon in the Kingston parade. They will play at the World's Fair June 13.

There will be a camporee at Camp Tri-Mount June 6 and 7.

CHEVY II by Chevrolet
Go on an economy drive this vacation

Sure you can just about run a Chevy II on peanuts. But don't let its economy fool you. Because this frisky family car can take the whole gang along on any trip you want to make. In plenty of comfort and a whole lot of style.

Its range of power makes fun out of turnpikes and mountain roads alike. (Makes each gallon of gas work overtime, too!) Inside, a Chevy II Nova is tailored for travel. Child-proof upholstery, trip-size trunk and glove box, dual sun visors and deep-twist carpeting are just a few standard features.

That roomy, rugged Body by Fisher is as easy to look after as it is to look at. In fact, Chevy II virtually cares for itself, with a battery-saving Delcotron generator, self-adjusting brakes, long-life muffler and self-cleaning rocker panels that help prevent rust by flushing out salt and other corrosives.

TRADE 'N' TRAVEL TIME FOR THE GREAT HIGHWAY PERFORMERS

There's a Chevy II for everyone—sedans, wagons and sport models. A price for everyone, too. Because now is Trade 'N' Travel Time at your Chevrolet dealer's. Time to get the most fun from your new car and make a great deal on your old one!

Of course you're not supposed to be so practical when you plan a vacation. But being this practical won't spoil a bit of the fun. Should add to it, in fact, for the rest of the year. And that's about fifty weeks' worth. Every year.

Baptists Urged To Take Active CR Fight Role

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—A Southern Baptist commission recommended today that the denomination's convention go on record in support of legislation guaranteeing legal rights of Negroes.

The commission apparently considered the recommendation the closest thing to endorsement of civil rights legislation that might be adopted by the convention, whose action is not binding on member churches.

The topic goes to the convention floor Thursday and is certain to cause heated debate.

Northern Baptists were urged by a Negro leader Tuesday night at their convention to take a more active role in the civil rights fight.

The Rev. Dr. Ralph B. Abernathy of Atlanta, a Baptist minister and associate of the Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., said: "It is a tragic fact that for too long the church has not been a voice, but rather an echo."

Racial issues have claimed a big part of the discussions of both the American (Northern) and Southern Baptist Conventions, meeting separately.

The civil rights recommendation was made by the Christian Life Commission of the Southern Baptist Convention, largest Protestant denomination in the United States, with more than 10 million members.

Rebels Meet in Hills

ADEN, Federation of South Arabia (AP)—About 300 rebel tribesmen have gathered in the Radfan hills, prompting British speculation that they may be discussing peace overtures to the government of the Federation of South Arabia.

The British army went into action against the rebels three weeks ago to secure the desert road linking Aden with Dhala to the north.

Monroe-Woodbury Rejects School Again

MONROE, N.Y. (AP) — For the second time in two months, voters in the Monroe-Woodbury School District have rejected a bond issue to construct a new junior high school.

In a referendum yesterday on the $2.5 million proposal, 927 votes were cast against the bond issue and 647 for it.

Troopers Probe Highland Fire

A fire early this morning in the old pump house of the Highland water department on the New Paltz road, is under investigation by State Police.

Highland firemen were called to the pump house at 12:13 a. m. today where is was found the premises had been entered and fire set to the place. It was reported that the windows of the pump house and other damage had been done. Firemen under the direction of Chief Fred Visconti responded. The recall was sounded at 12:58 a. m. The fire and damage was reported to apparently be the work of vandals.

Ferris's Wheel

BLOOMINGTON, Ill. (AP)—The World's Columbian Exposition held in Chicago in 1893 recalls memories for Lura Eyestone.

One of the highlights of her trip to the fair was riding the Ferris wheel which was built by G. E. Gale Ferris, a mechanical engineer from Galesburg, Ill., especially for the Columbian Exposition.

It was 268 feet high and carried 36 cars. Each car could accommodate 60 persons.

Miss Eyestone said the cars were red-carpeted.

The wheel was sold for scrap after it was used in the St. Louis exhibition in 1904.

Caballeros Will Perform at Corps Meet on May 30

Featuring a special exhibition by the Hawthorne Caballeros of Hawthorne, N. J., and five other leading corps from the east competing for the first place award, the 10th annual Pageant of Champions will be held Memorial Day at 8 p. m. in Dietz Stadium, Kingston.

The glittering marching and musical spectacle is sponsored by the Criterions, a corps comprising personnel from the Mid-Hudson Valley area which, this year for the first time, will be affiliated with Kingston Post 150 of the American Legion.

The Kingston pageant will be basically the same show scheduled May 23 at New York City's Shea Stadium, scene of a huge drum corps and band festival. While the Caballeros will not compete in the Kingston pageant on the holiday night, their return appearance has been long awaited by the thousands of patrons of the annual show.

The Caballeros are known for their famed Latin-American beat. Their exciting and colorful unit has produced six national championships.

The competing units in the Kingston show will include the Marksmen of Springfield, Mass.; the Carver Gay Blades of Newark, N. J.; the Stateliners of Byram, Conn; the Vagabonds of Torrington, Conn., and the Wanderers of New Rochelle.

The Marksmen, one of the outstanding corps in the Bay State, feature a new "Stereo in Motion," in their 1964 show. The Gay Blades, who have been acclaimed for their showmanship in past Kingston performances, captured the Northeastern Circuit championship in 1959 and successfully defended their title a year later.

The Stateliners accent jazz music, accompanied by a smart precision drill. The Vagabonds, another Connecticut corps, were one of the finalists last year in the Northeastern Circuit championship at Riverside Park in Springfield, Mass.

The Wanderers enjoy tremendous popularity in Westchester County. They blend a very enjoyable repertoir of Broadway show tunes with an eye-striking precision drill.

The Kingston drum corps pageant annually attracts upwards of 7,000. Reserved tickets are now on sale in Kingston at Tommy Maines Sports Shop, 359 Broadway; Rossi's Music Store, 49 North Front Street; Potter Brothers sporting goods at 294 Fair Street, or Fred Tierney, 61 Smith Avenue.

Overseer Reports Small Profit for President's Wife

BILLINGSLEY, Ala. (AP)—Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson's farm in Alabama brought her a net profit of only $284.23 last year, the overseer of the property said Tuesday.

Wallace Canterbury, the overseer, said Mrs. Johnson's gross income from the farm in 1963 was $2,463.41 and her expenses $2,179.18.

The farm came into the limelight recently when Reps. David T. Martin, R-Neb., and M. G. Snyder, R-Ky., described the tenants on the Johnson property as impoverished and their homes as tumbledown shacks.

A White House spokesman answered the charge by calling the rental of the homes and plots of land to tenants for only $60 a year a humanitarian gesture on the part of the First Lady.

The overseer added that there are tenants living on the property for whom Mrs. Johnson wants to provide a lifetime home.

Canterbury said he tried to persuade Mrs. Johnson to put the farm in the soil bank when he became manager five years ago. He said she could have realized as much as $5,000 annual profit that way.

"But she decided against it because she would have had to displace the tenants and also because of her attitude toward accepting that much government aid," Canterbury said.

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The problem of playing a recent legend faces talented, Alabama-born Dean Jones.

The actor leaves next month for Madrid and Viet Nam to portray the leading role in "The Tom Dooley Story." It's the best chance of his career, yet he admits that he was reluctant to take it.

"How do you portray a saint?" he asked.

Indeed, Dooley did appear saint-like, a dedicated Navy doctor who turned his back on the prospect of a prosperous practice at home to return to Laos and try to lend medical assistance. But Jones researched deeper.

"I found out that Dooley was an intensely human being," Jones said. "He apparently tried to hide his altruistic nature behind a flip image. He seemed to be afraid that people would get maudling about him.

"I had worried that he would have turned out to be a one-dimensional character. He isn't that at all."

Jones has read all of Dooley's books. He has seen all the film on Dooley he could find. This includes a "This is Your Life" show, two television documentaries and some Navy footage.

"The Navy stuff was the most useful," said Jones, "because it caught him unposed. The camera panned around and there he was treating a woman with bound feet. That gave me a chance to observe the real essence of the man."

Heads UR Officials

UTICA, N.Y. (AP) — William Warner of Mount Vernon is the new president of the New York State Association of Urban Renewal Officials.

Warner, elected Tuesday, succeeds George McCulloch of Syracuse.

Also elected at the windup of the group's three-day meeting were Joseph Leone of Albany, vice president, and James Connors of Mechanicville, secretary.

About 200 persons attended the meeting.

Free Programs at Stake

Battle Rumbling Over Pay Video

By PHILIP J. KEUPER

NEW YORK (AP) — A big battle is rumbling over pay television.

At stake is perhaps the future of commercial television, the kind that beams programs free into the nation's sets.

Many in Fight

Already in the fight are citizen's groups, movie theater owners and the National Association of Broadcasters. On the sidelines are the federal government, the major television networks and television executives.

What is involvd?

Mainly a new company called Subscription Television, Inc., headed by Sylvester L. Weaver Jr., former president of the National Broadcasting Co. Weaver says he aims to turn pay television from a novelty into a paying business.

The job will take considerable salesmanship. Many Americans today shrug off pay television with the question: Why should I pay to see television when I can see it now for free?

Quality Is Pledged

"Quality," answer pay television spokesmen. "We'll offer special sports events, first-run films, ballet, opera, Broadway plays, all uninterrupted by commercials."

If pay television is sold to the public, say its critics, it could change much of the entertainment industry.

Movie theater owners see the dollars going into pay television coin boxes or for monthly bills for programs.

The major television networks and the National Association of Broadcasters claim successful pay television eventually would buy away the best of the talent from free television, making the public pay for what it used to see for nothing.

The National Broadcasting Co. and Columbia Broadcasting System say one thing is certain: If pay television proves to be an overwhelming competitive force, they will join it.

"Eventually," says Leroy Collins, president of the National Association of Broadcasters, "pay television could actually destroy free television as we know it today."

Repercussions Due

The first repercussions are due this summer in California. Starting in July, Subscription Television, Inc., plans to bring three channels of closed-circuit pay television to at least 7,000 homes in Los Angeles and San Francisco. By the end of this year the company hopes to have 70,000 sets in the two cities wired for pay television; in five years, 1.5 million sets in California and 10 million in the nation.

"In 10 years," said Weaver in an interview here, "half of the sets in the nation could be receiving pay television."

So far, pay television hasn't proved itself. Other pay television operations in Chicago in 1957 didn't last.

Two pay television stations operate today. One, near Toronto, Canada, began in 1961 with 5,000 subscribers and now has 3,500. The other, in Hartford, Conn., began in 1962 with 300 customers and today has 5,000.

Orientation Is Held at School

An orientation session was held Thursday, May 14 at the New Paltz Central School. The students taking part in this session were the eighth grade students of St. Joseph's Parochial School who will be going to the Central School next fall.

The group was given welcome remarks by Bruce Grey, student council president. He then introduced John L. Wyman, high school principal who explained the administrative policy of the school. Miss Barbara A. Berlin, guidance counselor made remarks concerning the guidance services available to the students.

Extra-curricular opportunities were given by seniors active in the projects which they discussed. Arthur Stegen explained the boys athletic program. Jane Redfern covered girls athletics. The club program was discussed by Scott Yaeger. Linda Dyer, editor of the Huguenot made remarks concerning opportunities in the literary field. Carol Bond, representative of the music department, explained the music program.

Thomas P. Benenati, guidance director, showed slides covering the facilities, services, curricular and co-curricular offerings.

A tour of the school building was conducted by student guides. After the tour refreshments were served and entertainment from the Festival of Arts Presentation under the direction of Mrs. Brita Reed was presented.

First in Art Series Is on Display Here

The art department of the New Paltz Central School announces the first in a series of exhibits.

Mrs. Margaret Lyon is showing a group of recent paintings and drawings in the main hall of the school. Mrs. Lyon is the wife of Professor Judson Lyon of the State University College. She formerly taught art at the New Paltz High School and is currently teaching art in the Highland Elementary School.

During the coming year the art department hopes to sponsor further shows in the visual arts.

Drill Team Elects New Officers for Year

Officers for 1964-65 school year were elected at a recent meeting of the drill team of New Paltz Central School.

Wendy Carlsen is president; Jackie Stone, vice president; Kathy Riche, secretary-treasurer; Bonnie Thoben, drill captain; Beth Carvey, representative to music council.

The drill team performs at athletic contests and will march in the Memorial Day parade. Paul Steiner, instrumental music instructor is advisor to the drill team.

Band and Chorus To Perform at Fair

The concert band and the high school mixed chorus of the New Paltz Central School have accepted an invitation to perform at the New York State Pavilion of the World's Fair at 3 p. m. on Saturday, May 23. The students will be accompanied by the faculty of the music department, a group of parents and teachers. They will depart from New Paltz at 7:30 a. m. and leave the Fair at about 10 p. m. for the return trip.

Plan Car Wash

The New Paltz Central School Safety Patrol will sponsor a car wash on Saturday, May 23 at the rear high school parking lot from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m. The money will be used to send a member of the patrol to the National Safety Conference this summer.

Legion Auxiliary Announces Girls State Delegate

Miss Victoria Burkhart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. Wade Burkhart, of Palaphene Road, New Paltz, has been selected to attend the 1964 session of 'Empire' Girls State to be held at Elmira College, in Elmira, June 19 through June 27.

Miss Burkhart, a junior at New Paltz Central High School was selected by the faculty and Principal John Wyman. She will be sponsored by New Paltz Sullivan-Schafer Unit No. 176 American Legion Auxiliary.

"Tory" as she is more familiarly called by her classmates was chosen upon the basis of leadership, scholarship, courage and honesty as established by the American Legion Auxiliary Department of New York.

Girls State is a mythical 51st State wherein through actual participation the delegates share the duties, responsibilities and privileges of American citizenship. The girls actively participate in the functioning of local, county and state government.

Restaurateurs To Hear Albany Lawmaker May 26

One of the guest speakers at the silver anniversary dinner-dance of the Ulster County Hotel and Restaurant Liquor Dealers Association this year will be Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson (R-Woodstock).

The veteran Albany lawmaker will address the restaurateurs during the 25th annual event next Tuesday night, May 26, at Sparky Greco's Flamingo Restaurant, Route 9W, Saugerties Road.

Other scheduled speakers include Fred Temming, president of the state hotel and restaurant liquor dealers and Thomas Lewis, commissioner of the State Liquor Authority.

A cocktail party will start next Tuesday's anniversary program at 7 p. m. and dinner will be served at 8. Festivities will continue through 2 a. m.

Assemblyman Wilson, who has served in the Assembly since 1953, is a member of the powerful ways and means committee which handles finances of the state and also served as a member and chairman of the penal institutions committee, general laws committee and the insurance committee.

The Woodstock legislator was recently named to head an eight-county area Republican campaign committee to stimulate the election of GOP assemblymen in counties which have produced low GOP majorities. He was named to the post by Assembly Speaker Joseph F. Carlino.

Wilson was named chairman of the Region VII embracing Ulster, Otsego, Schoharie, Delaware, Greene, Columbia, Dutchess and Sullivan Counties.

Newspaper Aid Vital

Editor, The Freeman:

I would like to extend a word of "thanks" to you and your newspaper for the assistance you provided by releasing information to the taxpaying public during the recent income tax filing period.

As you are well aware, the Internal Revenue Service is continually striving to improve voluntary compliance, the most valuable asset we have in our tax system. Your assistance has been most important in helping us to improve compliance and achieve even higher levels.

Let me assure you that no one realizes better than the Internal Revenue Service how much help the press can be, for we fully understand that our tax system rests not just on words and rules and systems of organization, but on an enlightened citizenry that has been informed of its obligations and responsibilities and understands that a strong and sound Federal tax system is essential to America's future.

Very truly yours,

Power for the Cause

May 18, 1964

Editor, The Freeman:

Now that one of the biggest hurdles of Kingston's urban renewal program, the Common Council Public Hearing on Broadway East, has been cleared with encouraging public response, I want you to know how much I have valued your support.

The potency of your pen, as evidenced by your pre-hearing editorial, still remains as the most outstanding opinion moulding force in our community, and I am very grateful for your contribution to this very vital renewal program.

While I will have no official relationship with the urban renewal program when it moves into the execution phase, I think you know how much a part of my hopes for this City have gone into this endeavor over the years, and I feel confident that with a man such as you at the helm of The Freeman, these hopes will be fulfilled.

Again, my deepest appreciation goes to you for your help.

Sincerely yours,
ALEXANDER YOSMAN,
Urban Renewal Advisor

Threat of Firehoses Breaks Demonstration

SCHENECTADY, N.Y. (AP)—About 200 Union College students marched into downtown Schenectady early today and sat in a main street, blocking traffic.

The students scattered and returned to the campus when firemen arrived to aim hoses at the mob, police said.

Police arrested nine students and charged them with creating a disturbance.

The march apparently was spontaneous, authorities said, and without any apparent purpose.

Town of Esopus Poppy Sales Set

"Honor the War dead and aid war's living victims," is the appeal of the women of the American Legion Auxiliary here and throughout the nation as they distribute veteran-made replicas of the famous Poppy of Flanders Field and receive contributions for the Auxiliary sponsored rehabilitation and child welfare funds.

"We would like all residents of our town to wear poppies this year," said Mrs. Lester Sanford, poppy chairman of the Town of Esopus American Legion Auxiliary Unit 1298. "This custom began in 1919 during the home-coming celebrations for World War 1 combat divisions when poppies were worn in memory of those who did not come back," Mrs. Sanford said.

The poppies are made by disabled war veterans working in hospitals and convalescent workrooms. Thousands of veterans unable to do work have been given employment making them for the Legion Auxiliaries throughout the nation.

Poppies will be offered at business places, post offices and some shopping centers throughout the Town of Esopus and all contributions received will be used for the work of the Auxiliary.

C/P Guild Offers New Pamphlets for Expectant Mothers

As a community service, the C/P Guild for Handicapped Children has sent pamphlets on prenatal care to area physicians practicing obstetrics for distribution to their patients.

"Do's and Don'ts for the Most Important 9 Months in any Mother's Life" was written by United Cerebral Palsy Associations, Inc. and stresses certain phases of prenatal care that many expectant mothers thoughtlessly disregard.

Statistics show that every 53 minutes a child is born with cerebral palsy. Current research indicates that most cases of cerebral palsy occur before birth. Such brain injuries may be result from lack of oxygen from the mother to the unborn baby. Often caused by Rh blood type incompatibility and German measles during early pregnancy.

During her first three months of pregnancy an expectant mother should avoid contact with people having influenza, chickenpox and German measles. She should avoid exposure to known toxic substances such as lead (paints), chemicals (cleaning fluids) and unnecessary X-rays. She should avoid taking drugs not specifically perscribed by her doctor. Heavy smoking increases the likelihood of premature birth, often a cause of cerebral palsy.

The C/P Guild is associated with the CP Treatment Center (UCP of Ulster County, Inc.) 400 Broadway, Kingston. The CP Treatment Center, a non-profit organization, is the only qualified agency in the area maintaining a full time professional staff and facilities for the diagnosis and treatment of cerebral palsy and other handicapping involvements in children. Some of the physical disabilities treated are cerebral palsy, birth defects, muscular dystrophy, speech disorders, hearing impairment, and post-poliomyelitis.

The Center maintains a growing nursery school for handicapped children as well as separate departments in physical therapy, speech therapy and conservation of hearing. Lending of equipment (wheel chairs crutches, braces) is commonplace at the CP Treatment Center.

The CP Clinic serves both Ulster and Greene counties and as its services are becoming better known, and with referals from area physicians and school nurses the clinic's average caseload increases sharply from month to month with staff and Center working at capacity and with waiting lists at hand.

Vincent-Copp Nuptials Are Announced; Ceremony at Trinity Methodist Church

Miss Shirley Louise Vincent, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Kohl of 94 Furnace Street, this city, exchanged marriage vows with Leonard Albert Copp, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Egan of 52 German Street, also this city, on May 10 at 2 p. m. in the Trinity Methodist Church.

Officiating clergyman was the the Rev. Roy Hassel. Mrs. Raymond G. Ingersoll was the organist.

White gladioli decorated the altar for the occasion.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of Alencon lace fashioned with a portrait neckline and fitted bodice, long tapered sleeves, bouffant skirt of lace over bridal taffeta ending in a circular train. An imported stylized headpiece held her triple tiered silk illusion veil and she carried a bouquet of white roses and pompons.

Miss Joan Rappleyea of 116 S. Manor Avenue, this city, was the maid of honor. She wore a gown of larkspur blue organza over matching taffeta. It was a street length sheath with detachable floor length overskirt. Her headpiece of tulle petals and dewdrop pearls held a short circular veil. She carried pink mums with pompons.

Miss Marilyn Bowers of Kingston and Miss Joan Hung of Zena were the bridesmaids. They wore romance blue gowns and carried yellow mums with pompons.

Richard Fox of Hudson Street, this city, was best man, and the ushers were Horace H. Vincent of Port Ewen, brother of the bride, and George Albright of Kingston.

Approximately 75 guests were entertained at a reception given in Ang-Els.

The bride was graduated from Kingston High School and is employed by Montgomery Ward and Company. Her husband, an alumnus of KHS, served with the U. S. Army in Germany for three years and is now employed by Utility Platers.

Mr. and Mrs. Copp will be at home at 143 Main Street, Kingston.

Prospective Bride Of Donald J. Purdy

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald A. Krom of 172 Downs Street, this city, announce the engagement of their daughter Linda Gale, to Donald J. Purdy, son of Mrs. Elizabeth Purdy of 28 Stuyvesant Street, this city, and the late Lester Purdy.

Miss MacDonald attended New Paltz High School and Mr. Purdy is a graduate of Kingston High School. He also served with the U. S. Air Force and is now employed by Franklin Pharmacy.

A rainbow wedding is planned for May 31 at the Church of the Nazarene in New Paltz.

A bridal shower was given for the bride-elect recently by her sister Donna MacDonald at 172 Downs Street.

Among those attending were Mrs. Nina Krom, Mrs. Addie Keator, Mae Emma Raff, Maude Blakeslee, Bessie Walker, Kay Lee, Janice Schultz, Noreen Mower, Marie Doud, Mrs. Donna Healy, Miss Doris Walker, Lenore, Lee, Cindy and Lillian Raff, Diane Donahue, Sharon Naccarato, James Smith, Jerry Krom, Jack Boughton, Mark and David Gorsline.

A SENSITIVE FRIEND

Q: I belong to a bridge club and the meeting was at my house last night. Yesterday afternoon a friend called and said that she was coming over to see me that night. I told her that I was having the bridge club at my house and asked her to come another night. I understand she was taken offense at my not asking her to come. Will you please tell me if I was wrong?

A: You were not wrong at all and she has no cause to take offense at your asking her to come another night.

Remembering Her Doctor

Q: My doctor who has been treating me for the past five years for a chronic ailment, is now himself in the hospital for surgery. I would like to know if it would be proper to send him a basket of fruit while he is recuperating. I know him only professionally but I would like to send him something in appreciation for his many kindnesses to me. I might ad that he is married and I am not. Would this fact make any difference?

A: Even though he is married and you are not, there will be no impropriety in your sending him a basket of fruit with a message of good wishes for his speedy recovery.

Hasn't Met Cousin's Bride-to-be

Q: My cousin is going to be married soon. His bride-to-be is from another city and I have not as yet met her. I would like to know where to send the wedding present? Would it be proper, under the circumstances, to send it to the bridegroom?

A: Even though you have never met her, you should send your present to the bride-to-be. If necessary, ask you cousin for her address.

Early Summer Fruit Selection

After winter's rather limited fresh fruit supplies, early summer brings a wider selection. Prominent choices in markets include bananas, rhubarb, strawberries, and watermelon. All of these but bananas are very seasonal, says Louise M. Kakargo, assistant home demonstration agent.

Bananas come to market in fairly steady amount the year around, although slightly more arrive during spring and early summer than other times of the year. The constant rainfall and favorable growing temperatures of the tropics contribute to the even supply.

The major buy time for fresh rhubarb is May and June when nearly two-thirds of the year's supply arrives, mainly from nearby areas. Some hothouse rhubarb is available from January through April; the fruit is usually unavailable from September through December.

While shoppers will find some strawberries in markets the year around, more than half of the annual supply arrives in May and June.

Watermelon is available from May through August, but virtually off the market in late fall and winter. Florida supplies many of our watermelons; growing conditions there have been favorable this season. The season was somewhat late but is now well under way.

Pointers

Some Shopping and Handling Bananas: Look for firm bananas, completely enclosed in peel. Handle bananas carefully at home, since the interior of the fruit is delicate and may bruise if the peel is pressed.

Bananas are a year around economical fruit choice and have decreased in price over the past 15 years.

According to the most recent release on United States retail prices from the Bureau of Labor Statistics, bananas in January 1964 cost about 2 per cent less than they did during the base period years 1947-49, averaged.

Rhubarb: Marketing specialists say that there are three main clues to tender rhubarb. First, look for stalks with a pale red or green color. Intense color means the rhubarb is over developed and so tough and stringy. Also, choose thin stalks rather than thick ones and stalks with small leaves rather than large.

Strawberries: Dryness is a key to choosing quality strawberries; moist berries are past prime condition. At home, wash the berries if you plan to use them immediately. Otherwise, remove any film overwrap from the container, sort the berries, and refrigerate them dry.

Watermelon: Choosing watermelon has been eased by the trend toward marketing the melons as cut pieces. This makes possible the purchase of a smaller amount of melon than the whole, usually 20 to 30 pounds in size, and assists selection for quality.

When you buy watermelon by the piece, note the color of the cut surface. It should not be light in color, a sign of immaturity, nor should it contain white streaks. A melon with hollowed areas or cracks on the cut surface may be dry. Ideally, the seeds should be dark, almost black; white seeds are a sign of immaturity.

The less watermelons are handled between field and store the less likelihood of quality damage. Minimum handling has been the marketing trend in recent years. More and more watermelons coming from Florida are placed directly into trailers after harvest and the trailer in turn loaded on a flat rail cars. This eliminates extra loading of melons onto and off trucks.

Summer Classes Will Be Held in Kingston, Deadline Is June 1

The Kingston Board of Education has approved a program of summer instruction for elementary pupils during July and part of August 1964, depending upon the interest of parents and the number of boys and girls who may register for the program. The State Education Department has also given its approval of the program.

It is planned that elementary classes would meet at the George Washington School for 2½ hours daily (9-11:30 a. m.) beginning July 6 and ending August 7, 1964. The registration fee will be $3 per child (without refund) for any who may wish to take advantage of the program. The fee for children living outside of the Kingston Consolidated School District will be $20. Registration fee, if possible, should accompany application. Make checks payable to Kingston City Schools Consolidated.

Classes will be formed in groups of 20 per class for as many classes as there may be interest. These classes would be grouped by age and grade. The program would consist of instruction in reading, spelling, a library period, arithmetic and science. However, the 2½ hour instructional period can be made flexible depending upon the needs and interests of the students. Parents are assured that certified teachers will handle the instruction.

It will be the parents' responsibility to provide transportation where needed.

Registrations should be completed by Monday, June 1.

Nominated to the post by the duly elected delegates to the unofficial convention of the Ulster County Democratic Party, Mrs. Narel will speak about Primary Day, June 2.

This announcement was made today by Ethel M. Reilly, chairman of the event which is being sponsored by the Town of Esopus Democratic Club.

Public is invited.

Edward G. Williams Gets Faculty Citation

HANOVER, N. H.—Edward G. Williams, Dartmouth College senior from Rosendale, N. Y., has been awarded a faculty citation for distinguished work in a military science course during the winter term here.

Mr. Williams was cited by Maj. Elmer W. B. Hassett, assistant professor of military science, "for organizing the annual pre-camp training bivouac for juniors." A cadet lieutenant colonel in the Army ROTC Brigade, Mr. Williams, despite other commitments and a leg operation, "actively supervised all phases of the bivouac . . . the finest yet conducted."

According to Thaddeus Seymour, dean of the college, citations are given on the average to one student in 100 in any single course. They are made part of the student's permanent college record.

Mr. Williams, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter G. Williams of Williams Lake, has been active at Dartmouth with the varsity ski team and with Kappa Kappa Kappa fraternity. He is a 1960 graduate of Kingston High School.

Benton to Address Area Study Council

Charles Benton, president of Encyclopedia Britannica Films, Inc., of Wilmette, Ill., will speak May 28 at 7:30 at an audio-visual conference of the Mid-Hudson School study Council at State University College, New Paltz.

The meeting will be attended by some 200 persons—members of the Study Council—plus board of education members and school administrators from the area.

Benton, who assumed the presidency of EBF last February, is a leader in the audio-visual profession and an expert on the application of the new teaching media. He is a graduate of Yale University and has been a fifth grade teacher in Evanston, Ill.

South Has Only One Opportunity

Most South players in the Charity Challenge Cup competition will find themselves in four spade contracts. If West opens anything but the ace of diamonds he will have no way to make his contract. Even if he opens the ace of diamonds and continues the suit, he is unlikely to find the winning line of play.

Opening lead—♦ A

Boris Schapiro of England did in a match against France in the 1949 European championships.

The bidding went as in the box. West opened the ace of diamonds and continued the suit. Boris ruffed, led a spade to dummy's king and came back to his ace. Then he led a low heart. West's queen lost to dummy's ace and Boris was ready for the key play.

He remembered that West had opened the bidding with three hearts and that West was vulnerable. He was sure that West would not have made that bid with less than seven hearts, therefore, East had played his only heart. Also West had shown the ace of diamonds. If West also held the king of clubs, he would have opened with one heart, not three hearts. Boris was sure that East held the king and plenty of other clubs in back of dummy's queen.

Boris simply led dummy's queen of diamonds. East played the king and Boris discarded a club. East was in the lead with no place to go. A club lead would run around to dummy's queen, a diamond would allow a ruff in dummy and a discard of a club. Either way Boris was going to make his contract.

Victims Were Soldiers

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Four persons killed in an outbreak of shooting Monday night in Kashmir were Pakistani soldiers trying to gain a position within Indian army lines, an Indian Defense Ministry spokesman said today.

Power Squadron Will Go to Fair Saturday

Commander George Stanley of the Mid-Hudson Power Squadron has announced plans of the local Squadron to participate in the United States Power Squadrons Day at the World's Fair, Saturday, May 23.

The trip to the fair will include a General Electric, "Welcome United States Power Squadrons" in lights and a private showing of Disney's "General Electric Extravaganza."

At 10:30 a. m. the 50th anniversary flag raising ceremonies of the USPS will be held at the Transportation and Travel Pavilion on Avenue, of United Nations, south. There also will be an inspection of the USPS Exhibit.

Later in the evening at 11 the General Motors Corp. will give a private showing of the G. E. Futurama for USPS members.

The U. S. government neither purchases, nor sells rare coins.

Let Baby Animals Be

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The State Conservation Department has warned hikers and sightseers against "animal napping."

The department noted Tuesday that the number of baby wild animals taken from their homes in the fields and woods usually increases about this time each year.

Aside from being dangerous, it is a misdemeanor to capture and harbor wild animals, the department said.

Dear Abby . . .

You Did, Lady!

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Could you please tell me if I did wrong? My son had a serious back operation last March. When he started to feel a little better, I brought a large stuffed rabbit (about 22 inches tall) to the hospital thinking it would cheer him up as it was during the Easter season. The rabbit did not look childish in my opinion. My son is 44 years old. He was embarrassed and insisted I take the rabbit home. Do you think this was a babyish gift or not?

LE MARS

DEAR LE MARS: Stuffed animals are usually for young children. (Most 44-year-old men prefer live bunnies.) A postoperative patient is in no mood to split his stitches over an Easter rabbit, so don't hold your son's lack of enthusiasm against him.

• • • •

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a mother who would put a diaper on a nine-year-old boy and make him parade around the school yard for punishment for wetting his bed? This lady must be cracked.

LIVES ACROSS THE STREET

DEAR LIVES: This woman is more than "cracked." She is cruel and ignorant. Bed-wetting is a symptom of an emotional problem, and to humiliate a child for wetting the bed will cure nothing and only compound the problem. I urge you to call on this neighbor (even if you know her slightly) and try to convince her to take her boy to a doctor and to heed his advice.

• • • •

DEAR ABBY: I laughed when I read the letter from the woman whose child didn't look anything like her or her husband, which was a constant source of embarrassment to her. I went through the same thing many years ago. My hair was mousy brown and as straight as a poker. My husband's was dark brown — what there was of it. Our son had a head full of reddish-gold curls. My oil man, who showed up every now and then, had hair exactly the same color as my son's, and he looked more like the boy's father than my own husband. Some stories got back to me that were positively outrageous. I finally had to change oil companies to shut up the neighbors.

COURT STREET, S. C., IOWA

• • • •

DEAR ABBY: Is there anything wrong with my girl friend and me meeting two very nice clean boys from school in the movies? All we do is meet them inside and sit with them. We don't hold hands or anything like that. We are 14 and so are the boys.

IMPORTANT QUESTION

DEAR IMPORTANT: There is absolutely nothing wrong with it, IF you first get yo r mothers' approval.

• • • •

Get it off your chest. For a personal, unpublished reply, write to ABBY, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif., 90212. Enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Draft Report Due Today on Baker

WASHINGTON (AP) — Storm clouds appeared to be closing in today on the proposed report on the Senate's Bobby Baker investigation.

The Rules Committee, which conducted the probe into the affairs of the former secretary to the Senate's Democratic majority, called a meeting to discuss the draft report, but apparently only Democrats were to be on hand.

Republican members sent word they probably wouldn't make it because they have to attend a Republican senatorial conference on proposed amendments to the civil rights bill.

Sen. John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., one of the committee's three GOP members, said he was sure the Republicans will draft a minority report protesting any conclusion that an exhaustive investigation has been carried out.

Balked in their efforts to have White House aide Walter Jenkins and others called as witnesses at the hearings, Republicans have cried "whitewash."

Order Inspection Of Mail Boxes On Rural Routes

Rural, Star and mounted route postal patrons were requested this week to inspect their mail boxes to determine if they meet all postal regulations.

Postmaster Oscar V. Newkirk listed the following requirements:

Rural routes — Boxes and supports should be kept painted and free from rust. The name of the owner should be shown on the side of the box visible to the carrier as he approaches, or on the door where boxes are grouped. The assigned box number may be shown. Patrons should group boxes wherever this is practicable, particularly where adequate turnouts can be provided. Boxes must be accessible to the RFD carrier in order that they can deliver mail without getting out of vehicle.

City mounted routes — On mounted routes with curbline delivery, the box may be the rural type, either the traditional or contemporary design. Any other model used must protect mail from the weather. Where boxes are not located directly in front of the owner's residence, the patron's name and address must be shown on the box.

Rural and Star Routes — Mailboxes on both rural and star routes must be located on the right-hand side of the road in the direction of travel of the carrier wherever it would be dangerous to serve the boxes on the left, or where this would be a violation of state or local traffic laws or regulations.

Postal patrons who keep their mail boxes painted, name on side of box, and roadway to box in good condition, help to make delivery of mail more efficient.

The postal patrons cooperation in Mail Improvement Week will be appreciated by the Post Office Department.

Glancing Over TV Bill of Fare

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Reruns have pretty well taken over the nation's television screens and the 1963-64 season has just about run its course.

The season will be well remembered for the coverage of the terrible events that started when shots rang out in Dallas on Nov. 22.

But it may be a memorable year in TV history for another reason: Negro performers began to turn up frequently in leading, supporting and extra roles in television dramas, and the sponsors began using Negroes in their commercials.

"East Side, West Side," which was canceled after a season, had a young Negro actress as a prominent regular in the cast. One of the teachers in "Mr. Novak's" high school was a Negro and the series was renewed for another season.

Reginald Rose, creator and in charge of scripts for "The Defenders," which has always used Negro performers as principal characters — judges, district attorneys, policemen and defendants—said recently that although the situation had indeed improved enormously in this area, there was still a way to go.

He still did not feel free, he said, "to cast a Negro in a villainous role," and suggested that the Negro's position would be really secure when such a casting job would not draw complaints from the sensitive.

It seems that New York has not lost, after all, the production of two of its five dramatic shows. The series moved to the West Coast after a local union strike shut down production.

Plautus Productions President Herbert Brodkin said on Monday that "The Defenders" and "The Nurses" would be produced in Hollywood "indefinitely." Tuesday, however, a vice president said both shows would return to New York after shooting one episode each in Hollywood.

Hair's Strength

Know why the cave man used his love's hair as a handle to pull her by? He wanted her to go with him, yes. But hair is one of the strongest animal fibers. A woman's head of hair can support the equivalent of five tons of weight without pulling from the roots. So, one way to take a lady from one place to another, drag her by the hair—but at your own risk.

Wallkill, Onteora Favored in UCAL Meet

Wallkill and Onteora, two of the top small school powers in the area, will be the teams to beat Saturday as schools in the Ulster County Athletic League conduct their annual track meet at New Paltz Central. Field events will get underway at 12:30 and running events at 1 o'clock.

Several records are expected to be broken in this annual event. Tom Apuzzo of Wallkill has a 9.8 clocking in the 100 yard dash and the record is 10.3, set by Eddie Kreuscher of New Paltz in 1962.

Jim Dolan, the ace distance runner from Wallkill, is expected to compete in the two mile event. He was timed in 9:45 last week, well below the mark of 10:22, set last year by Barry Hopkins of Onteora. Dolan, the recent mile winner at the New Paltz Relays, has a 4:24 to his credit in that race.

Eric Stoutenburgh of Onteora is favored to capture both the 220 and the 180 yard low hurdles. He holds the record in the hurdles with a fast time of 21.1 seconds but has already bettered that mark this year. Chief competition in the 220 should come from Apuzzo and Jim Freer of New Paltz.

Another record likely to be broken will be in the high jump. John Mars of New Paltz won with a 5-8 jump in 1962. Harold Kearns of Wallkill has a 6-3 jump and Art Hawkins of Onteora is credited with a 5-10 jump.

The oldest record is in the 880 yard relay where the mark of 1:38.5, set by Highland in 1958. Pine Bush and Rondout Valley figure to threaten that record.

This promises to be one of the best meets the league has held. If the weatherman cooperates with a good day, a good attendance is expected.

Twins Are High On Tony Oliva

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — He's played fewer than 50 major league games. His conversation consists of a few English monosyllables, a smile and a nod of the head.

It is doubtful if he knows a single American League pitcher by name. It wouldn't matter if he did. He calls Vic Power, his roommate "Big Powder." For that matter, his own name is Pedro but he goes under the name of his brother Tony.

But there is hardly anybody in baseball who hasn't heard of young Oliva, the newest batting sensation of the Minnesota Twins, who has been flirting with the .400 mark all season.

"I knew he was a good hitter," said Sam Mele, the Twins' manager, "but I had no idea he had that much power. He hits all kinds of pitches and he hits to all fields. Although he's a left - handed hitter, he's already hit two home runs to left field."

"He could be another Mickey Mantle," said Calvin Griffith, the Twins' president, "and there's no question in my mind that Mantle is the best in the league. The kid can do it all . . . he can hit, field, run and throw. And he's got a physique that an artist would love to paint."

The 22-year-old rookie is a 6-foot-2, 180-pounder.

Oliva went 1-for-5 Tuesday night and his batting average dropped to .391 as the Twins beat the Yankees 7-2 in 13 innings.

"He's very popular with the guys," said Mele. "After leaving the ball park, everybody waits to make sure he gets on the bus before taking off. They don't want to leave him behind."

"He's so wonderfully naive, you got to love him," said Power. "We're playing in Chicago. Tony comes to me and points to Floyd Robinson, the White Sox outfielder, whose name was on the back of his uniform.

" 'Say, Big," he said to me in Spanish, 'is he the first Negro to play in the major leagues?'

"Can you imagine that? He thought that was Jackie Robinson."

BATTING — Norm Siebern, Orioles, went 3-for-4 in 3-2 victory over Kansas City, singling home the first run against his former teammates, scoring the second and providing the clincher with a homer in the 10th inning.

PITCHING — Jack Sanford, Giants, checked Philadelphia on four hits in 3-0 victory that lifted San Francisco into first place in the National League ahead of the Phillies.

Hits Winning HR in 10th Frame: Yanks Bow in 13th

Charley Finley, who is busy suing Kansas City these days, ought to start his legal beagles working on an indictment against an ex-employe on hit-and-run charges.

Finley may not have had time to notice but his ballclub ran into an old friend in Baltimore Tuesday night and the collision was devastating — for the A's.

Norm Siebern, who used to do his stuff in Finley Gold and Green, saw his ex-mates for the first time and he gave them plenty to tell the old boss about.

The rangy first baseman stroked three hits, the last one a game-winning homer in the 10th inning, as the Orioles nipped the Athletics 3-2. His first-inning single drove in another run and he scored the Orioles' other marker on Boog Powell's double after walking in the eighth.

The three hits ran Siebern's average to .336, Jin Gentile, the man Finley got for Siebern, went 1-for-4 for Kansas City dropping his average to .267.

Elsewhere in the American League, Boston pushed across four runs in a weird ninth inning to nip Los Angeles 4-3, Chicago outlasted Cleveland 6-5, Detroit topped Washington 5-2 and Minnesota went 13 innings before whipping the Yankees 7-2.

Against Wyatt

Siebern connected against John Wyatt leading off the 10th to win it for Dick Hall, Baltimore's third pitcher. Oriole starter Robin Roberts carried a 2-1 lead into the ninth but Manny Jimenez doubled and Charley Lau singled to tie it before Stu Miller came on and halted the rally.

Athletic starter Moe Drabowsky struck out 10 before leaving for a pinch hitter in the ninth.

Bo Belinsky was breezing with a three-hitter for the Angels when the Red Sox staged a Hollywood ending to pull their victory out.

Leading 3-0 with two out and none on in the bottom of the ninth, Belinsky seemed home free. But he walked Dick Stuart and after Tony Conigliaro doubled, Manager Bill Rigney brought in Barry Latman.

Latman walked Bob Tillman and then forced in a run by hitting Roman Mejias. In came Don Lee and pinch hitter Dalton Jones rocked his 3-2 pitch for a base-clearing double to win it.

Don Mossi fanned pinch hitter Johnny Romano to end a Cleveland rally in the ninth inning and preserve the White Sox victory. The Indians came up with two runs on only one hit in the ninth, knocking out Sox starter Gary Peters and reliever Hoyt Wilhelm before Mossi ended it.

Detroit stretched its winning streak to four straight as Dave Wickersham became the first Tiger pitcher to win five games. Norm Cash and Bill Bruton homered against Washington loser Buster Narum. Don Zimmer homered for the Senators.

Minnesota and New York struggled through 12 innings tied at 2-2 before the Twins broke it open in the 13th. An RBI double by Rich Rollins, who had homered earlier, and Bob Allison's sacrifice fly pushed two runs across before Jimmie Hall wrapped it up with a three-run shot into the right field seats.

Jim Roland, who worked the first 12 innings—the most any pitcher has gone this season—won it and Hal Reniff, who had a string of 18 1-3 scoreless innings snapped by the Twin rally, lost it.

Pace A Breeze Wins Feature at Yonkers

Pace A Breeze whipped to victory over Adios Ronnie in the $7,000 Elmsford Pace before 22,430 Tuesday night at Yonkers Raceway.

George Sholty piloted the 5-year-old son of Meadow Pace through the mile in 2:04 3-5 for payoffs of $6.60, $4.20 and $4.10.

Irish Annie was third.

At Buffalo Raceway, Grace Frost came from behind to win the featured $2,000 trot by a neck over Mr. Allerton.

Grace Frost, driven by Vince Aquino, did the mile in 2:05 4-5 for returns of $4.80, $2.90 and $2.50.

Marimba Hanover was third.

Hurls 3-0 Job Over Phillies; Mets Lose, 6-4

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

The San Francisco Giants are wild about Jack Sanford today, but for being wild there's nothing in National League history that tops Ernie Broglio's performance.

Sanford, purposely held out of Monday's game against New York so he could open the key series against league - leading Philadelphia, responded with a four-hit, 3-0 victory over the Phillies Tuesday night that moved the Giants into the top spot by one game.

But if the Giants were cheering Sanford, the Chicago Cubs probably had to muffle their laughter over the plight of Broglio, the St. Louis right-hander who matched a league record by uncorking three wild pitches in one inning.

Andre Rodgers started the wild seventh inning for the Cubs with a walk and proceeded to steal second. He didn't have to steal third. Broglio wild pitched him there. After Dick Bertell walked, Broglio fired another one past Cardinal catcher Bob Uecker, who was beginning to get more exercise than a relay team.

The 3rd Wild Pitch

Bertell reached second while Rodgers held third on the heave. Cub pitcher Dick Ellsworth then attempted a squeeze bunt with the count two strikes, but missed. Uecker, however, immediately pivoted and headed to the backstop for wild pitch No. 3 as Rodgers scored and Ellisworth reached first.

That was all for Broglio. The Cubs weren't through, however, and went on to score three runs in the inning—on only one hit—building a 4-0 lead that led to a 7-4 victory. The loss left St. Louis in third place, two games back.

Elsewhere, Dick Tracewski played the key role as the Los Angeles Dodgers defeated the New York Mets 6-4, Warren Spahn won his 353rd game in Milwaukee's 4-2 triumph over Cincinnati and Houston downed Pittsburgh 3-1.

Sanford, now 4-3, was locked in a scoreless duel with Dennis Bennett until the seventh when Jim Hart collected his third hit, moved to second on a sacrifice and scored on Del Crandall's single. Sanford drove Crandall in with the second run of the inning, stroking a single that was bobbled by Wes Covington.

Hart went 4-for-4 on the night, driving in the final run in the eighth after Willie Mays walked. Mays walked three times and was 0-for-1 officially as his average dipped to .404.

Besides the help from Broglio in the seventh, the Cubs got some help in the eighth, scoring what turned out to be the decisive run when Ron Santo reached base on Dick Groat's error and eventually scored on Dick Bertell's single. Ken Boyer drove in four runs for the Cardinals, two with a homer. Billy Williams and Santo homered in support of Ellsworth, 3-4.

Tracewski singled in two runs with the bases loaded in the third for the Dodgers, then doubled and scored in the sixth. Tracewski's key single provided Phil Ortega with a 5-1 lead and he held on as the Mets rallied in the late innings. The Dodgers had scored twice in the first without a hit, using a walk, a hit batter, an infield out and a passed ball.

Spahn and Sam Ellis of the Reds were locked in a 1-1 tie until the eighth inning when Milwaukee pulled out front on homers by Lee Maye and Joe Torre. Rico Carty homered in the ninth for the Braves while Gordy Coleman connected for the Reds. Spahn allowed just six hits in bringing his record to 3-3. Ellis is 2-1.

The Colts had not scored in 25 innings when Al Spangler finally broke the drought with a two-run single in the fifth inning. Walt Bond's homer in the sixth inning accounted for the other run. Bob Bruce won it for a 5-1 record but needed Hal Woodeshick's relief help in the seventh when the Pirates scored their only run.

Five Inning Game

Wallkill No-Hits Onteora Club, 1-0

The rains held up just long enough to thwart the Onteora Central baseball team yesterday at Wallkill as the Indians were no-hitted and dropped a 1-0 decision to the home side.

Lefty Art Serikstad did the job for Wallkill. He had some difficulty in the sixth as the visitors had a runner on second with only one out. However, the skies opened and the Indians didn't get a chance to try and knot the score.

John Mower went four good innings for Onteora. Linden Frasier came on in the fifth and with one out Bob Hayson greeted him with a single. Then an error and an overthrow on an attempted pickoff at first base gave the winners the game's only run.

Serikstad walked two and fanned eight. The runner on base in the sixth was there by virtue of a walk. Mower fanned one and Frasier a pair and the Onteora hurlers exhibited flawless control.

Onteora will host league leading Marlboro Thursday at the Boiceville diamond.

Four Share Honors In Pro-Am Tourney

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — Terry Dill, Fred Hawkins, Kel Nagle and Ray Floyd tied with one-under-par 70s for low-pro honors in a $10,000 Pro-Am Golf Tournament Tuesday.

Buster Cupit's team won the Pro-Am competition, shooting a 16-under-par 55 to earn Cupit the $800 top Pro-Am money.

The four low - scoring pros each received $700. Floyd received another $600 for the showing of his team which tied for second at 57 with Gordon Jones' team.

Rocca in Hudson Friday Night

Antonino Rocca, one of the biggest names in the professional wrestling world, will meet Ivan Melkenoff (The Mad Russian) in a fight to the finish feature event at an all-star wrestling show Friday at St. Mary's Academy in Hudson.

In a popular tag team match, Alexander the Great and Mr. Puerto Rico will oppose Masa Eddie Deane in a best-of-three fall bout.

A 30 minute preliminary exhibition will match Coley Wallace, a former heavyweight contender against El Toro.

Other matches will be featured. Tickets may be purchased at the door.

2 Heavyweights In Olympic Bout

NEW YORK (AP) — Buster Mathis, an agile, springy mountain of a man at 295 pounds, and Joe Frazier, the slaughter house smasher who weighs 100 pounds less, meet tonight in the climax bout of the Olympic Boxing Trials finals at the World's Fair.

Frazier, a fast, dynamic puncher who has knocked out his last six foes, is the favorite of most of the experts who saw the exciting semifinals in the 18,000-seat Singer Bowl Tuesday night.

The 20-year-old, 195 - pound Philadelphian, stopped Clay Hodges, a 6-foot-4, 201-pounder from Torrance, Calif., in 2:46 of the second round. A fast left-right combination to the jaw dropped the 22-year-old Californian for seven and the referee stopped it seconds later.

Mathis, a 19-year-old, 6-3 AAU champion from Grand Rapids, Mich., gained a split decision over left-handed Tyrone (The Brute) Hollins, a 6-1, 196-pound Army champion from Coffeyville, Kan.

Although Buster admitted he had trouble with the southpaw style, he seemed to have deserved a unanimous verdict on the strength of his big second round alone. He shook up the soldier several times with his quick combinations and clubbing rights to the head.

Greenwich Pair Win in Doubles

Gordon Petteys and Clyde Greene of Greenwich won the gross championship of the 3rd annual Mr. Ho-Bo Doubles tourney with 1552-280-1832.

Tops in the net division was the duo of Tony Potenza of Highland and Ralph DeStephano of Poughkeepsie with 1699. Potenza socked 822 and DeStefano 877.

Vince LaRocca and Lou Guido of Kingston were second in the handicap division with 1804. Third went to Al Conrad and Howie Snyder of Poughkeepsie with 1792.

Jake Charter and Potenza were second in the net division with 1692. Phil Versace and Sam Taylor were third with 1677, despite a record breaking 945 series by Versace. He averaged 236 for the four games.

Robinson Wins

PORTLAND, Maine (AP)—Sugar Ray Robinson, the former world middleweight champion won an unanimous 10-round decision Tuesday night over Gaylord Barnes of Trenton, N.J.

Robinson, at 44, showed little of his old time prowess. He weighed 162 and Barnes 157.

The Philadelphia Phillies shudder every time they realize they exposed two of their hottest young stars to the expansion draft three years ago. And both were passed by the New York Mets and Houston Colts. Richie Allen, almost a cinch to be major league Rookie of the Year, was faulted for his fielding. Pitcher Ray Culp, who won 14 in his debut last year, was supposed to be a sore arm risk. Says general manager John Quinn, "It makes me nervous to think about it." . .

The Milwaukee Braves finally unloaded shortstop Roy McMillan on the Mets and got practically nothing (since they immediately sent acquired pitcher Jay Hook to Denver). Yet earlier this spring they could have made a deal with Houston for no-hit pitcher Ken Johnson, and nixed it.

Richie Allen

What does a player think about when he learns he has been traded? The only thing that concerned Hook was his trade status. Though he was less than a month away from being a five-year player and qualifying for the pension, he was more worried about whether he was being optioned or sent outright to Denver. As an optionee (which he was), he'd get $600 in expense money that he couldn't collect otherwise.

The many trades in pro football have left the veterans a little shell-shocked. . . . "Everybody's kind of got his collar buttoned up," reports Bart Starr from Green Bay. . . . Since quarterback is such a sensitive spot, why should he be worried? "It takes five years to make a quarterback," Bart contends, "but only five minutes to trade him." . . .

Les Richter, the colorful former linebacker of the Los Angeles Rams, joins the long list who have switched to the closer confines of a telecast booth. He'll do color for the Dallas Cowboys. . . . Meanwhile, Eddie LeBaron, former Cowboy quarterback, has severed all Texas ties (he worked in the law office of part-owner Bedford Wynne) and returned west—as a cement company executive in Nevada. The little man quit a little bitter because he felt he could have played more. . . .

Arnold Palmer gets thousands of letters annually from his "army." . . . "And," says the general, "I answer every one of them." . . . Yankee pitcher Ralph Terry, a golf bug, is investing in a new golf course project planned for Morris County in New Jersey. . . .

Most surprised guy in the world at the pro basketball draft was Red Auerbach of the Boston Celtics, who found that Mel Counts, the seven-footer from Oregon State, was still available when it came his turn to pick. . . . "He can shoot like hell for a boy that tall," said Red. "He can run, too; he jumps high enough. He's as good as any of the first-round choices." . . . And if anybody thinks the Celtics dynasty is in danger, Red warns, "This is one of the best drafts I've ever had. I usually can't get guys like Counts, Ron Bonham (Cincinnati) and John Thompson (Providence)."

You have to rate Detroit as one of the best incubators for baseball talent in the country. One sandlot team's roster a few years ago listed pitcher Milt Pappas of Baltimore, outfielder Al Luplow (Cleveland), shortstop Al Moran of the Mets, with Bill Roman (a .300 hitter at Syracuse) on first and opposing them in the same league were Bill Freehan and Willie Horton of the Tigers, plus Dave DeBusschere (White Sox pitcher) . . .

Between you'n'me, baseball's hopes for a Monday night national television package might not be the bonanza they envision. At least one major network has already turned it down. And it won't come close to matching football's $14.2 million deal annually. . . .

Toronto Retains Two Game Margin

A two-run homer with two out in the 10th inning by Rochester's Curt Blefary halted the Buffalo stampede and kept Toronto's International League lead at 2½ games.

Rochester came from behind with two-run rallies in both the ninth and 10th innings Tuesday night to beat Buffalo 4-2 and halt the second-place Bisons' winning streak at five. In other games, Syracuse cut down Toronto 7-1, Richmond shut out Columbus 6-0 and Jacksonville blanked Atlanta 4-0.

Buffalo right-hander Darrell Sutherland checked Rochester on three hits for eight innings, but two triples and a single tied the score in the ninth. Al Pehanick came on in relief for the Herd and got the side out, but Blefary tagged him for the homer after Dave Johnson singled with two out in the 10th.

Syracuse's new outfielder Willie Horton had an impressive debut, going 3-for-4 and blasting a bases-loaded triple in the Chiefs' five-run rally in the seventh inning. Bruce Brubaker picked up his first victory for the Chiefs, although he needed help from Fred Gladding when Toronto scored its only run in the eighth.

Richmond's Jack Cullen had trouble the first five innings, but blanked Columbus on one hit in the last four for the first shutout by a Virginian pitcher this year.

Emerson Seeking French Net Title

PARIS (AP) — Roy Emerson of Australia opens defense of his men's singles title in the French Tennis Championships today. At the same time he'll be trying to forge the second link in the chain of the Big Four titles.

Only Don Budge of the United States in 1938 and Rod Laver of Australia in 1962 have been able to win the Australian, French, Wimbledon and Forest Hills championships in the same year.

Emerson started off last year with the Australian and French crowns, but he didn't get to the finals at Wimbledon or Forest Hills.

West Point Athletic Teams Face Rugged Foes This Week

WEST POINT—Tigers, Lions and Pirates will be after Army Athletic teams this Saturday, hoping to pull some spring sports upsets a week before the Cadets face Navy in the 1964 season finale.

The Tigers from Princeton will be at West Point for baseball, while they will protect their den from an Army lacrosse and tennis invasion. The Lions from Penn State, the Nittaney-type that is, will come to the Military Academy for a track meet. The Pirates of Seton Hall sail up the Hudson for a golf match on the Academy links. Thumbnailing this next-to-last weekend of spring activity, it looks like this:

Baseball: A victory over Princeton in an Eastern League clash Saturday at 2:30 p. m. at Doubleday Field will give the Cadets sole possession of second place in the final standings. That's much better than they did in 1963 when they won but three league games and ended in 8th place. Army has a 5-2 record at present and has league games with the Tigers and Navy remaining on the schedule. Harvard has already clinched the crown, going through all nine games without a loss.

Track: Penn State's Nittany Lions close out Army's home schedule with a 2 p. m. meeting Saturday at Shea Stadium (West Point). Army trailed Harvard in the Heptagonal meet last week at Yale, but found itself only a half point better than Navy. Captain Bill Straub, the backbone of Army track both indoors and out, won the Heps mile and two-mile and probably will have to repeat to beat the Lions. Army's top hurdler, Kent Allen, has been sidelined for a couple of weeks and his loss has been felt. The Cadets have won three of four dual meets this spring.

Golf: Already holding an Academy mark for the most wins in a season (10), Army's undefeated golf team will close out its home program against Seton Hall Saturday at 1 p. m. Steve Pembrook, captain of the team and number one all season, played against Cornell and Syracuse last week with his back in a brace. But he came through with victories over both opponents. Aggravation of a high school football injury to his back have bothered the Cadet leader the past two weeks.

Lacrosse: Navy has already completed its pre-Army schedule with eight wins in a row . . . Army can match it with a win Saturday at Princeton. There is no doubt that the Army-Navy game on May 30th at West Point's Michie Stadium will be the big one for intercollegiate lacrosse. Navy has scored at least 11 and as many as 20 in each tilt, while the best their opponents could do was 7. The Maryland game was the closest, that ending 11-7 for the Middies.

Army got 14 against both Maryland and Syracuse, but only 8 in the victory over Hofstra. As far as scoring by opponents, Johns Hopkins bumped 10 past the Cadet goalie.

Tennis: Probably the toughest match of the year faces the Army net team Saturday at Princeton. The Tigers were the only team to beat Miami this year, and they have been eating up the eastern net circuit all spring. Except for an opening loss to Harvard, Army's team has won all of its matches and will take a 12-game victory record into the Tiger lair.

Many Ex-Stars At Owens' Rites

ONEIDA, N.Y. (AP)—Members of the football dynasty he helped create gathered for the funeral today of Stout Steve Owen, beloved long-time coach of the New York Giants.

The 66-year-old Owen, who led the Giants to nine Eastern Division titles and three league championships as player and coach, died Sunday in Oneida City Hospital after a cerebral hemorrhage.

The funeral service was to be held at St. Patrick's Roman Catholic Church and burial was to be in St. Patrick's Cemetery here.

Owen had lived here for the last 13 years.

Giant President Jack Mara, Coach Allie Sherman, and Jim Lee Howell, a former coach who played under Owen, were the official representatives of the Giants.

The list of pallbearers included former Giant stars Ken Strong, Leland Schaffer, Al Owen and Ed Danowski. Strong and Danowski were all-league backs in the 1930s.

Miller Hurls Jaycee 1-Hitter

Steve Miller fired a one-hitter as the Jays shutout the Hawks, 6-0, in a Jaycee Little League game.

A single by Ted Blanchshan was the only hit off Miller's slants. He walked one and fanned nine.

The winners had seven safeties with Doug Clancy, Tom Ingara and Dave McGrath stroking doubles.

Esopus Giants Top Braves, 8-6

Scoring seven runs in the first two innings, the Giants scored an 8-6 Town of Esopus Legion Little League win over the Braves.

John Fitzgerald had a double and two singles to pace the winners. The hitting star for the Braves was Vince Provenzano with a single, double and home run in as many trips. He scored three runs, as did John Fassbender of the Giants.

Brad Fiel, Pete Ahearn and Fassbender also stroked doubles during the free-hitting affair.

Ahearn was the winning chucker with Ron White being charged with the setback.

Palmer Nearing Top Shape For National Open Tourney

DALLAS (AP) — Arnold Palmer says "I find myself thinking of the Open more this year than ever before."

This means he was slowly and methodically getting himself ready for the second leg on his projected golfing Grand Slam—the Masters, National Open, British Open and U.S. PGA.

He already has won the Masters. The Open, at Bethesda, Md., is a month away.

Palmer was here Tuesday to play in an exhibition with Byron Nelson, Tony Lema and Bob Charles. He shot a one-under-par 70, a score matched by Charles over the 6,600-yard Brook Hollow Golf Club course.

"Last year I felt I got ready too early, so this time I'm taking it easy and making sure particularly that I'm physically ready," said Palmer. He added that he had done the same thing before the Masters.

Palmer has played in 11 tournaments, won two and finished in the first five places six times. He has taken down $41,673, which puts him only $2,625 behind the year's leader, Jack Nicklaus.

Arnie said that "from tee to green I've been playing very well. I haven't been putting too well, but I putted much better at Oklahoma City."

He won the Oklahoma City Open Monday with one of the come-from-behind finishes for which he is noted.

"I think I'll be at my peak by the time the Open comes around," said Palmer.

With a heavy schedule of tournaments and exhibitions, Palmer appeared a little tired. But he insisted that he felt fine, was in good spirits and demonstrated his golf talents for a crowd of 2,200 that paid about $4,000 to the Crippled Children's Society of Dallas.

EMPLOYMENT

NOTICE TO JOB APPLICANTS

The Kingston Daily Freeman does not knowingly accept Help-Wanted advertisements from employers covered by the Federal Wage-Hour Law if they offer less than legal minimum wages. Most employes engaged in interstate or foreign commerce or in the production of goods for such commerce must be paid not less than $1.25 an hour and at least one and one-half times their regular rate of pay for hours worked after a maximum workweek of 40 hours, unless specifically exempt. Also, most employes in certain large retail, service, construction and other enterprises engaged in or producing goods for commerce, who have been entitled to a minimum wage of at least $1.00 an hour since September 3, 1961, must be paid overtime pay of not less than one and one-half times their regular rates for all hours worked after a maximum workweek of 44 hours, unless specifically exempt. If you are offered less by covered employers, or if you have questions concerning the Fair Labor Standards Act or other activities of the U. S. Department of Labor, call or write the Department's local office at 881 Gerard Ave., Bronx, N. Y. 10452. WYandotte 2-1235.

Nurse Institute Hears Facts on Stroke Problem

The last session of the Heart Institute for Nurses on Strike Back at Stroke was held Monday at the Brigham School. The subject of Psychosocial Aspects was presented by Frederick A. Whitehouse, Ed.D., director of Rehabilitation of the American Heart Association.

In pointing out the magnitude of the stroke problem he said that cancer is a known and dreaded disease and some people mistakenly believe it equal or greater to cardiovascular disease as a killer. Yet, even informed people seldom realize that in considering all age groups, strokes alone cause almost three-quarters as many deaths as cancer, he said.

"At this moment in time we seem to have arrived at the merging of two main streams of knowledge about strokes," Dr. Whitehouse said. "Up to fairly recently it has seemed that the main stimulation and progress for such patients have come in the rehabilitation field which has in the past 20 years slowly built up a highly competent knowledge of how to deal with stroke patients chiefly after primary medical and nursing treatment was completed. Sometimes the patient was left too long without rehabilitation and it was too late to really help since months or even years had passed."

"The other stream fed by early detection, early treatment, new drugs, new surgical techniques and other advances has come along and we are better able than ever before to combine both these branches for the treatment and rehabilitation of the stroke patient."

"Nurses, social workers, rehabilitation personnel and others ought to be made aware of the early signs of stroke and the detection of little strokes so that in their contacts with such individuals, referral can be made for medical examination to delay, or if possible, avoid a full stroke."

Sister Mary Charles, co-administrator of Benedictine Hospital and co-chairman of the Heart Institute Planning Committee, presided.

Miss Katherine A. Bower, executive director of the Ulster County Heart Association, in thanking the members of the planning committee, pointed out that this institute would not have been possible without their outstanding cooperation and support, and that it was one of many programs sponsored by the Ulster and Greene County Heart Associations.

Anyone wishing information about Heart Disease may contact the Ulster County Heart Association, 268 Fair Street, or the Greene County Heart Chapter, 302 Main Street, Catskill.

Commandery Is To See Films Of Africa Safari

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard M. Clarke, operators of a fruit farm in Milton, who have recently returned from a three-week safari in Africa, will give an illustrated talk on their trip at Ladies Night of Rondout Commandery 52, Knights Templar, Wednesday, May 27, in the Masonic Temple, 31 Albany Avenue, at 8 p. m.

Not only are the Clarkes expert marksmen with a gun as proven by the 30 specimens of wild life they bagged, but also are experts with the camera and were able to capture on film some of their most thrilling experiences, especially with the African lions.

The safari party included a white guide, a dozen natives consisting of trackers, cook, motorboy, and servants to take care of the camp and equipment.

Rondout Commandery will hold a brief meeting at 7:30 in order that the program of entertainment may start promptly at 8 p. m. All Sir Knights and their ladies are urged to attend and all friends of the Commandery will be welcomed. Refreshments will be served in the dining room following the program and a social hour enjoyed.

Robbed of $132,000

MONTREAL (AP)—A woman employe of a car dealer was robbed of $132,000 in cash and checks Tuesday as she was taking the money to a bank in a northeast Montreal suburb.

Mrs. A. Verdon was ordered out of her car after two unarmed men in another car had forced it over to the side of the street.

The bandits grabbed the bag containing $12,000 in cash and $120,000 in checks and fled in Mrs. Verdon's car, abandoning it two blocks away.

Thumbnail Sketches Of Pageant Workers

This is the eighth of a series of brief releases about members of the board of directors of Pageant, Inc., sponsor of the Miss New York State Pageant held here. The 1964 pageant will take place in Kingston High School Auditorium July 9, 10 and 11.

Frank H. Reis of 78 Plymouth Avenue, is serving as director of production for the 1964 Miss New York State Pageant. His responsibilities include all phases of production including: the auditorium, arrangements for and working with a producer-director, a settings director, lighting, orchestra, master of ceremonies and stage hostesses.

Reis has worked on the pageant program as a volunteer for the past five years, serving as producer in 1961. He represents the Kingston Junior Chamber of Commerce on the board of directors and is associated with his father, Frank A. Reis in operating the Reis Liquor Store on Central Broadway. Reis is a member of the Kingston Kiwanis Club; B Battery 156th Artillery, New York National Guard and St. Joseph's Holy Name Society.

Reis is one of a large group of volunteers who devote many hours of extra time planning and staging the Miss New York State Pageant. It is conducted as a self-supporting project financed almost entirely by the sale of patron tickets, which also entitles the purchaser to the best reserved seats, one for each night of the three performances, and the sale of admission tickets.

The state pageant is conducted as a major statewide publicity or promotional event. It publicizes Kingston and attracts many people to the pageant itself. A large percentage of those who attend come from out of town.

This year it is expected that between 22 and 26 contestants from all parts of the state will vie for the state title. This will be the largest number of contestants since the state franchise was awarded to Kingston in 1959.

At the close of the meeting refreshments were served. A cake was presented with the names of the outgoing officers, president, Emma Pezzello; vice president, Laurette Morrelli; recording secretary, Pat Merck; corresponding secretary, Lena Larabee.

The June meeting will be held on June 11 at the home of Mrs. Mary Hill.

Aging Parley Opens At Thayer Hotel

WEST POINT, N.Y. (AP)—A seven-county regional conference on problems of the aging opened this morning at the Thayer Hotel here.

The one-day session was called by the State Office for the Aging, in connection with the statewide observance of senior citizens month. The office noted that about 1 out of every 10 persons in the seven counties is 65 or older.

The conference chairman was Dwight S. Sargent of Dobbs Ferry. Delegates represented the counties of Dutchess, Orange, Putnam, Rockland, Sullivan, Ulster and Westchester.

Think of Compromise

HARRISBURG (AP) — Some Pennsylvania Democratic leaders are advancing the theory that perhaps it would preserve party unity if a compromise candidate were named to run for the U.S. Senate, according to party sources.

As of today, three weeks and one day after the April 28 primary, the Democrats had no candidate at all.

Justice Michael A. Musmanno, on leave from the state Supreme Court, led Genevieve Blatt, secretary of internal affairs, by 171 votes out of 920,000 votes cast.

The figures take in the full count, with absentee ballots, in 63 counties, and unofficial tabulations, with unchallenged absentee ballots, from Philadelphia, Lackawanna, Somerset and Washington Counties.

Cuba Schedules Maneuvers Along Northwest Coast

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The Cuban Armed Forces Ministry said today that coastal artillery and military jet planes would hold maneuvers along the northwest coast of Cuba.

Havana radio reported the ministry warned ships and aircraft that the area from San Pedro Beach, in Cabanas, to Pinar del Rio Province should be avoided between 9 a.m. and 2 p.m. Ships were warned that navigation would be dangerous within seven miles of the coast.

Await Signatures On Novel Contract

BERNE, Ind. (AP)—An agreement that could cost union members up to six weeks' pay and management a comparable amount if they let future negotiations collapse was ready today for final signatures.

The contract, called the first of its kind in the history of collective bargaining, is to be signed in New York Thursday by Harold D. Sprunger, president of the Dunbar Furniture Corp. of Berne, and Sal B. Hoffman, president of the Upholsterers' International Union.

Local union and management officals signed the agreement in Berne Tuesday. Present wage scales were not disclosed.

Dunbar employs about 300 workers, 70 per cent of them union members. The only strike at the plant, in 1959, was settled one day short of six weeks.

This is the way the contract works:

For a period up to 12 weeks beginning with the start of negotiations, 50 per cent of employes' wages and a matching amount from company funds will be paid to the First Bank of Berne, which will donate its services.

If agreement is reached within six weeks, all the money held by the bank is returned. If a settlement is arrived at within nine weeks the payoff is 75 per cent. Up to 11 weeks it drops to 50 per cent, the 12th week to 25 per cent.

If the 12-week period expires without an agreement all the money goes to a community or charitable project, with the Berne Ministerial Association to determine the recipient if union and management cannot agree.

After 12 weeks the union may strike or the company may impose a lockout, but only after giving advance notice. Otherwise the previous agreement is renewed automatically for one year.

Report Sub Base Pact

PARIS (AP) — The paper Figaro said today that the Soviet Union and Algeria reportedly have signed an agreement providing for a Soviet nuclear submarine base in Algeria.

The Figaro dispatch was written by its correspondent in Madrid. It gave no further details.

Kingston Woman Wins Shopping Spree Contest

A Kingston woman is the winner of one of the grand local prizes in Pepsi-Cola's $1,850,000 1964 Shopping Spree selected Tuesday, by Henry Mitchell of Newburgh Chamber of Commerce at the Pepsi-Cola Newburgh Bottling Co. Inc.

The grand local prize, a five-minute free shopping spree in a food store, was won by Mrs. Jerry Bouchard of 72 Van Deusen Street.

The Grand Union at the Kingston Plaza Shopping Center, was selected as the site of the shopping spree, local grand prize in the $1,850,000 1964 Pepsi-Cola Shopping Spree, it was announced by Tenney, president of the Pepsi-Cola Newburgh Bottling Co., Inc.

Saturday morning, 8:30 a. m. has been set for the spree. During the spree, the winner will be permitted five minutes to take as many groceries off the shelf as she can carry to the check-out counter.

At the conclusion of the time period, the local Pepsi-Cola Bottling Company will pay the full retail cost of the check-out tape run up by the winner.

Teener Is Held For Theft of Kingston Auto

One of four teenagers apprehended in the Highland area early today as they were riding in a car allegedly stolen from Hasbrouck Avenue, was charged with first degree grand larceny the others are to be petitioned to children's court as juveniles.

Booked on the charge was Richard W. Tucker, 16, of Terrace Heights, Ellenville. City Court hearing was put over to Friday, and he was to be released in the custody of his mother.

The car, owned by Stewart Sharot, of 153 TenBroeck Avenue, was spotted by Trooper Wallace Mahan on Route 9W near the intersection of Route 299. The car was reported taken from Hasbrouck, near Foxhall Avenue between [illegible] m. Tuesday and 2:30 a. m. today.

The four were brought to Kingston police headquarters for questioning, after they were apprehended by Trooper Mahan, and the larceny charge was lodged here.

Halts Pact With U. S.

RANGOON, Burma (AP) — Burma's revolutionary government has terminated the $94.5-million Rangoon Mandalay highway project, financed by America, authoritative sources reported.

The U.S. ambassador, Henry Byroad, called at the Foreign Office Tuesday and was told of the Burmese decision to terminate the 1963 agreement with Washington.

Survey for the first section was well under way by the contractors, the Louis Berger Corp. of New Jersey.

The termination capped a series of steps aimed at reducing the U.S. influence in this strategic neutralist nation.

Board to Discuss Curriculum at Thursday at GWS

The fourth of a series of meetings to discuss the educational and curricular program of the Kingston Schools Consolidated will be held by the Kingston Board of Education Thursday, 8 p .m. in the music room of the George Washington School.

The subject for discussion will be Curriculum Needs for the Special Curriculum Group in the Junior High Schools.

A group of teachers from the Myron J. Michael Junior High School, under the chairmanship of Donald Anderson, principal, will present their ideas and tentative conclusions as to the type of curriculum from which the less academically talented group can gain the maximum profit.

Although further study of this problem is needed and is in the planning stages, it has been tentatively decided that the curriculum for the special curriculum students should stress the basic skills (the 3 R's), elements of good citizenship, and a functional program of useful vocation skills.

This will be an educational meeting. No business will be discussed. The public is invited to attend.

T-Men Seize Arms Cache

CLINTON, Ill. (AP) — U.S. Treasury agents have seized a stockpile of machine guns, flame throwers, mortars and explosives and arrested a one-time Illinois leader of "The Minutemen," a nationwide anti-Communist group.

The agents, who posed for weeks as middlemen for an unnamed foreign weapons buyers, said they paid $17,000 to Richard Lauchli, 37, for the arms in an abandoned barn. The agents also arrested Donald Sturgis, 36.

An inventory showed at least 100 submachine guns, five 50-caliber tripod-mounted machine guns, a flame thrower, several 25-pound aerial bombs, several mortars, many automatic pistols and rifles, and ammunition for all the weapons.

In addition, Treasury agents raided Lauchli's home and confiscated more submachine guns and another flame thrower.

Asst. U.S. Atty. Leon Scroggins said Lauchli and Sturgis were charged in a federal complaint in Springfield, Ill., with possession of unregistered automatic weapons. He said Lauchli bought the weapons as scrap and reconditioned them.

Storm Hits Area, Dutchess Man Killed

Lightning Fatal, Sets $60,000 Fire

Tornado warnings were issued Tuesday for areas of central and eastern New York State and while no definite tornado materialized the area was hit by a couple of storms which brought high winds and did considerable damage.

The storms were accompanied by severe lightning and high winds which blew down trees and crippled utility lines in many places.

In the local area Central Hudson reported a total of 1,400 customers were without service for varying periods In the Kingston area some 800 customers experienced interruptions, particularly in the High Falls area and in scattered instances from Saugerties to Esopus.

Outside Crews for Repair

There was considerable damage in the Hyde Park area where trees brought down lines and some 350 customers were without service for a time. In the Millbrook area 250 customers also were without power for a time.

In the Poughkeepsie area linemen from Beacon were called in to assist local crews.

Working in Field

James McKinney, 27-year-old Dover Plains farmhand was killed when struck by lightning as he, and his employer, Samuel Hall, crouched in a field near a tractor to escape the fury of the storm. The men had been working in a field on the Chestnut Hill Road.

Lightning is believed to have set fire to a house on Violet Hill Road, Rhinebeck about 9:50 p. m. The Myron Furest home was gutted. State Police reported the loss as estimated at $60,000.

Storm Around State

An Associated Press from Albany concerning storms in several state areas said:

Central Hudson reported services were interrupted over a wide area by falling trees and in instances to trees being struck by lightning. At the peak of the storm high winds swept over the area.

At Napanoch state police reported a tree was blown down obstructing the highway for a time.

In the village of Ellenville a tree was blown down doing considerable damage to the home of Attorney Benjamin Lonstein on Canal Street and trees were also blown down on Park at Center Street and on Circle Avenue at Warren Street, halting traffic for a time.

Cablevision Out

In Kingston a tree was blown down at Albany and Tremper Avenue and branches were reported down in various other parts of the city. Cablevision, which has many Lnes running on Central Hudson poles, was out of commission for some time during the early evening due to trees and branches damaging lines.

Over 40 Microphones Are Hidden in Moscow Embassy

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. security agents have dug more than 40 secret microphones out of the walls of the American Embassy building in Moscow during the past month and are searching for others which may still be hidden in the building.

Officials are investigating to determine if any important secret information was obtained by the Soviets through the microphone network.

Makes Formal Protest

Ambassador Foy D. Kohler has made a formal protest to the Soviet government over the listening devices.

The story of the hidden microphones was disclosed by the State Department Tuesday. A statement by the department's security chief, G. Marvin Gentile, said indications are the devices were "placed in the building prior to its occupancy by the United States" 11 years ago.

Used Since 1953

The building was assigned to the United States by the Soviet government for use as an embassy in 1952 and was occupied in the spring of 1953.

Officials said that not counting the newly found network, since 1949 more than 130 listening devices of various types were discovered and removed from U.S. Embassy buildings in Moscow and other Eastern European capitals.

Had Suspicion

They said any information losses which may have occurred through the microphone network were probably limited by "the measures taken for protection against such a possibility."

This apparently referred to the fact that all employes of embassies in Communist countries are warned frequently that their offices and residences may be bugged and are cautioned against discussing secret information where it might be picked up.

In Principal Offices

The microphones were dug out of the eighth, ninth and 10th floors of the Moscow embassy. It is on these floors that Kohler

McNamara Says Yanks Receiving Best Available

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara said today that American soldiers in South Viet Nam "are receiving the best equipment available for the unique task at hand."

With this statement, McNamara sought to refute charges that the use of obsolescent planes in South Viet Nam caused the death of two American fliers.

Questioning to Follow

McNamara gave his views in a statement for a closed session of the House Armed Services Committee. A copy of the statement was released by the committee as McNamara began to testify.

Members of the committee were expected to question him closely.

The chairman, Rep. Carl Vinson, D-Ga., said in an opening statement, also released by the committee, that "I want every member to feel free to develop any thought he may wish to express or ask any question that

Vols Will Hear N. Y. Fire Head At August Event

Guest speaker at the annual banquet of the Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association at Sportsmen's Park, Rosendale, Thursday, August 6, will be New York City Fire Department Commissioner Edward Thompson. Announcement that Commissioner Thompson would be the speaker was made by Convention Co-chairman Charles Peterson Tuesday night at the May meeting of the Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association at Sawkill.

52 Units Sign

Plans for the convention are progressing rapidly and to date 36 companies with 16 musical units have signed up for the parade which will mark the closing of the convention Saturday afternoon, Aug. 8 in the Town of Rosendale.

There will be 14 trophies awarded to companies participating in the parade.

Deadline for reservatioins for the banquet was announced as July 24 and no more tickets will be available after that date.

Admission of the Tobasco Town of Rochester Fire Company No. 2 to the County Association brings the number of companies on the roll at 76. The company was received into membership Tuesday night.

Record Crowd Attends

At the meeting, which was held in the Sawkill firehouse, there were 41 companies represented with a record crowd of 175 members in attendance.

President Herbert Faurte presided and after the welcome by Chief George Leedecke of the Sawkill Fire Company and the opening prayer by Chaplain Leonard Seaver, the business of the evening was taken up.

Ulster County Fire Co-ordinator Winfred Snyder reported 189 fires during the month. There were 16 mutual aid calls, seven emergency calls, four false alarms and four out of district calls.

Progress was reported on plans for the Ulster County Field Day and the date will be announced.

A report also was given on the

Maryland Gives Wallace 42.66 PC

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP)—Sen. Daniel B. Brewster, running as a stand-in for President Johnson, defeated Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace in a Maryland presidential primary clouded by a close vote and a murky legal question.

In a Democratic race pinned on his opposition to the civil rights bill pending in the Senate, Wallace drew 212,068 votes Tuesday, 42.66 per cent of the party total.

Better Showing

It was better than his showing in Indiana—29.8 per cent—or Wisconsin—33.7—and he claimed vindication in the Maryland vote of his stand against the rights bill originated by John F. Kennedy and pushed by Johnson.

Brewster, 41, a former Marine elected to the Senate only two years ago, was elated by his effort to preserve Maryland's 48 national nominating convention votes for Johnson.

He had been tapped by the party organization—with Johnson's blessing—to take on Wallace in a border state with a recent history of racial strife marked by repeated outbreaks of violence in Cambridge.

Brewster wound up with 264,613 votes, 53.23 per cent of the total. The remaining 4 per cent were cast by voters preferring Andrew J. Easter, a Baltimore draftsman, or an uninstructed delegation to the national convention.

Different Views

"We made the fight and we won and I'm glad," said Brewster.

He aimed this parting shot at Wallace: "In baseball, anyway, it's three strikes and you're out."

Wallace didn't see it that way. "This Maryland vote," he said, "should let them know in Washington and in both national parties that they can't get rid of us by calling us bad names."

The governor hinted of a possible technical challenge of the results because of Maryland's old unit vote system. Similar to the Electoral College vote in presidential elections, it makes it possible for a candidate to win a primary even though he trails in the popular vote.

Hearing Set Monday

A U.S. District Court in Baltimore has nullified the unit vote system in Maryland primaries for statewide office. It has set a hearing for Monday on a suit to apply the ban to the presidential primary also.

Brewster led in enough counties and Baltimore city districts to get a 92-79 margin in unit votes. But his popular vote edge in Baltimore County, which has 14 unit votes, was only 106 out of 93,000 cast.

A reversal of the unofficial vote in that county when the official count is taken in about a week could change the unit vote picture, but Atty. Gen. Thomas B. Finan has said this would be meaningless.

They can't change the rules in the middle of the game," Wallace insisted. An aide said the Baltimore County canvass would be closely observed.

Unlikely Manned Probes Will Be Tried for Year

FLORENCE, Italy (AP) — It may be a year before either the United States or the Soviet Union undertakes major new manned space ventures.

Both countries must solve crucial problems before they can try space experiments more spectacular than the manned orbital flights of 1963.

Problems Raised

During the annual meeting of the International Committee on Space Research — COSPAR — which closed today, United States and Soviet scientists said manned space flights had raised the question of whether a man could tolerate more than five days in space with present equipment.

The scientists said astronauts were showing such after-effects of space flights as low blood pressure. Delegates from both countries indicated the five-day flights by Soviet astronauts last year were about the longest that could be safely attempted now.

Prof. Anatoli Blagonravov, chief Soviet delegate, said it might be a year before his country is ready to try a major new venture..

The United States reported it planned to start flights by two-man Gemini ships by the end of 1964 or early in 1965. Privately, American scientists said the first Gemini ship probably would not be launched for a year.

Others Have Plans

The Soviet Union and the United States plan to continue sending satellites and rockets aloft.

Italy and France also have important space plans. The Italians hope to launch their first satellite, using a floating launching platform off Kenya and an American rocket. France is preparing to orbit a 100 per cent French satellite with a 100 per cent French rocket.

Other space experiments being planned:

—By the end of 1964, a Mars probe by a U.S. Mariner rocket that will fly past the planet and transmit television pictures back to earth.

—By 1970, U.S. and Soviet attempts to put artificial satellites in orbit around Mars.

Unanimous Approval Given by City Council

Will Take Two Months for Processing Broadway East Job by Finance Agency

Forwarding of a loan and grant application is the next step, probably to be taken next week, in advancing downtown's Broadway East urban renewal project, Eric Hemphill, local UR director, said today after unanimous approval Tuesday night of the project by the Common Council.

It will take the Housing and Home Finance Agency about two months to process the application for the rehabilitation project, which will cost an estimated gross sum of $9,222,000. After processing, the city receives the actual grant, and then relocation of families and razing of buildings will start.

Sale of land in the 116-acre project area will bring an estimated $577,000, making the net project cost $8,646,000.

Listed for displacement in the project area are 442 families.

Advanced As Needed

The federal grant is not forwarded in lump sum, but will be advanced in such sums as are needed as the project progresses.

Tuesday night's Common Council action culminated some five years of preliminary work and planning.

Leaders Comment

"Many have worked hard" through those years, Council Majority Leader John Machione (R) 12th Ward, emphasized at the meeting. The project, he said, will not only be an asset to the downtown area, but to the city as a whole because of the tax relief the rehabilitation of the area will bring. He congratulated all who worked on planning of the project.

"This is a night that will long be remembered," said Minority Leader James F. Howard (D) 10th Ward, when one thinks in terms of what is to be done for the future prosperity of Kingston. Last night's action he said, represented some five years of work brought to a reality. He said he was proud to belong to the age, which achieved it.

Commends Yallum

Alderman-at-Large Joseph F. Carroll Jr., who noticed Elmore C. Yallum, former city planning board member, and chairman of the board in the council chamber, commended him for his years of work in behalf of city planning and urban renewal.

Approved also last night on request of City Treasurer M. G. Richardson was a measure calling for consolidation of 1963 bond issues totaling $233,600, prior to sale. They include sums for street and sewer work, and the purchase of new accounting and billing machines.

Rockefeller Steps Up His Attacks

RIVERSIDE, Calif. (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller said today he doesn't believe a majority of his party's voters will regard Sen. Barry Goldwater's political philosophy as "responsible Republicanism."

The New York governor, with the campaign field all to himself, stepped up his attacks on his lone opponent in California's presidential primary — a test he said could make or break their battle for the nomination.

His Opinion

"This is it, in my opinion," he said of the June 2 election in a radio program Tuesday.

Earlier he said that if Goldwater wins the race for California's 86 delegate votes it might put him over the 655 needed for the nomination at the Republican National Convention in July.

But, he added, if Goldwater doesn't cinch it on the first ballot "then he won't get it at all." The Arizona senator expects to go into the San Francisco convention with more than 500 delegates. Rockefeller has 28, but is counting on all of New York's 92.

Goldwater Leaves

Goldwater headed back to Washington Monday and doesn't plan to return until next Monday. Rockefeller has scheduled four days of compaigning this week and five more next week.

Opening his final swing in Southern California, Rockefeller repeatedly singled out instances where he said Goldwater differed with former President Dwight D. Eisenhower and other "responsible" party leaders.

Points to Upset

He said his upset victory in Oregon, where he ran ahead of Henry Cabot Lodge and Goldwater in a six-way contest, indicated the direction the voters want the GOP to take.

"At stake is whether the Republican party shall remain a party of progress, moderation and responsibility, or whether it shall leave the mainstream of American political thought and action and represent the narrow doctrinaire views of a small minority," he said in a statewide television appearance from Los Angeles Tuesday night.

In a speech prepared for California Baptist College in Riverside today, Rockefeller said that Goldwater is out of step with his party and the times.

Famous School Closing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Caroline Kennedy's famous White House school is being closed at the end of the present term. One of its teachers will take over a new cooperative school Mrs. John F. Kennedy is setting up for John Jr., 3, and his friends.

Caroline, 6, who is finishing first grade, will attend the Sacred Heart Convent, a Roman Catholic school in Bethesda, Md., next year. Her school has been meeting at the British Embassy since her father was assassinated.

Alice Grimes of Providence, R.I., Caroline's teacher this year, will take over the cooperative, which will meet in the children's homes, a spokesman for Mrs. Kennedy said Tuesday.

No Opposition Is Heard on Buses, Praised by Mayor

A Public Service Commission hearing Tuesday in the Municipal Auditorium on application of Urban Transit Corp., to continue operating bus service in Kingston on a permanent basis, drew no opposition, and Mayor John J. Schwenk testified in behalf of continuance of the service.

Urban Transit, headed by Julius Lipton, which acquired the bus franchise on a temporary basis after it was discontinued with PSC permission by the Kingston City Transportation, seeks to continue operating permanently.

The hearing was conducted by Isadore Crade, PSC examiner.

Mayor Schwenk testified as to the satisfactory performance of the corporation and said he had heard favorable comment in the city concerning service provided.

Urban Transit, which began operating last Nov. 4, also seeks to extend service to the Town of Ulster shopping area, and awaits

Fiery Vessel Is Reported Sinking In Pacific Ocean

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)—"Oh, God, I love you, honey. I'm glad you're safe."

At this greeting, Randi Schjeldrup fell into the embrace of her Aunt Josephine after the nightmarish burning of a ship at sea, in which one died and nine others were missing.

Mrs. Schjeldrup, 29, her three small children and her husband, Sindre, were among 45 survivors from the Norwegian freighter Sandanger, on which Schjeldrup was chief engineer.

The 45 arrived here Tuesday night aboard their rescue ship, the German freighter Bodenstein.

The Bodenstein raced to aid the stricken Sandanger in the predawn hours Monday, less than an hour after the Sandanger was ripped by an explosion that ignited her cargo of baled cotton and wood pulp. The Bodenstein's crew plucked the survivors from liferafts near the burning ship.

Social Security Account Deserves Strict Attention

Your social security account deserves the same careful attention you give to your bank account, your savings bonds, or any other matter important to your future. This reminder came today from George J. Habernig, social security district manager in Kingston.

He pointed out that the earnings credited to the account of an employe or self-employed person covered by social security determines the amount of any benefits to be paid to him, to his dependents, or to his survivors. The higher the wages credited, the higher the benefits, he stated.

"As a matter of fact," Habernig said, "although a minimum number of credits are required in all cases, it is the amount of wages or self-employment income credited that determines how much in social security benefits a person will get."

An employe can use his W-2 form as one means of checking the wages reported for him. In addition to total wages earned and taxed for withholding purposes, the W-2 should show wages for the year subject to social security and the amount of FICA taxes deducted. The wages subject to social security taxes are the basis of your social security credits for the year. The Federal Insurance Contributions Act (FICA) tax finances the social security benefit program.

Anyone can get a statement of his social security credits by writing to the national headquarters in Baltimore. If you change jobs frequently it is especially important that you check at least every three years, according to the manager.

A postcard request form can be obtained from any social security office. Since your record is confidential, no one else can check your record for you; you must do this yourself.

Habernig urged anyone having questions about social security to get in touch with the nearest social security office. The telephone number is FE 8-7307, and for inquires by mail or personal visit, the address is 57 Albany Avenue, Kingston.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—First reports on the economy in May show the April advance is being maintained. June might well set new peaks before the start of the anticipated summer slowdown.

More About Politics

And by then people will be thinking less about the business cycle and more about politics, anyway.

The upward pace isn't as fast as in the final weeks in 1963, but the news reports are peppered with advances in particular industrials and with even more glowing predictions.

Steel production continues to confound its own industry experts. Output is still on that uphill course that helped pull April's all-inclusive industrial production index to a new high. The steel mills are pouring out tonnage at the highest rate since last June.

The current outlook is that this month's total production will fall short of last May's 11.5 million tons. Still, orders for June are coming in better than expected earlier and the industry now expects to end the first half of 1964 with total output well ahead of its New Year's predictions.

Sales Holding High

Auto makers are pushing production. And new car buyers are keeping sales high. Detroit, too, is planning for a summer slowdown as it changes over for new models, a more extensive revision this year than last. And it is girding for labor contract bargaining.

Retailers in general report sales holding high. Some chains note marked advances in recent weeks, even if over-all retail figures haven't jumped as quickly as some advocates of the federal income tax cut had predicted.

The increase in consumer credit totals shows the public still in a buying and borrowing mood. And the stepped-up clearing of old debts is considered putting more families in position to start buying soon in greater volume.

The Commerce Department has just revised downward its earlier estimate of the Gross National Product in the first three months of the year. But the optimists even here can point to the causes of the revision as having good points.

The reason for the revision, the department says, is that business inventories didn't climb as fast as first thought, and government spending did not reach the pace earlier indicated. But keeping stocks trim quiets fears of excesses leading to a slump. And government spending is expected to climb later.

To Sentence Woman In Stabbing May 28

BATH, N.Y. (AP) — Leola Stevens, 38, faces sentencing May 28 after pleading guilty to a manslaughter charge in the stabbing of 20-year-old Fred Jackson Jr. in the back seat of an automobile.

The woman, from Elmira, had been charged with second-degree murder. But Judge Alton J. Wightman of Steuben County Court permitted her Tuesday to plead guilty to a lesser charge of second-degree manslaughter.

Jackson, also of Elmira, was stabbed in Bath last Sept. 15. A motive has not been learned.

Rochester Town Planners Meet

Th Planning Board of the Town of Rochester met at the Accord Firehouse recently with John Scribano, chairman presiding. A request from the town board to inspect a new road in the Sheldon Development and a portion of the Project 32 road that connects with the Stonykill Road, was discussed and it was agreed that such inspection would be made as soon as possible.

A rough draft of new specifications for minor roads was mailed previously to all members of the Planning Board by Samuel Reavin and was taken up, item by item at the meeting. Most of the specifications were approved as read, but there were a few items which required clarification. At the next meeting of the Planning Board Wednesday, May 27, the superintendent of highways and the members of the town board expected to be present to contribute their help in making up these specifications and, it was decided to leave these matters open until that time.

Scribano read letters from Daniel Smiley of Lake Mohonk House and Timothy Tetlow of the Peterskill House in Alligerville, expressing their thanks for the open meeting on the proposed "Skyline Drive" study.

It was also decided that when the Planning Board took up the matter of street names, it would call in as a consultant, someone familiar with local history.

Planning Board members present included Aaron Bell and Edward C. Carle, in addition to Scribano and Reavin.

Highland Troop To Present Eagle At Honor Court

The Eagle Award, the highest rank in Boy Scouting, will be awarded next week to Junior Assistant Scoutmaster Robert Petery of 33 Brescia Boulevard, Highland, a member of Troop 70.

The award will be presented at an outdoor Court of Honor Monday evening at the Troop's campsite by the Recreation Park.

A former member of Troop 41, Hyde Park, young Petery actively served as den chief, assistant patrol leader, patrol leader, patrol leader and senior patrol leader. He started in Scouting as a Cub Scout.

Since joining Troop 70 in April, 1963, he has been active not only in assisting in troop activities, but also in advancement, earning the Life Scout award last July. At this time he also received his warrant for junior assistant scoutmaster.

Petery attended summer camp last year at Camp Tri-Mount, East Jewett, where this year he will be a member of the staff. He also attended Junior Leaders' Training camp last September at Camp Tri-Mount.

As a junior in Highland High School, he is a very active member in the Audio Visual Squad. He is a communicant of St. Augustine's Church.

Milk Price Dips

WASHINGTON (AP)— Prices dairymen received for fluid-milk—used for bottling purposes—were slightly below the 1958-62 May average during the early part of this month.

An Agriculture Department report said producer prices for the country as a whole averaged $5.07 a hundred pounds early this month compared with the five-year May average of $5.13. But retail prices in May averaged 27.3 cents a quart, delivered, up 1.4 cents from the five-year May average.

Majority Against Him, But —

Wallace Proves His Point On Opposition to CR Spheres

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Alabama's segregationist Gov. George C. Wallace has proved his point: There is wide opposition to President Johnson's civil rights bill to give Negroes equal treatment in many spheres of American life.

This is what he said he wanted to prove when he entered the presidential primaries in Wisconsin, Indiana and Maryland, where a victory would have let him capture their delegates to the Democratic National Convention.

He lost in all three in running against stand-ins for Johnson: In Wisconsin to Gov. John W. Reynolds; in Indiana to Gov. Matthew E. Welsh; and Tuesday in Maryland to Sen. Daniel B. Brewster.

But—in Wisconsin he got about 34 per cent of the Democratic vote, in Indiana about 30 per cent and in Maryland roughly 40 to 45 per cent.

Too Soon to Say

It is too soon to say what effect his showing, particularly in Maryland, will have on the bill. But it will fortify the Southerners who can say now with good evidence that they're not alone in wanting it killed.

If the supporters of civil rights can take any solace from the results of Wallace's three campaigns it is this: In all three states the majority of the voters were against him.

Probably very few of the people voting in these primaries have read the civil rights bill in its entirety or, if they have, could claim to understand all its legal implications.

Wallace combined his attack on civil rights with an appeal to those who see, or think they see, the encroachment of socialism in American life.

He said at one rally: "This bill would take over every home, farm, business, and labor union in your state. The left-wingers want to drive this country straight to socialism."

Aimed at Liberals

Knowing that liberals, favoring civil rights legislation, were against him, Wallace's appeal was to conservatives and racists. He said he expected to get a vote which would knock the liberals' "eyeteeth" out.

Always he argued the civil rights bill is an invasion of states' rights. Putting equal treatment for Negroes in double harness with states' rights was probably especially helpful to Wallace in Maryland.

That state has been up to its neck in the states' rights issue.

One of the cases in which the Supreme Court ruled out official prayers in public schools came from Baltimore. The Maryland House of Delegates has been reapportioned by court order. And a federal court has ordered the state's congressional districts redrawn.

Maryland Steamed Up

Last March, the Maryland Legislature passed a public accommodations law—the Senate's civil rights bill has a somewhat similar provision—prohibiting racial or religious discrimination by operators of restaurants, hotels, inns and similar eating and lodging places. It did not apply to bars, taverns or cocktail lounges.

On top of all this, there had been severe racial disturbances on Maryland's Eastern Shore, especially in Cambridge, where National Guardsmen last week used tear gas to disperse demonstrating Negroes.

All these factors had Maryland steamed up before Wallace ever got there. He didn't miss any bets in talking on the sore points. For instance, he brought in the Supreme Court's ban on official prayers or required Bible reading.

Early this month, preaching in a Baptist church, he asked, "Did you ever think the Bible would have to be bootlegged into the schools?"

THE SALVATION ARMY

Mark Twain once remarked, "Always do right. This will gratify some people and astonish the rest."

Among the many fine volunteer organizations which strive to do "right" by their fellow citizens, young and old, stands The Salvation Army.

For nearly a century, the soldiers and officers of The Salvation Army have dedicated themselves, individually and collectively, to caring for the homeless, visiting the ill and strengthening the individual. Across the nation they strive for better communities built on happy, healthy family circles.

While the efforts of the Salvation Army to help others are gratifying indeed, the depth and scope of the Army's social service ministry does amaze a thoughtful person.

The multi-faceted social welfare program of The Salavation Army aims at helping and integrating the total man, his spiritual, physical, mental and social being. Whether it is making a discharged prisoner's return to his family smoother, easing the family tensions of a predelinquent, counseling the alcoholic, caring for the homeless or providing comfort for the aging, each task is approached "With Heart to God and Hand to Man."

So while we take this week, National Salvation Army Week to honor the dedicated men and women who serve in The Salvation Army, let us also use it to further our knowledge of their endeavors by visiting them in their places of work and worship.

The refusal of Congress to get into the squabble over daylight saving may be regarded as a bit of neck saving.

SIGNS TO GO BY

No, to answer your question, wonders will never cease.

Latest proof of this is the announced plan to erect metal signs at all bus stops in New York City, diagramming the complete route of the bus that stops there. (If more than one bus, the routes will be shown in different colors.)

Thus, at a glance, traveler will khow where he is and exactly where a particular bus will take him. But this is not all: Buses will be marked with their route number not only in front but on both sides as well. People will no longer have to race to get in front of the bus to see if it is the one they want.

This revolutionary development is staggering in its implications. Yet, like all great achievements of the human mind — the wheel, the airplane, Robert's Rules of Order —its basic concept is of the utmost simplicity. Like every great invention, one wonders why after all these thousands of years it was never thought of before.

Just imagine — signs telling you precisely how to get where you want to go. And provided by city hall, no less.

No, wonders will never cease.

Consumer debt is now nine times as much as in 1960. In addition to living hand-to-mouth, we now also live on the cuff.

Living is getting easier so we should all eat less, it is said. Maybe so, but this further complicates the problem of what to do in leisure time.

THE BEST OF THE DAY

Morning, for more or less obvious reasons, has always symbolized freshness. Few thoughts can be less original than that the world looks new and lovely — in a word, fresh — soon after dawn.

As with many of the experiences common to men down through the centuries, however, it is worthwhile to see once again how the real thing measures up to the recollection. Being up at dawn, or at least not much later, confirms memories of other early mornings when the senses have opened up to delights — the fragrance of air still moist and cool from the night, the special ebullience of first birdsong, the very quality of the light itself — found at no other time of day.

This is second nature to countrymen, who tend to rise early the year 'round. For town dwellers it is a rarer experience, one highly recommended. Getting up with the sun may be a struggle, but being up at that hour is wonderful.

'These Days'

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

THE AFL-CIO'S GEORGE MEANY SHOULD BE HEARD

When the longshoremen refused to load wheat for Soviet Russia, they were reprimanded by State Department spokesmen in Washington for trying to "make foreign policy" for the United States. Yet when Secretary of State Dean Rusk, nettled by British trade with Castro's Cuba, suggested to London that he might not be able to stop private U. S. citizens from boycotting British goods, he tacitly admitted that any American has a right to "make" his own foreign policy provided he stays within the law. A refusal to load grain is protected by the Thirteenth Amendment, which prohibits involuntary servitude; a boycott is "customer's choice," a thing to be treasured in a free society.

Somebody has to make sense in foreign policy, after all, and if citizens want a hand in the process, who in the State Department can say them nay? Certainly nobody in Washington is saying nay to George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO, who is currently on the warpath against Senator Fulbright — though some powerful forces in the country seem bent upon denying publicity to Mr. Meany's signed editorial in the May issue of the AFL-CIO Free Trade Union News, which got virtually no attention anywhere outside of labor circles.

Mr. Meany's thrusts at Senator Fulbright's attack on supposed "myths" about Communism are the most pointed that this columnist has seen. The "myth" that Khrushchev is about to subside in his efforts to provoke revolutions in the African and Latin American worlds is dealt with by Mr. Meany by quotations from Pravda, the Kremlin's mouthpiece, which reiterates that "The Communist Party and the Soviet people consider it their international duty to give all-around political and economic support, and if necessary, the help of arms, too, to the national liberation struggles of the people." Mr. Meany observes that Khrushchev reserves the right to decide all on his own what is a "national liberation struggle" and that he insists on unilateral definition of what constitutes a "people's democracy." But when the U. S. reserves a camparable right to keep watch over the disposition of missiles in Cuba, which may or may not be "defensive," Khrushchev's boy Castro wants to refer the matter to theUN.

As a free enterprise supporter, this columnist has not been exactly friendly to such institutions of organized labor as industry-wide collective bargaining, or feather-bedding on Diesel trains. But I must admit that labor, through such spokesmen as George Meany, has been far ahead of most businessmen in assessing the continuing danger of appeasing the international Communist movement. The willingness of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce to make a buck out of East-West trade is not to be decried in itself. But I don't notice any particular businessmen's concern for the people in the captive nations of eastern Europe when it comes to welcoming trade deals with Moscow. Where is the business organization that insists on a political quid pro quo that will gain new liberties for Poles, Czechs, Hungarians, and Bulgars in return for shipments of grain? Let's hear some business group speak up.

To counter Senator Fulbright's statement that "in a perverse way we have grown rather attached to the Cold War," Mr. Meany calls attention to the presence on Hungarian soil of 40,000 Soviet troops. He mentions the recent suppression in Poland of the intellectuals' demand for more freedom of expression. There may not be "monolithic unity" in the Communist world, but when a nation seeking its right to "diversity" has to experiment under the eyes of 40,000 alien soldiers, Senator Fulbright's idea that worries about the Cold War are "perverse" seems a trifle perverse in itself.

The home truths which George Meany persists in sticking to should be echoed in other quarters. Things have come to a pretty pass when the free enterprise world lags behind labor in fighting a movement that is the enemy of enterprise all over the globe.

Heart Region Pains May Be Forerunner to Coronary

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

If you have pains around your heart, don't neglect them. It is true that they may be due to a mild indigestion, but they may also be due to a narrowing or a hardening of the arteries that nourish the heart.

Pain will develop in any muscle that is forced to work with a reduced supply of oxygen. In the case of the heart the pain is called angina pectoris. It is often a forerunner of a coronary heart attack—a complete blocking of one of the coronary arteries.

So if you regard your anginal pains as a warning, much can often be done to prevent a full heart attack. What are the things that precipitate anginal pains in a person with narrowed coronary arteries?

One is sudden exposure to cold. But on cold days the exposure itself is not as likely to cause the pain as the increased exertion required to buck a strong wind or to tramp through deep snow. Your increased rate of breathing and your increased pace to keep warm are added factors.

Frustrations and anger may also be precipitating causes, especially if you have to keep them inside. If, instead of doing a slow burn, you can work off your rage by taking a brisk walk, swinging at a little white ball with a driver or a mashie, or taking a lusty poke at a punching bag, you will be doing your heart a favor.

Sitting dow and quietly talking about your feelings to your spouse or a sympathetic confidant may relieve your tensions and spare your heart.

Some persons are awakened from a sound sleep by an anginal attack. This may be done to emotion filled dreams that they do not remember on awaking or to discomfort in the digestive tract or bladder.

If you have anginal attacks and are a smoker, you may have to choose between your smokes and your heart. It is also wise to avoid heavy meals. Eat often but take small portions. If you are overweight, however, every effort should be made to reduce, especially if your blood cholesterol level is high.

Although drugs for relief of anginal attacks are not as important as the preventive measures mentioned, they can be of great help. Nitroglycerin has long been a stand-by for this purpose. Long-acting nitrites are now available and have the advantage of keeping the coronaries dilated most of the time. Other drugs with a similar action include dipyridamole and pronethalol.

The surprising development has been the discovery that griseofulvin, the drug used to control fungus infections, reduces the frequency of anginal attacks. Probenecid, the drug used in the treatment of gout, was likewise found to be effective in stopping attacks.

The Flight to San Francisco May Be Rough

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Former President Harry Truman, back in Washington to celebrate his 80th birthday at a National Press Club luncheon, gave his friends a tip on how to get along with the press.

The Man from Missouri might well have been sounding a warning to President Johnson—who has held press conferences in the White House rose garden, on the south lawn and while walking the grounds — when he said: "The first thing to do is to cuss the h--- out of the reporters every chance you get!"

IN THE MIDST of President Johnson's family-plan, picnic-style press conference on the south lawn of the Executive Mansion, one reporter noted: "Well, I guess it beats following him while he runs laps around the White House."

"Yeah," answered a second, "but what's he going to do for an encore?"

AT THE CIVIL Liberties Union's recent presentation of the Oliver Wendell Holmes Bill of Rights award to Washington Post editorial writer Alan Barth, someone recalled this story about the late Supreme Court justice:

On the eve of Holmes' 87th birthday — when he became the oldest man to sit on the Court—a Washington paper sent an inquiring reporter into the streets to determine whether the average citeizen knew who Holmes was.

The reporter put the question to a man in overalls who was reading the sports pages in Capitol Square.

"Sure I know who he is," the man replied. "He's that young fellow on the Supreme Court who always disagrees with the old guys."

AT A RECENT Harrisburg press conference, a reporter asked Pennsylvania's Gov. William Scranton:

"May I make one small request, governor? Please don't invite wives and children of the members to the press conference."

Scranton laughed and answered: "O.K., but we're going to take walks, though. And I'm planning to subject you all to the Royal Canadian Air Force exercises."

WALKING INTO a sparsely attended, off-the-record press briefing the other day, a high government official grimaced in mock disappointment, then quipped:

"It's a rather small turnout in view of the fact that mothers, grandmothers and mothers-in-law were invited."

..NEAR THE END of a recent speech before the Advertising Council, U.S. Information Agency director Carl Rowan noted:

"Time is running out, and I promised my wife this morning that I'd try to remember her definition of an optimist and not talk too long.

"She says an optimist is a woman who puts her shoes back on when I say 'In conclusion . . .'"

Gang-Up on Goldwater Seen as Harmful Tactic

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — The Republican party certainly needs a psychoanalyst or a mentor of some kind to save it from suicide. There is no more certain way to break a party into pieces than to do what the California campaign manager for Henry Cabot Lodge did when he announced that all the strength that might have been mobilized for Ambassador Lodge would be thrown to Gov. Rockefeller in the California primary.

This is an amazing announcement. It means, in effect, that there are those in the Republican party who are far more interested in knocking off someone who is likely to get the nomination than in presenting on his merits a rival candidate with a different or even better appeal.

Negative attitudes never have won prestige for a party. They have resulted in nearly every instance in a disunity that has sacrificed the final election.

Sen. Goldwater, on the face of it, seems to have the largest number of delegates thus far, and this has led his opponents to a desperate and frantic maneuver to block him at all costs. The move is incomprehensible because the only effective way to defeat a front-runner is to present someone else who is better able to articulate the issues in a way that will appeal to a larger number of voters.

Perhaps the most sensible man on the sidelines today among the leaders of the Republican party is former President Eisenhower. He never has been regarded as a politician, but he certainly has always displayed common sense and the courage of his convictions. In an interview the other night with Walter Cronkite of CBS, the former President said several things which were not printed in the newspapers generally. So it's pertinent to quote, for example, the following:

"I am trying, first of all, to be one individual who is not becoming involved too much in the personal campaigns of individuals, so there is to be at least one to preach the doctrine of party unity and who, believing —like I think all of us do — in the two-party system, will be in the position probably to soothe ruffled feelings.

"I think this is important because on one side we hear some individuals saying, 'Well, if so-and-so is nominated, I don't think I could support him,' and on the other side, you will hear another say, 'Well, we might just walk out of the convention,' or words to that effect.

Now I think this is all very childish and is very bad. But if we are going to fight this type of inner struggle, then I think it's more than ever important that someone is in a position to say, 'Now, let's get together and be Republicans and not be babies.'"

When asked whether his position of neutrality would not perhaps work out in Sen. Goldwater's favor, Mr. Eisenhower said:

"Well, I don't know. But I think this: I personally believe that Sen Goldwater is not as extreme as some people have made him. But, in any event, we are all Republicans. We all have a certain set of basic principles, and the problem has come about in how we apply them to the issues of the day. And if we don't have some kind of consensus, why then everybody wants to run away, or they talk like they are going to run away. I will say this—in the other party, when it comes to election time, they all coalesce, and I think it's time we were doing it.

When asked specifically whether the principles for which Sen. Goldwater stands would satisfy Mr. Eisenhower at the San Francisco convention, the former President replied:

"Sometimes it's a little bit difficult to figure out exactly what any individual means. Now, I have been reading some of Sen. Goldwater's position papers and, for example, he has made a long explanation of what he meant when he first said, 'I want to sell TVA down in Tennessee.' The way he tells it in explanation, it is not a radical move at all—it's just getting private enterprise into a lot of things that are now the government's doing.

"But, you see, a statement made during the past months and years that is now taken as gospel—it means to the average citizen that somebody is very much to the right or to the left and otherwise. And this applies to the only other announced candidate. So what I am trying to do is to be able to do my part in getting this party together. That's what I really want to do."

Every preconvention campaign is naturally a contest between different sets of views. But in the long history of political parties, there has been, for the most part, a tolerance of differences of opinion and an effort to compromise and reconcile conflicting viewpoints. Rarely does any faction within a party issue an ultimatum and say that under no circumstances would it support a candidate who holds opposing views. This kind of threat merely aggravates the situation and intensifies friction.

To gang up on Sen. Goldwater today is a wrong tactic, and it is surprising that the move has not been repudiated by the top men in the Rockefeller and Lodge organizations. For it's not the way to produce harmony in a political party which, after the convention, must do battle against the opposing party.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

You have dragged us down to the edge of contempt. There is no forgiveness in me because you did not do it in ignorance, but rather with intelligence and forethought. You extremists—White and Black—have become the curse of our people.

Stop it. Your sit-ins, drag-ins, police dogs, bombings, picketing and lay-downs are not advancing the cause of brotherhood. To the contrary. You are forcing the rest of us to pick a side. There are scores of millions of us who aspire to be on the side of the law. Nothing more. You White Supremacy Councils and Black Muslims have taken the matter off the high plane of justice and brought it into the gutter of personal venom.

The War Between the States was fought with a degree of honor. It was something for a young man to don a uniform and go out prepared to die for a principle, right or wrong. But this thing upon which you have embarked is neither war nor peace, and the last time it had a shred of honor was when the United States Supreme Court handed down the original opinion ten years ago this week.

This opinion, which stated that separate but equal facilities between races was discrimination, is now the law. Whether anyone likes it or not, it will remain the law and all of us must obey it. The South, predictably, dragged its feet and continues to drag its feet. The Justice Department continues to fight this reluctance to obey.

In the ten ensuing years, I have toured the South twice to watch, to ask opinions of Whites and Negroes, and to note the token obedience to the law. Once, I went around the North for the same purpose, and I was chagrined to find that my pious White brethren who preach brotherhood for the South, do not practice it in the North.

Both North and South, I found Negro leaders who did not want school integration at once because it would penalize colored children whose educational levels are a year-and-a-half to two years behind White schools. In Harlem, there were Negro leaders who said: "A hundred years after the Emancipation Proclamation, you people are ready to take us in, but we are not ready." I asked one man: "Well, what do you want?" He said: "We want all the fences knocked down today, with the right to jump across them twenty years from now, or whenever we feel ready."

But, inch by inch, day by day, the fanatics of both races have taken command of the convulsion. The Muslims preach the coming dominance of the Black World, but will not move to a Black Country. The White Supremists fight in front of television cameras to keep a poor Negro out of a restaurant he couldn't afford if you ushered him to a table. General Motors is picketed, not because they do not hire enough Negroes, but because not enough are in executive positions.

What is right in this situation? What is wrong? At one time I was sure I knew the answer. It was law and time. Now, I no longer know. Now there is a pox on both your houses and you are infecting the rest of us. You are not interested in reason, or understanding, or progress. Instead, you tell me how to hate, how to degrade, how to make the Negro and the White worse than he is.

The Negro wants to keep me from going to the World's Fair, but he can't tell me why. The White Supremist tells me that the Negro secretly aspires to marry my sister, even though the Bible shows that robins remain with robins, and larks remain with larks—even when they live in the same tree. If it is true that the law cannot force a Negro to invite me to his home, then it is equally true that I do not have to invite him to mine.

Convulsion can induce coma. Those of us who thought that the Supreme Court decision of 1954 was a good one are beginning to feel comatose. Our newspapers are full of strife, of grown men lying in front of vehicles, of shieking women, policemen swinging nightsticks, of federal officers escorting children to school, of pious clergymen deploring the evil in men's hearts while they assure their flocks that God has white skin, of Negro leaders who preach "Hate everything White", and of smug White men who roar: "Keep the Negro in his place or he'll take over."

As for me, I have had enough. The thing which began as a movement toward equity in justice, toward true understanding between men of many hues, is now a clash between the irresponsibles on both sides. They get the headlines. They, from governors down to ditch diggers, defy the law to send them to jail. They seek martyrdom. Let them have it.

You who have done this awful thing have dragged the rest of us down with you. Someday, the newspaper editors and television commentators will tire of you too. A man's zeal is best tested when he is alone in the dark. You haven't got it. . .

Yank's Death Is 230th in Viet, Officer Wounded

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—An American soldier was killed and an American officer wounded in an ambush Tuesday night while on operational patrol 45 miles northwest of Saigon near the Cambodian border.

The officer, a member of the U.S. Army Special Forces, was flown to a hospital in Saigon and was reported in good condition.

The death of the Special Forces enlisted man brought to 132 the number of Americans killed in combat in Viet Nam since late 1961. The total of American deaths since then number 230.

Prof. Lattimore Says China Studies Are Very Important

By ANTHONY WHITE

LEEDS, England (AP)—It's just over 10 years since Prof. Owen Lattimore—then lecturer in Chinese history at Johns Hopkins University—was caught in the turmoil of the McCarthy era rows, accused of being a Soviet agent.

Today he lives a quiet life in England, remote from political controversy, the troubles of the 50s just a memory. In one way he's started life again.

Last summer, Lattimore left Johns Hopkins University, where he had worked for 25 years, to head a new department of Chinese studies at Leeds University.

Likes It

"I like it here," he says, and leans far back in his heavy office chair and the smoke from his pipe curls around his sandy hair. "It's not given to many men at 64 to be starting something new like I am. Most academics at my age are running down like unwound clocks."

He dresses in hairy Scottish tweed jackets and comes to his office each day from his nearby village home, which has the picturesque name of the Old Rose Cottage. He lives there with his wife Eleanor. They have a son, David, now at Yale.

Would Forget All

To Lattimore now his trials of the McCarthy days are memories he'd rather forget. He says he bears no grudges, still regards the United States as his home, and plans to go back there when he retires in 1967.

At one time during the 1950s Lattimore was branded by Wisconsin Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy as "the top Russian espionage agent in the United States." Later McCarthy modified this to read "one of the top" agents. At one point Lattimore was indicted on seven counts of perjury. In 1955 a federal court dismissed two of the counts and then the Justice Department dropped the rest.

"I was angry at the time," Lattimore said in an interview, "as anyone would be had they been so falsely accused. But there is no use sitting around nursing rancor. That doesn't get you anywhere."

Must Know Chinese

The dominating interest in Lattimore's life now is his department of Chinese studies. He is its first professor. It is a four-year degree course where the "language lab" system of tapes is used. Lattimore claims great success so far.

"At the end of 12 weeks," he said, "we had students taking simple dictation."

Lattimore sees an increasing need for a knowledge of China and Chinese as the nation grows in power and world importance. And it is a power and importance which cannot be ignored, he says.

Demonstration Fizzles Again

NEW YORK (AP) — Three times in two months, civil rights groups have called Negroes into the streets here for major demonstrations and three times they have failed to come in the numbers wanted.

Monday the chief planner of the March for Democratic Schools marking the 10th anniversary of the U.S. Supreme Court desegregation decision, asked for 15,000 demonstrators.

The most generous published estimate of the crowd in City Hall Plaza was 5,500. Some estimates were as low as 3,000.

"I consider that we did not have the kind of crowd that is needed," said Bayard Rustin, organizer of the demonstration, jointly sponsored by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People and the Congress of Racial Equality.

Others, not directly connected with the march, flatly called it a failure.

Last Feb. 3, the Negro and Puerto Rican communities jolted New York with a public school boycott that was the largest civil rights demonstration ever staged in the United States. It, too, was planned by Rustin and 464,362 children missed classes—almost half of the million-pupil enrollment.

The Rev. Milton A. Galamison of Brooklyn, a leader in the first school boycott, called another on March 16 and only 268,064 pupils missed school. The NAACP, CORE and the Urban League—which had supported the first—did not endorse the second boycott.

On April 23, a rebel faction of CORE planned an automotive "stall-in" on highways leading to the World's Fair, opening that day.

Leaders spoke of almost 2,000 cars pledged to participate, but only 12 cars showed up at the assembly point.

Then came Monday's setback—the City Hall turnout climaxing other disappointments on the day-long program of demonstrations.

Proposes Limit On Congressmen, None Over 70

WASHINGTON (AP)— A constitutional amendment that would prevent anyone over 70 from running for Congress is being proposed by a 67-year-old foe of the seniority system.

Rep. Everett G. Burkhalter, D-Calif., whose blast several weeks ago at the old-timers in control startled his colleagues, follows up today by introducing legislation to retire them.

His bill would limit senators to three 6-year terms, representatives to five 4-year terms—present terms are two years—and declare that no one could be elected after reaching 70.

Burkhalter, the oldest freshman in the House, has already announced he is quitting after one term. He says he is disgusted at being shackled by a system he says requires members to put in 20 or 25 years before they can hope to have much impact on the affairs of Congress.

Teachers to End Walkout in Utah

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah (AP) — Utah's 10,000 public school teachers have voted to end a two-day walkout, after preparing for the next round in their fight for more money for education.

About 90 per cent of the teachers voted Tuesday to resume teaching today, but they also decided not to sign next year's contracts until a special legislative session is called to consider an emergency $6 million school appropriation, and other demands are met.

The normal time for signing teachers' contracts has gone by.

Chances of recruting new teachers from out of state appear slim. The National Education Association asked its 902,000 members not to accept jobs in Utah until the crisis is over.

Besides the legislative session, the teachers asked at a mass meeting for approval of Utah Education Association solutions to "the financial problems of the educational situation"

Shortening the 1964-65 school year has been discussed as one such solution.

In Probe of Fatal Crash

CAB Is Critical Of Mohawk, Crew

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Civil Aeronautics Board, looking into the cause of the airliner crash at Rochester, N.Y., last July 2 in which seven of the 43 persons aboard were killed, reported evidence today of:

Plane Cartwheeled

1. Faulty judgment by the captain and failure by the crew to comply with company rules.
2. Poor management by the airline, Mohawk.
3. Lax surveillance of Mohawk's operations by the Federal Aviation Agency.

The twin-engine Martin 404 started its takeoff from Rochester-Monroe County Airport, bound for Newark, N.J., as a thunderstorm approached, and entered heavy rain and shifting wind conditions as soon as it took off.

Its left wing struck the ground, and the plane cartwheeled. Although the plane was destroyed by impact and fire, 36 person survived the crash. The seven victims included the captain, Richard M. Dennis, 39, and first officer John W. Neff, 31.

The CAB said the probable cause of the accident was "a loss of control during an attempted takeoff into a severe thunderstorm."

It added that Mohawk's stations at Utica and Ithaca, N.Y., failed to relay the latest weather information, including a pilot report of severe weather, properly to the flight crew.

Faulty Training

Other Mohawk employees improperly released the flight and showed evidence of faulty training, the board said.

The board said Dennis previously had been involved in a landing accident and an in-flight propeller reversal incident, and had been reprimanded at least twice for infraction of company rules.

The CAB said that while a Mohawk vice president rated Dennis below average and a check pilot described him as a "hazard," the FAA inspector who rode on two check flights characterized him as "a good pilot."

No Plans Other Than AG Post, Bobby Declares

NEW YORK (AP) — Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy says he has had conversations about the possibility of running for the U.S. Senate from New York next fall but, "All things being equal it would be better for a citizen of New York to run for the position."

Kennedy told a news conference Tuesday that friends had raised the possibility of his seeking Democratic nomination to the Senate.

"I have no plans other than staying on as attorney general" until after the November election, he said.

New York Democrats are looking for a candidate to oppose Republican Sen. Kenneth B. Keating in November.

BAGFUL OF RECORDS — Tracy Barnes, 25, of Minneapolis, Minn., went aloft in his home-built rig, including black bag full of oxygen—and came down with a claimed trophy of seven free-flight records. Barnes says he reached 37,000 feet altitude, breaking the class 3-A record held by a Russian of 23,286 feet—plus six other records, set by larger balloons.

Unmanned Apollo Orbit Scheduled For Next Tuesday

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) —The first attempt to orbit an unmanned model of the Apollo moonship is scheduled next Tuesday.

A Saturn 1 rocket will propel the Apollo model toward an intended orbit ranging from 110 to 140 miles above the earth.

The rocket and spacecraft are forerunners of machinery being developed to launch three-man teams to the moon late in this decade.

Rules Prisoners Must Okay Line-Ups

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A federal judge has forbidden use of prisoners in line-ups unless police have the prisoners' permission.

Dist. Court Judge Abraham L. Freedman ruled Tuesday there was substantial merit in suits filed by two prisoners at the City Detention Center in Holmesburg. They contended forced participation in a line-up violated their constitutional rights.

Students, Police Clash

SEOUL, Korea (AP) — Students protesting the Japan-South Korea normalization talks clashed with police in demonstrations at Seoul and Tokyo today.

About 1,000 left-wing Japanese students staged a sitdown and ignored blasts from fire hoses after police halted their march toward the Foreign Ministry.

Police in Seoul used tear gas to disperse about 1,000 students from 10 universities in the capital. More than 50 students were arrested. Police beat the students with fists and the students threw rocks at the police.

School to Hear LBJ

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP)—City school officials said that President Johnson has accepted an invitation to speak to the graduating class of his alma mater, Johnson City High School on the night of May 29.

Johnson was one of six students graduating from Johnson City High in 1924.

Talent Assembly Big Success at Local School

A talent hunt conducted recently by Mrs. Katy Stowe, vocal music teacher at Woodstock elementary school, revealed unusual and varied talents among the pupils. It was climaxed by two highly successful Variety Assemblies.

Each room had its own talent show and the class members voted on the best performers to represent them at the variety assembly. The kindergarten through sixth grades attended the assembly in the gymnasium where the entertainment was enjoyable and varied.

At the assembly presented for the morning group, vocal solos were given by George and Gail Adams, Sharon Schultz and Carolyn Biesele. Piano selections were presented by Jennifer Gavin, Edmund and Angela Tomaselli, Tandy Sturgeon, Sally Kinns, Sonja Klaessig, Miranda Wise and Thomas Hafele.

There were recitations by Adrienne Baptiste and Joan Webster. Linda Hyde did a baton twirl and Nona Craig and Dawn Criscimagna, in costume, performed a can-can. Barba Bouymaster played a flute solo and Dawn Palker, Verna Quednau, Brenda Tougas and Carol Schultz danced an Irish jig.

Second Performance

A skit entitled "Abbott and Costello Meet Frankenstein" was presented by Harry Krum, John Wison, Mark Parrish, Carl Sjursen, Lawrence Miller and George Quinn. The assembly ended with the playing of "America" by an instrumental trio consisting of Robin Sturgeon, Antoine Baptiste and Edward Mercier. Master of ceremonies for the assembly was Mark Bailey of the sixth grade.

In the afternoon, the performers were equally versatile. Laurie Meyer played a piano solo and there were vocal selections by Sophie La Blanch, Wendy Stern, and Dean Schreiner. Donald Harris presented a ukulele selection and Brenda Howland a keymonica solo.

Joyce Steinlauf played a guitar solo. Dominique Beeh presented a drawing and story after which Debbie Moscowitz did a pantomine. Diane Connick performed a modern dance and Daniel Sonnenberg appeared as a comedian with Jonathan Kotzbauer. Entertaining skits were presented by Eve Moscowitz, Terip Tripicco and Kathy Parrish.

Prolonged applause greeted the conclusion of both assemblies. Everyone expressed the hope that Mrs. Stowe would continue the talent shows annually.

Public Hearing On Ohayo Plat Set Thursday

The Woodstock Planning Board has scheduled a public hearing Thursday at 8 p. m. in the town hall on the application of the Catskill Mountain Homes, Inc. of Woodstock, developer for a subdivision plat to be known as "Ohayo Hills."

The petition for plat approval was submitted to the Planning Board by Mike Earnest of Zena.

The subdivision is located at the end of Old Wagon Road, also called Old Quarry Road, on the east side of Ohayo Mountain in the town of Woodstock. The number of units and other factors involved in the development will be announced at the hearing.

A prominent Woodstock artist, Fritz Werner, who owns a nine-acre plot near the site of the proposed new development, has filed a petition in opposition to plat approval.

Lynfield Ott Is Winner Annual Kleinert Award

One of Woodstock's most distinguished young painters, Lynfield Ott, has been named 1964 winner of the Herminie Kleinert Annual Memorial Award, it was announced today. The award carries with it a cash prize of $300.

Ott, who is known professionally as Lynot, resides in the Zena section of the township. A native of Scranton, Pa., born in 1926, he studied under the late, great Kuniyoshi of Woodstock. He attended the Rhode Island School of Design.

Ott has had many one-man shows in Woodstock and several New York City art galleries. He is married to the former Phyllis Silverman and they have four children.

Hearing Tonight On Ordinance

A public hearing on a proposed peddler's ordinance for the Town of Woodstock is expected to draw opposition from the Woodstock Township Chamber of Commerce at the public hearing scheduled tonight at 8 o'clock in town hall.

The proposed new ordinance is designed to replace an omnibus ordinance in existence since 1934.

The Chamber is opposed to a reduction in peddler's license fees from $25.00 to $2.00 as proposed in the new ordinance. The ordinance is designed to regulate and license the hawking, peddling, vending and selling of goods, wares, merchandise and magazines and soliciting orders therefor.

Lehigh Firm Says No Strike Clause Is Cause of Rift

A dispute regarding amendments to the collective bargaining agreement of last year between Local 129 United Cement, Lime and Gypsum Workers of America, and Lehigh Portland Cement Company, Alsen is the cause of the strike now in its second day at the Greene County plant.

A statement from Allen H. Uhler, plant manager indicates the stalemate in discussions Monday afternoon was created when the company refused to remove the "no strike provision" from the present contract.

180 on Strike

Approximately 180 plant employees went on strike Tuesday morning after negotiations broke down, and picketing of the Alsen plant has been in effect.

The statement from Uhler follows:

"The company's Alsen plant is being struck by Local Union 129 because the company refuses to remove the no Strike provison from the collective bargaining agreement. The current contract provides compulsory arbitration for employe grievances which cannot be resolved. "The union now insists that the contract be amended to provide them with the option of arbitration or the right to strike over unresolved grievance.

"The current contract, which was negotiated in 1963, and which does not expire until 1965, provides for the negotiation of the grievances and arbitration procedure in 1964. The current contract negotiated in 1963 provides economic benefits amounting to 25 cents per hour and includes 14 cent wage increases (7 cents of which was effective May 1, 1964), a fourth week of vacation after 20 years of service and improved pension and group insurance plans.

In Most Contracts

"Most collective bargaining agreements within and outside of the cement industry contain an arbitration procedure and a 'no strike clause' such as found in the company's agreement. According to the Bureau of National Affairs, approximately 94 per cent of all collective bargaining agreements in the nation provides for a 'no strike clause.'

"The company proposed several amendments (Monday afternoon) to the present arbitration procedure which seemed to satisfy many of the union's objectives to that portion of the agreement. However, it is the company's position that a 'no strike clause' is essential to the business-like conduct of labor-management affairs and that a contract without such a clause is realy no contract at all."

Three Drivers Fined

Three drivers, charged with traffic violations, were fined in city court today, and one was given a suspended $5 fine after trial. Thomas Howard, 24, of 109 Clinton Avenue, was brought in on a warrant charging failure to appear in court when he was due on April 24, and was fined $10 for passing a red light. Maurice S. Daly, 28, of Stone Ridge, and Marion Nanna, 37, of 67 South Manor Avenue, charged with flashing red light violations, paid $10 each. The suspended $5 fine was imposed on Jerry Martin, 65, of Jerry Martin Pontiac, Inc., 708 Broadway, charged with driving around railroad gates.

Started Small

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP)—You've heard of two-stage missiles, but have you heard of two-stage fish bait? Conservation Officer Ray Frandsen of the State Game Commission reports an enterprising angler at Burchard Lake in Southeast Nebraska caught a 6-pound largemouth bass using the two-stage technique. With a worm for bait, the fisherman caught a bullhead. Then, using the bullhead as second-stage bait, he caught the bass.

Kingston Library Fiction Additions

Fiction additions to the Kingston City Library come almost exclusively from foreign authors. No Pulitzer Prize for American Fiction was awarded this year and 1964 is definitely not the year of the great American Novel.

William Golding, author of Lord of the Flies which had such an impact on the young adult because of the ideas of society there in expressed, has again explored society by the use of symbolism. The Spire tells of the building of a church to glorify God but God was lost as men centered their attention on the building of a masterpiece. Prize winning French novelist Roger Bordier tells in The Golden Plain of a man who lives for today and a woman whose religion and family ties bind her to the past.

The same theme of love and heritage is explored by Yudit Handel in Street of Steps which takes place in modern Haifa, Israel.

Brazilian author Jorge Amado, who wrote Gabriella, Clove and Cinnamon, has written of a lusty master mariner more lusty than seaworthy. Amado writes with gusto of the Brazilians and their wild country. The title of this novel is Home Is the Sailor.

Alain Albert, a young Frenchman, has written about his impression of what it means to be black and live in Mississippi. The Crossing is a fine story with a powerful emotional impact.

An American novel on the great game of politics is William Cobb's An Inch of Snow. It begins with the statement that Yankees are no good and outlines with high humor how the Southeran Democrats tried to get those clean thinking Republicans out of the South. This is a needed bit of humor in an otherwise deadly serious election year.

Cuba Alerts Armed Forces, Sabotage Told

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Cuba observed the 62nd anniversary of its independence from Spain today amid reports of sabotage and threats of armed action against the Communist dictatorship of Fidel Castro.

This was the day on which Manuel Ray, Castro's first minister of public works, promised to be fighting in Cuba against his former chief.

Leaves Canceled

From Havana, The Associated Press reported that Cuban armed forces were placed on a state of alert and all military leaves were canceled.

Then the telephone line went dead, not unusual for circuits between Cub a nd the United States.

The Miami exile colony was excited over the possibility that Ray, or one of two other groups, would make a raid on Castro's island during the day.

Headquarters of the three groups said only that they still plan to carry guerrilla warfare, sabotage and subversion to their homeland soon.

A shortwave broadcast purporting to originate inside Cuba said this morning that commandos of the anti-Castro Student Directorate, still another exile group, had burned hundreds of acres of sugar cane in eastern Cuba.

Communique Due Later

The broadcast, monitored in Miami, also reported that saboteurs had burned three taxicabs in Havana and that anti-Castro slogans had been painted on walls in Cuba's capital city.

In Miami, officials of the Student Directorate declined to discuss the broadcast, but a spokesman said the organization would issue a communique later in the day.

Havana radio made no mention of the reported sabotage, but blared defiance to aggressors and announced new preparedness measures, including worker mobilization in Oriente Province, Cuba's largest and easternmost.

Asks Blood Donations

Broadcasts monitored in Miami did not mention the armed forces alert and cancellation of military leaves, but the Cuban Ministry of Health called for blood donations for "any emergency."

The Cuban Armed Forces Ministry did say that coastal artillery and military jet planes would hold maneuvers along the northwest coast of Cuba.

A spokesman at headquarters of Ray's organization in Miami said: "We are waiting to hear from him in Cuba. We have not heard from him."

Storm Damages

Mill at Napanoch was put out of commission for lack of water after lightning struck a small pump house about 500 feet north of the main mill. The pumps and motors were destroyed and the plant was shut down today for lack of water.

Catches Fire

It is believed the pump house was struck about 5 p. m. but the fire was not discovered until about 5:30 p. m. when a warning bell announced no water coming through to the mill. Employes went to the pump house which is located in a wooded area, and found the place on fire. Napanoch firemen were summoned. A spokesman for the company said it was not until the water in the long flume was exhausted that the alarm signal was sounded and the fire discovered about 5:30 o'clock. Efforts were being made today to secure new equipment so operation at the plant could be resumed. The plant operates on a 24-hour basis.

The U.S. Weather Bureau lifted its warnings of yesterday that tornadoes might strike along a wide belt through the Upstate region.

Before the "all-clear" from the bureau Tuesday night however, two tornado-like storms had hammered rural areas in Central New York and a series of turbulent thunderstorms had hit Upstate.

Bad Near Syracuse

The fiercer storms struck the hamlet of Cicero Center near Syracuse and roared through an area that included the village of Madison in Madison County.

No one was reported injured in either area.

The sky turned black at Cicero Center in early afternoon, residents said, and high winds, rain and hail punished the community.

The winds reached an estimated 70 miles an hour, the Onondaga County Sheriff's Department reported. They tipped over a 50-foot house trailer, uprooted a huge maple tree and knocked down several other trees.

Path 15 Miles Wide

The Madison storm left a path of destruction about 15 miles wide and of a length not immediately determined. It bowled over trees, ripped roofs from houses, overturned house trailers and cut electric power service.

Elsewhere across the State, thunderstorms brought high winds, lightning and soaking rains.

Hail pelted Massena and Jay, in the Adirondacks. Wind gusts reached 64 miles an hour in Binghamton, officials said.

In Schenectady, lightning damaged a house adjacent to a dwelling that had been struck by a bolt—but not damaged—a few hours earlier.

Some sections of the Adirondacks were hit with ice chunks measuring three-quarters of an inch in diameter.

Weather Bureau authorities said a cold front had moved south from Canada and spawned several of the storms.

The cold air moved behind the front and threatened to drop temperatures to the frost level in some areas tonight.

Kong Le Gives Up New CP

VIENTIANE, Laos. (AP) — The last positions held by neutralist forces in the Plaine des Jarres region have fallen to the Communists, Premier Souvanna Phouma announced today.

Neutralist Gen. Kong Le abandoned his emergency command post and withdrew further southwest in the face of continuing Communist pressure, a spokesman for Souvanna said.

A government statement said "following massive attacks, prepared well in advance launched by the Lao-Viet — Pathet Lao and North Vietnamese — troops against our neutralist positions in the Plaine des Jarres and Muong Phanh, the last neutralist positions existing on the plateau of Xieng Khouang have fallen."

Muong Phanh, perched on the western edge of the Plaine des Jarres, was Kong Le's original headquarters site which the Communists took Monday after an offensive over the weekend.

The statement did not pinpoint additional neutralist positions that have fallen. Earlier it was reported that the neutralists were clinging to several positions on the fringes of the plain, including Muong Kheung, the headquarters for Kong Le's armored regiment some 20 miles northwest of Muong Phanh.

Kong Le's withdrawal — his second in two days — was not reported caused by a fresh Red attack although two Communist battalions, roughly 800 men, were said to be close behind. It appeared to be that the neutralist general was seeking to avoid a showdown battle.

After the withdrawal from Muong Phanh on Monday, Kong Le set up a new command post in a hilltop position at Ban Khong, four miles southwest of Muong Phanh.

Western military observers had believed the neutralist position at Ban Khong would be defended.

NEW YORK (AP)—A strong rally by rails spearheaded a stock market rally early this afternoon. Trading was moderately active.

Industrials followed along, giving the list a pretty good rise after two days of sharp decline.

The rails nudged to new records on average even during Tuesday's falling market.

The rails attracted new speculative and investment demand, producing a string of gains which ranged well over a point.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .7 at 305.2 with industrials up .6, rails up 1.2 and utilities unchanged.

Steels, airlines, oils and coppers strung along in the advance while utilities did little. Tobaccos and building materials were mixed.

Texas Gulf Sulphur met some renewed demand, opened on a 19,000-share block and held a 1-point gain in early afternoon.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 2.35 at 819.63.

Zenith and IBM were ahead about 2 each, Polaroid and U.S. Smelting 3 apiece. Xerox was off a point.

Prices moved higher on the American Stock Exchange.

Corporate bonds were mixed. U.S. government bonds were mostly unchanged.

FIRE AT QUARRY STREET—A one-story frame and concrete block building at 20 Quarry Street, housing Anthony Gentile's venetian blind laundry was badly damaged by fire Tuesday afternoon, and a volunteer fireman was injured at the scene. Origin of the blaze is unknown, firemen said. The building was heavily involved in flame and smoke when firemen arrived. Cleansing equipment, an oil burner, and other contents were damaged along with the roof and roof timbers, window frames and other parts of the interior. A telephone call at 3:22 p. m., was followed by an alarm from Box 4616, at the J. Watson Bailey School. Units from Central and Wiltwyck Stations, Excelsior, Wiltwyck and Wicks volunteers responded, with the Union Company covering at Central Station. Michael Douglas, 19, of 434 Washington Avenue, a member of Excelsior Hose Company, suffered abrasions of the left leg and hip when he moved into the path of an engine from Central Station after leaving the Excelsior truck. He was taken to Kingston Hospital by Doctor's ambulance for emergency treatment. (Freeman photo)

McNamara Says

he thinks is pertinent to this inquiry."

Vinson said that he had asked McNamara to answer the points raised in various news reports about the deaths of the pilots who were flying T-28 propeller-driven planes in South Viet Nam.

The secretary was also in for questioning about over-all development of the U.S.-backed fight against communist guerrillas.

Intends to Continue

McNamara recalled the contribution of Kosciuszko, Van Steuben and Pulaski to the fledgling United States and said "the mission of our men in South Viet Nam is the same as the mission of those Europeans who came to assist us in our fight for liberty."

"Let me be clear," McNamara said. "We are sending highly skilled and trained men to Viet Nam. We intend to continue this commitment and the Vietnamese intend to win the fight.

"The road ahead will be long and hard. But it is not in our tradition to back off when the going gets tough."

This was McNamara's second consecutive day of testimony on Capitol Hill about the Viet Nam situation, and he returns Thursday.

Others Testify

McNamara and Secretary of State Dean Rusk, along with foreign aid director David E. Bell and Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, testified Tuesday before the House Foreign Affairs Committee.

They presented the administration's case for an additional $55 million in military aid and $70 million in economic aid for South Viet Nam.

It was McNamara's findings on his inspection mission to South Viet Nam that prompted President Johnson to ask for the stepped-up aid.

After the closed hearing, Rep. William S. Maillard, R-Calif., said the administration witnesses pictured a "very serious and difficult situation that has deteriorated since last fall."

"It is a strange thing," said Rep. Clemente J. Zablocki, D-Wis. "We are told the Viet Cong are losing battles and men but they seem to be winning the war."

Refers to Coups

Rusk told newsmen, "The Viet Cong have stepped up their efforts to try to take advantage of events in the last few months," a reference to the two coups in South Viet Nam.

Asked if the request for more men and money to help Viet Nam was related to the Communist advances in neighboring Laos, Rusk said, "They are not immediately connected but one has influence on the other."

McNamara said the Viet Cong's terror tactics are being held in check but he again cautioned that the war will be "long, hard and very difficult" but would end successfully.

DR. GRANT D. MORSE

Groundbreaking Set for School At Blue Mountain

Groundbreaking ceremonies for the proposed Dr. Grant D. Morse Elementary School at Carelas Corners, Blue Mountain are scheduled for 2 p. m. Thursday.

The new 21-room elementary school is estimated to cost $1,130,000.

Dr. Morse retired from the position of superintendent of schools late in 1962 after 39 years in the Saugerties system and 43 years of service as a public school administrator. He was succeeded by Dr. Dexter O. Arnold, who will also participate in the ceremonies.

Contractors bids were opened last week for general construction, plumbing, heating and electrical work.

The new elementary school is part of a $2,875,000 bond issue approved by the voters of the district in June 1963.

The expansion program includes a five-classroom addition to Mt. Marion School where construction has been underway for some time, and a 26-room addition to the junior-senior high school.

The elementary school is to be constructed on a 20-acre site at Carelas Corners on the Blue Mountain-Quarryville Road.

Note Purchase Of First Land for Wittenberg Park

Senator E. Ogden Bush and Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson announced today the signing of a purchase agreement for the first piece of land in the proposed 500-acre Wittenberg State Park in the Town of Woodstock.

According to the State Conservation Department a 52-acre parcel of land owned by Mrs. Noelle Gilmore of Mount Tremper has been signed under the State's Park and Recreation Land Acquisition Bond Act program.

Commenting on the proposed park, the legislators said the Wittenberg Park project has been enthusiastically received by scores of organizations and hundreds of individuals.

Resolutions favoring the park development have been passed by the Woodstock Town Board, the Town Board of Shandaken, the Catskill Mountain Development Council, the Empire State Grange, church and civic groups, many Chambers of Commerce, sportmen's clubs and various fire companies.

The Conservation Department also told Senator Bush and Assemblyman Wilson that negotiations are underway for several additional parcels and additional purchase agreements are expected to be signed in the near future. When completed, the park area will total approximately 500 acres and will include an 80-acre man-made lake on the Little Beaver Kill.

progress of plans for Ulster County Day at the Firemen's Home in Hudson. Any fire company which has available acts of entertainment was asked to contact the committee.

The Association will continue the annual Fire Prevention Week essay contest as in the past but there is a discussion on which school grades should be eligible for the contest. That matter will be decided later. There will be cash prizes to winners as in the past.

Visiting the Association were Joseph Wicker, president of the Orange County Association and John Satterlee of the Intercounty committee.

A report was given on the Hudson Valley Volunteer Firemen's convention which will be held at Lake George June 18-21. Henry Ulrich, Ulster County vice president of the H.V.V.A., reported there are 86 companies with 56 musical organizations signed up to date.

Fireman of Year Discussion

Designation of Fireman of the Year by the county association was discussed. It was suggested that the County association designate some fireman who has done some outstanding act in line of duty as the Fireman of the Year. No action was taken on the matter. It will be discussed further.

Ulster County Fire Coordinator Winfred Snyder expressed his thanks to the members of fire companies who have participated in searches for missing persons. Firemen are frequently called out to give assistance to the authorities in locating some person reported missing and that service is of great value to the community.

Eight New Members

Eight new members were received into the county association. They are Ralph Cardello, Eugene Picco, Harold Berean Jr., Frederick Pizzuto, Thomas Rizzo, Louis Timperio, Lester A. Rheal and Donald R. Vache all of Highland.

The June meeting will be held at Rosendale with Active Hose Company as host. The meeting will be held in Rosendale Grange Hall.

The meeting adjourned out of respect to the memory of Edward Underhill, Saugerties Exempt Fireman and Harold Denike of R. H. Snyder Hose Company of Saugerties and a past president of the County Association.

Couple Switch Shares To See U.S.A. on Income

Q) "I intend to retire in June, 1965, when I will be 55 years old. My pension will amount to about $5,300 a year. In addition, I have 100 Litton Industries, 20 General Electric, 100 Monroe Auto Equipment, and $7,800 in savings accounts. The reason I plan to retire so early is that my wife and I are well and would like to spend time traveling through the good old U.S.A. at leisure. We would rent our house, sell our stocks, and put proceeds and savings into income issues to supplement my pension. Any suggestions?" — J. T.

A) I sincerely hope you can carry out your fine program.

I suggest you leave at least $1,000 in savings. I would also hold Litton, a strong growth company, as a hedge against inflation.

Sale of your other stocks and the balance of savings would come to $9,500. I would invest this in Atchison Rwy., Libby-Owens-Ford Glass; and United Gas Improvement — average yield, 4.8 per cent.

Q) "Will you please tell me what happened to Graham-Paige? Also should we change our United Corp. for something with faster growth? I would also like your opinion on Van Raalte." — S. J.

A) I can tell you what happened to Graham-Paige, but I'm afraid you're not going to like it very much. This company acquired control of Madison Square Garden Corp., and merged with it on April 21, 1960, with Madison Square Garden Corp. the surviving company. Madison Square sells on N. Y. Stock Exchange around 1⅝, pays no dividends, and has been operating at a deficit. If you hold Graham-Paige, write to the Bankers Trust, New York, and learn the steps necessary to exchange your stock.

United Corp. is slow from a growth standpoint, and you might switch this holding into fewer shares of Texaco.

I believe Van Raalte shares are a sound holding for income and moderate growth.

Mr. Spear cannot answer all mail personally but will answer all questions possible in his column.

State Criticises Kingston Town

The State Department of Audit and Control has criticized the Town of Kingston for use of its highway equipment for "private purposes." In an audit covering a period from January 1, 1961 to Dec. 31, 1962, the report stated the town board May 19, 1961 apparently had authorized use of town equipment for private use.

The report also is critical of a payment of $247 in premiums for comprehensive fire, theft and collision insurance covering automobiles owned by town constables of the town.

Criticism also is expressed over payment of $420 to John Winne, a town highway employe for rental of a dump truck to the town.

The report also criticizes the community for failure to claim $335.58 from the state in state aid as a reimbursement for money it spent, on which the report alleges state aid was allowable.

Olive Purchasing Plan Under Fire

Town of Olive purchasing without advertising for bids for materials over $1,000 and a payment of $43.59 to Rudy DeSilva for supplying anti-freeze, hand tools and kerosene to the town highway department while DeSilva was the town's deputy town clerk, are criticized in a report from the State Department of Audit and Control.

The report notes that the town law provides that no claim or demand of any nature shall be audited in which any town officer has an interest, either direct or indirect, except for lawful salary and expenses. The report covers a period from Jan. 11, 1961 to Dec. 31, 1962. The report stated no record could be found where items over $1,000 had been advertised for.

Area Planners Hear State Men

A joint meeting of Town and Planning Board officials of Marbletown, Rochester, Rosendale and Wawarsing was held at the Accord Fire Hall recently to discuss town planning and to meet John S. Deffigos and Gerald Morrison of the New York State Department of Commerce, Bureau of Planning. John W. Scribano, chairman of the Town of Rochester Planning Board, presided.

Local Level Planning

Deffigos spoke on planning at the local level, the creation of a Planning Board for those communities which had none as yet, and their duties as advisory and regulatory bodies. He stressed the main object of such Planning Boards; to develop a master plan by making basic studies of the past and present, and a projection for the future, based on these studies. Other duties of a Planning Board were to draw up subdivision regulations, approve plans, make housing studies, draw up zoning regulations and compile a capital improvements program, as well as making up an official map. He warned, however, that such planning must be kept reasonable and within limits that a Town Board would accept, as the elected officials were responsible for implementing such planning by changes in organization, the adoption of new ordinances, etc. Many questions were asked and answered during this informal discussion.

Deffigos also spoke on obtaining a professional study and the financial arrangements for same in New York State, which were administered by the Department of Commerce.

The Housing and Home Finance Agency of the Federal Government provided money for planning to the states. New York were provided with ⅔ of the cost of professional planning, the State provided 1/6 of the cost and the community paid the remaining 1/6 of the cost. If a number of communities banded together to have one professional plan, this 1/6 of the cost could be shared, but a logical planning area would have to be involved, he said. Areas must be adjacent and have many features in common. The Bureau of Planning administered this program and acted as a bank; that is, the consultant would be paid by the state who would put up the Federal share and the town share. At the end of the study, the commuity would be billed for its share and the Federal Government would also be billed.

Certain Requirements

In order to qualify for such assistance, communities would have to meet certain requirements—such as cooperating with the state official, providing tax records, fire records, health records and also cooperating with each other by monthly meetings and working with each other. No community without a Planning Board authorized to approve plans would be considered and other requirements would have to be met. Deffigos, in answer to some questions, said that a professional planning consultant would be selected by the towns involved, even though he would be paid by the state. Professional studies were made over a period of two years, and towns would not be required to pay their share until the end of this period.

Official present were:

Wawarsing — George M. Barthel, Wilfred Kopp.

Rochester — Edward C. Carle, Gerald DeWitt, Franklin S. Kelder, Raymond Lawrence, Joseph Lee, Angela Pellicane, Samuel Reavin, John W. Scribano, Morris Sims and Winston Van Kleeck.

Today is Date Ray Scheduled in Cuba

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — This is the day on which Manuel Ray, who was the first minister of public works in Fidel Castro's government, promised to be fighting in Cuba against the Communist dictatorship of his former chief.

The Miami area's refugee colony was excited at the possibility that Ray, or one or two other groups pledged to act against Castro soon, would make some raid on Cuba during the day, the 62nd anniversary of Cuba's independence from Spain.

Headquarters of the three groups said only that they still plan to carry guerrilla warfare, sabotage and subversion to their homeland soon.

Pearson to Stand By Decision of Cabinet on Flag

OTTAWA, Canada (AP)—Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson's Liberal government is going to survive or fall soon on its proposal to give Canada a new maple leaf flag as part of its program to end the separatist movement in French-speaking Canada.

Pearson told the House of Commons Tuesday night he soon would have a Cabinet decision on the new flag's design to submit to the House and would stand on it as a matter of policy.

"I would make it quite clear," said Pearson, "that when the government submits to Parliament a matter of policy—and this is certainly a matter of policy—the government must stand or fall on the result of the decision of the House."

If former Prime Minister John Diefenbaker's Conservatives or other opposition parties oppose the new flag, he said, they could make the issue one of confidence. If the government loses a confidence vote, it must resign and new national elections must be held.

Pearson's 13-month-old government lacks a majority in Commons but has not lost a confidence vote yet.

Pearson also said he hoped "O Canada" could be declared the official national anthem at this session of Parliament. A member of the British Commonwealth, Canada has used "God Save the Queen" since it became a dominion in 1867.

Opposition to a new flag is spearheaded by the Royal Canadian Legion of war veterans, whose national convention booed Pearson in Winnipeg last weekend when he announced he was going ahead with his proposal.

The legion planned a barrage of telegrams to every member of Commons demanding that Canada's battle-honored Red Ensign be retained.

Capitol News in Brief

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON (AP) — In the news from Washington:

NATIONAL DEBT: Informed sources say the Treasury is expected to ask Congress to raise the national debt ceiling to $320 billion or more for the fiscal year that starts July 1.

The present temporary debt limit is $315 billion but this is scheduled to stop automatically to $309 billion on June 30. Unless Congress acts, the limit will revert the next day to the permanent ceiling of $285 billion.

The national debt now is $309.2 billion.

WAGE-PRICE: The AFL-CIO again has challenged President Johnson's appeal for labor and business to hold the wage-price line.

"Neither wage nor price restraints are tolerable in a free society except in the gravest national emergency, and then only when coupled with stringent restraints upon excess profits," the labor group's Executive Council said in a statement Tuesday.

PAPERWORK: Unnecessary reports to the government can cost a small businessman $3,000 to $5,000 a year, a spokesman told a House subcommittee on Government Statstics today.

George J. Burger, vice president of the National Federation of Independent Business, set this price in testimony prepared for the subcommittee's hearings on reduction of paper work.

Civil War Buffs Plan Shoot Test For '64 Skirmish

Sharpshooters from a wide area will participate in the North-South Civil War Skirmish, sponsored by the 120th New York Volunteer Regiment, to be held in June at Knaust Field, Saugerties.

Shooting on Saturday and Sunday, June 13 and 14, will begin at 11 a. m., and continue through to 4 p. m. on both days. A total of 40 invitations have been sent to muzzle-loading teams from New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Maine, Maryland and Virginia, and to date, a month ahead of the event, 18 teams have already accepted.

An outstanding feature will be a competition in which a muzzle-loading team will shoot against a team composed of members of the Saugerties Town Police Force. The muzzle-loaders, who will be top marksmen selected from the various visiting teams, will use authentic Civil War weapons, while the town police will shoot with their regulation service revolvers.

Other features of the weekend will be a parade, a military observance, cannon and individual competition, and team competition.

Visiting teams will appear in their various company uniforms, a colorful array which includes everything from Scottish kilts, hunter green of the Main Sharpshooters, to the dazzling Sauave balloon pants. Their ladies attend in their hoop skirts and 1861 gowns.

A Blue and Gray Ball will be held for team members and their families on Saturday night.

Refreshments will be available at the field and there is no admission charge. The public is cordially invited to attend.

CONFIRMATION AT WEST CAMP—Three members of the confirmation class of St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran Church, West Camp were received into the fellowship of the church Sunday during service observing Pentecost. The Rev. Alvin F. Messersmith, pastor, prepares to administer the rites of confirmation upon (from rear) Diana Lewis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Lewis; Irene Fischer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Fischer, and Barbara Emerick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Luther Emerick. They will receive their first Communion with the congregation on Sunday (Trinity Sunday) at the 11 a. m. worship service. Each received a gift from the congregation and a lawn reception was held after the service.

List Statistics On Teachers for Recognition Day

Governor Nelson A. Rockefeller this week issued a proclamation designating Teacher Recognition Day, May 19.

Dr. Dexter O. Arnold, superintendent of schools, has provided some statistics concerning teachers in the Saugerties Central Schools which may be of interest.

Saugerties teachers range in experience from the present year only to 41 years. Twenty-three are teaching their first year. Seventy-two have had five years or less over-all teaching experience. The median number of years of experience is six.

Experience in Saugerties parallels the total experience quite closely. Thirty-eight are teaching their first year in Saugerties. One has taught here 41 years. Ninety-one have had five years or less teaching experience in Saugerties. The median number of years in Saugerties is three, Dr. Arnold said.

One gains the impression, and rightfully so, that we have a faculty of late comers. However, we have a number of teachers who have had a wealth of experience: fifteen have had 25 or more years of experience, and 50 have had 10 to 25 years experience.

One hundred thirty teachers hold a bachelors or advanced degree and forty-five earned a masters degree.

Thirty-six women and eight men teachers are unmarried while 57 women and 48 men are married.

Dr. Arnold stated, "We have a fine faculty in Saugerties Central Schools. In the relatively short period I have been here I have come to respect and admire the attitude and dedicated spirit of many of our staff. I find a willingness to work, to improve, to cooperate in the many activities embodied in our schools.

There is a sincerity of purpose evident as our teachers go about their daily business of helping the youth of the district to achieve according to their abilities. I find a deep interest displayed in the pupils and their progress. The professional spirit is high and is enhanced by the Saugerties Central Schools Teachers Association.

"Teacher Recognition Day provides an opportunity to express our appreciation for the conscientious teachers to whose care we entrust our most precious resource. If your child's teacher is doing a good job, a short note or a pleasant word can do much for morale," Dr. Arnold said.

Board of Education President Robert Herb issued this statement today:

"Very often we are prone to realize the value of those who work with our children; be it an athletic group, a fraternal group, a religious group or a group known as "teachers". We neglect to praise or reward these people for their contribution to our childrens' growing up.

"On this annual 'Teacher Recognition Day' we salute the devoted people who day after day give of their knowledge in order that our children may grow intellectually, physically and morally.

"Their task is not easy! Our teachers must be many things: disciplinarians, diplomats, counselors, guides, instructors; they must have the patience of Job, the strength of Hercules, and a dedication that is far beyond the normal calling of the average citizen.

"Their service to the community is irreplaceable, their devotion unmatched by many others; their goal, the finest: to give to and expect from each pupil all that he is capable of achieving.

"To each and every one of our teachers in the Saugerties Central Schools System, my sincere thanks and appreciation for your part in the education of our youth.

Council, Churches Install Officers Monday, May 25

Saugerties Area Council of Churches will hold its annual meeting and installation of officers Monday 6 p. m. at Flatbush Reformed Church.

Ladies of the church will serve dinner and reservations should be made with Mrs. Zelda Boice by Friday. Pastors of member churches are urged to invite members of their congregations.

The same officers as last year will be installed by the Rev. Alvin F. Messersmith, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran Church, West Camp, a past president.

The officers are:

President — The Rev. Joseph Rainear, pastor of the Saugerties Methodist Church; first vice-president—the Rev. Henry Reinewald, pastor of Mt. Marion Reformed Church; second vice-president — the Rev. George Wood, pastor of Flatbush Reformed Church; secretary—Robert Myer, treasurer — R. Earle Haley.

Speaker for the evening will be the Rev. Roy Severance, pastor of Hyde Park Methodist Church, chairman of the N. Y. State Council Committee on Radio and Television. Those wishing to attend the meeting and not the dinner are cordially invited.

Miss Saugerties Pageant Slated Saturday, Sept. 19

This year's Miss Saugerties Pageant to chose the titleholder for 1965 will be held Saturday, Sept. 19 at the high school auditorium, it was announced at Tuesday night's Saugerties Area Chamber of Commerce meeting held at the municipal building.

Preliminary plans for the annual event were announced and committee meetings scheduled.

Executive Secretary Alfred R. MacMullen announced that organizations planning events are invited to make use of the Chamber's calendar of events to avoid conflicts with other organization events. Dates may be listed and checked by calling the secretary at the Chamber office, he said.

Christmas street lighting and the ban by the State Department of Public Works on strings across state highways was discussed at length.

A questionnaire was received from the State Council of Retail Merchants asking merchant's associations and Chambers to advise if they are effected by the order. On the basis of the poll the council will proceed with measures to alleviate the problem. Saugerties Chamber has a large investment in Christmas street lights which they purchased some years ago and have replaced from year to year.

Reports were also heard on the project to provide street lights at both entrances to the Thruway, due to dangerous conditions at these two points. The Chamber has been in contact with the State Department of Public Works regarding the problem.

The Chamber voted to again make a cash award to the local high school graduate, both girl and boy, who have excellent conduct records in school. A sum of $20 each will be awarded to a boy and girl graduate.

Chamber President Joseph Bosco Jr., presided.

Antique Show Set At VFW Hall on Friday, Saturday

The second annual VFW antique show and sale starting Friday for two days, will feature carnival glass, German bisque dolls, antique jewelry, bric-a-brac, oddities, primatives, china, coins, and other items. Doors will be open to the public from 10 a. m. to 9 p. m. each day at the Post Home, Livingston Street., Saugerties.

Twelve dealers from the Hudson Valley and Long Island will offer their wares in attractive displays. The two local florists, The Flower Garden and Overbaugh's, will add to the interest with live and artificial displays.

Sponsored by the Ladies Auxiliary to Saugerties Memorial Post 5034 VFW, this year's show promises the browser a day of enjoyment, according to the chairman, Mrs. Kay Helm. A nominal admission fee is charged. Refreshments will be available for snacking, lunching or a light supper.

All profits realized will be used in the Auxiliary's hospital and rehabilitation work.

Dealers participating include: Mrs. Anna Tice, Mrs. Margaret Ruth Smith, Mrs. Violet Martin, William Igoe and Mrs. Kay Helm, all of the Saugerties Township; Mrs. Rose Netburn of Kingston; Mrs. Lea Rapp of Athens; Mrs. Marianne Boeckel of Poughkeepsie; Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Schermerhorn of Raven; Jerry Mooney of Ravena; Mrs. Margaret DeCelle of Lynbrook, L. I., and Mrs. John Stromp of High Falls.

Blue Mountain Cub Scout Pack Lists Activities

Cub Pack 37 of Blue Mountain journeyed last week to Pleasant Valley Inn, Freehold on a swim outing. Parents and families joined in the car caravan with 20 cubbers.

The pack held its meeting at the Saxton Firehouse with the theme, Mardi Gras.

A grand parade was held around the hall for all cubbers in costume.

Cubmaster Calvin Valk listed future activities, a swim May 9, the family outing and picnic at Camp Tri-Mount May 23, and the round-up in June.

Scott Olsen was welcomed into the pack by David Bright and presented a Bobcat pin.

Scott Hill was awarded his Webelos Badge by Cubmaster Valk and encouraged to continue into Boy Scouting. Michael Munro was given his graduating certificate from cubbing.

Dens two, three, four and five created games in their projects and the pack was invited to play.

Den Chief Gary Shultis conducted the opening flag ceremony assisted by Rodney Lemon and Michael Munro.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Louise Shultis. Mrs. Marie Sheehan and Mrs. Doris Valk.

Blue Mountain Church Slates Firemen's Sunday

Firemens' Sunday has been scheduled for May 31 at Blue Mountain Reformed Church for officers and members of Centerville Fire Company at the 11:15 a. m. worship service.

An invitation has been issued by the Rev. August Pfaus Jr., pastor, who is fire company chaplain.

Dominic Crane Elected to Head St. Mary's P-TA

Dominic Crane will preside over the Parent-Teacher Association of St. Mary of the Snow school during the coming year.

Other officers elected at the meeting Sunday night were Walter Nealy, vice-president; Mrs. Paul Pavlovitch, secretary; Mrs. Frank Ruddy, treasurer; Kenneth Blundell, trustee for one year; and Warren Martin, trustee for two years.

The constitutional amendment calling for the selection of trustees was passed prior to the election of officers. The trustees will serve in an advisory capacity and provide "continuity of activity" according to the amendment framed by a committee under chairman James Garde.

Brown and green plaid jumper style outfits will be the new uniform for girls studying at St. Mary's, following a decision made at the meeting. The boys will wear charcoal grey trousers, along with their present white shirts. The new colors will become compulsory in September 1965.

The membership voted to assume financial responsibility for the public address system now in operation in the school. Contracts for maintenance of the system during and after the payment period will be investigated.

Since the educational programs of Channel 13 from New York are not now available with the Vidi-Comm hookup, this will be suspended until they can be received, according to an announcement by outgoing president Warren Martin. Martin also thanked Professor Merola for his work with the new St. Mary's band, and said that music lessons would continue during the summer for those interested.

Mrs. Pearl Christianna thanked all who donated and worked to make the recent bake sale a success. Mrs. Faye Washburn reported that the P-TA cookbook of over 100 pages is expected to be on sale at the June meeting.

The group voted to pay for the eighth grade diplomas, as has been done in the past, and to send a donation to the Saugerties Council of Campfire Girls.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Joan Staudiger and a committee of Sixth Grade mothers.

Wilbert Drescher Named to Head Kiskatom Vols

Wilbert Drescher was elected president of Kiskatom Fire Company at its recent annual meeting held at the firehouse.

The annual dinner will be held Thursday 5 p. m. at Jahn's Valley View Farm.

Also named were Donald Doney, vice president and Ronald Rieseberg, treasurer. Frank Dovigh was elected chief; Ronald Van Deusen, first assistant and James Katt, second assistant.

Viet Favors Cambodia Border Talk

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — A South Vietnamese spokesman at the United Nations says his government wants border talks with Cambodia and would welcome U.N. help to arrange them.

Pham Khac Rau, charge d'affaires of the South Vietnamese Embassy in Washington, stated this position in an interview Tuesday night after the Security Council opened debate on a charge by Cambodia that South Vietnamese raids across its border constituted aggression by South Viet Nam and the United States.

Rau denied the aggression charge. He said the border incidents arose because the Viet Cong Communists fighting to overthrow his government "have been able to use Cambodian territory as their sanctuary."

Rau said his government wanted to "remove the causes of these border incidents."

With the Soviet Union and Czechoslovakia voting no, the Security Council voted 9-2 Tuesday to let South Viet Nam join in the debate. The Saigon government first must send credentials authorizing a representative to speak for it since South Viet Nam is not a member of the U.N.

The debate was recessed until Thursday to await word from Saigon.

Gov. Reflects on Vote

Wallace Points To New Trend

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP)—The limp carnation was turning brown in his lapel, the coffee was cold in the stained cups littering his headquarters, the last echo of elation had died in a hoarse whisper of fatigue, and George C. Wallace's 10-week campaign in the North was, at last, finished.

No one, Wallace included, could know precisely what it meant or where it would all lead.

His own estimation was that the votes he got in Wisconsin, Indiana and Maryland demonstrated a reversal of white sympathy in the North for the Negro civil rights movements.

"I have shown," he said late Tuesday night after all the votes were counted and he was reflecting on the race in his strangely quiet motel room, "that sectionalism is not a factor in opposition to the trend of trying to solve everything by federal force.

"It is now evident that a new trend has been established, and it transcends sectional lines.

"This Maryland vote," he said, "should let them know in Washington and in both national parties that they can't get rid of us by calling us bad names.

"They called me a bigot, a liar, a racist, an agitator, a trespasser. They pictured my supporters with Ku Klux hoods. They called in 10 senators to beat us down, and yet," he said with an air of triumph, "a majority of the white people in Maryland gave me their support. I'm elated. That's far more than I ever expected."

43 PC for Governor

The Alabama governor won about 43 per cent of the vote in the Maryland Democratic presidential primary against Sen. Daniel B. Brewster, favorite-son stand-in for President Johnson. The state's Negro population is 17 per cent.

For one brief moment shortly after the polls closed Wallace sniffed an actual victory.

The first returns showed him leading Brewster—152 to 136 in one district, 194 to 69 in another, then some totals: Wallace 28,000 to 22,000 with 11 per cent of the vote in; Wallace 39,000 to 33,000 with 17 per cent counted.

The victory-inspired levity lasted about 30 minutes. Then it ended, almost abruptly, when an announcement came that with 41 per cent of the vote counted Brewster had pulled ahead.

Wallace was plainly disappointed, even though moments before the polls closed he had outlined once again, with paper and pencil, how it would be impossible for him to get a majority.

Mrs. Wallace, who accompanied her husband on his campaign swing through Maryland, sat quietly, looking fresh in a white dress with red and blue accents and an orchid corsage on her left shoulder. Later, when the last meeting with cheering supporters was over, she seemed genuinely relieved.

"I'll be glad to get back to Alabama and see the children," she said. "I can't remember the last time I was away for so long."

As for her husband, at this moment fatigued to the point of exhaustion, he clearly longed for more battles to join. But he refused to say what form they might take. One guess was that he will concentrate on expanding his unpledged elector movement, overwhelmingly successful in Alabama, to other Southern states.

Scranton Favors Alliance to Beat Barry Goldwater

NEW YORK (AP)—Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania says he approves of the alliance of the Rockefeller and Lodge forces in California in a move to beat Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona in the California presidential primary June 2.

Scranton, a potential compromise Republican candidate for president, who is on good terms with both the Goldwater and anti-Goldwater forces, said Tuesday he does not believe there is a "full-fledged" movement in GOP ranks to stop Goldwater.

'Logical' Move

He said the California support given to Gov. Rockefeller by the forces of Henry Cabot Lodge, ambassador to South Viet Nam, was a "normal and logical" move by those interested in the nomination. Rockefeller and Goldwater are the only candidates entered in the contest for California's GOP convention delegates.

Backers of Lodge, hoping to keep the GOP convention open, decided Monday to support Rockefeller in California in an effort to keep Goldwater from adding the state's delegates to his front-running national total.

Answering newsmen's questions, Scranton said he and his political associates are not involved in an anti-Goldwater campaign.

States His Thoughts

Scranton made the statements prior to a non-political luncheon at the Bond Club, where he was guest speaker.

At a news conference after the luncheon, Scranton said in effect that the "logic" of the Lodge forces' support of Rockefeller in California was this: if Goldwater won the crucial presidential primary in that state, he probably would go on to become the presidential nominee.

But if Rockefeller defeated Goldwater in California, the nomination race would be thrown wide open and Rockefeller, Lodge or someone else — including former vice president Richard M. Nixon — might well be nominated.

Dr. Locke Feted

Dr. William P. Locke was guest of honor at a dinner party Friday night. Members of the medical staff, the nurses' organization and administrative staff of Northern Dutchess Hospital paid tribute to the Hyde Park physician as he starts a long vacation with no office hours in the offing. The affair was held at the Nurses' Home. It marked Dr. Locke's semi-retirement from 30 years of service in this area. His office will continue to function under the direction of Dr. James P. Irwin and Dr. Graenum R. Schiff. Long devoted to sailing small craft, Dr. and Mrs. Locke will spend the next several months at Cape Cod. Later they plan to go to the Bahamas and the West Indies.

West Hurley

Recognition Day

In honor of Teacher Recognition Day proclaimed by Gov. Nelson Rockefeller the West Hurley P.T.A. feted the faculty and staff of the West Hurley School on May 12 at a luncheon. The buffet was delicious, and those who attended felt greatly honored by the gesture. In addition, corsages were also presented to the faculty in honor of the day.

The Country Fair held on May 9 was a huge success. A profit of more than $300 was realized and will be used for a school project. The committee wishes to thank all those who contributed their efforts.

P-TA officers for the 1964-65 school year will be installed at the final P. T. A. meeting of the year on May 26. The program for the evening will be a panel to discuss "Community Youth Activities."

On Wednesday, May 27, the West Hurley P-TA the West Hurley Fire Department and Mr. George Schroeder will offer a bicycle safety program at the West Hurley Fire House and the Spillway Fire House. The campaign will begin at 6:30 p. m. Those children who do not fulfill the safety requirements will be afforded another opportunity at a later date to qualify as a competent bicycle driver.

The Mid-Hudson District P-TA will hold its spring conference on June 9 at New Paltz. Officers and members of the executive committee will attend this meeting.

CHEVY II by Chevrolet
Go on an economy drive this vacation

Sure you can just about run a Chevy II on peanuts. But don't let its economy fool you. Because this frisky family car can take the whole gang along on any trip you want to make. In plenty of comfort and a whole lot of style.

Its range of power makes fun out of turnpikes and mountain roads alike. (Makes each gallon of gas work overtime, too!) Inside, a Chevy II Nova is tailored for travel. Child-proof upholstery, trip-size trunk and glove box, dual sun visors and deep-twist carpeting are just a few standard features.

That roomy, rugged Body by Fisher is as easy to look after as it is to look at. In fact, Chevy II virtually cares for itself, with a battery-saving Delcotron generator, self-adjusting brakes, long-life muffler and self-cleaning rocker panels that help prevent rust by flushing out salt and other corrosives.

There's a Chevy II for everyone—sedans, wagons and sport models. A price for everyone, too. Because now is Trade 'N' Travel Time at your Chevrolet dealer's. Time to get the most fun from your new car and make a great deal on your old one!

Of course you're not supposed to be so practical when you plan a vacation. But being this practical won't spoil a bit of the fun. Should add to it, in fact, for the rest of the year. And that's about fifty weeks' worth. Every year.

Baptists Urged To Take Active CR Fight Role

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—A Southern Baptist commission recommended today that the denomination's convention go on record in support of legislation guaranteeing legal rights of Negroes.

The commission apparently considered the recommendation the closest thing to endorsement of civil rights legislation that might be adopted by the convention, whose action is not binding on member churches.

The topic goes to the convention floor Thursday and is certain to cause heated debate.

Northern Baptists were urged by a Negro leader Tuesday night at their convention to take a more active role in the civil rights fight.

The Rev. Dr. Ralph B. Abernathy of Atlanta, a Baptist minister and associate of the Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., said: "It is a tragic fact that for too long the church has not been a voice, but rather an echo."

Racial issues have claimed a big part of the discussions of both the American (Northern) and Southern Baptist Conventions, meeting separately.

The civil rights recommendation was made by the Christian Life Commission of the Southern Baptist Convention, largest Protestant denomination in the United States, with more than 10 million members.

Rebels Meet in Hills

ADEN, Federation of South Arabia (AP)—About 300 rebel tribesmen have gathered in the Radfan hills, prompting British speculation that they may be discussing peace overtures to the government of the Federation of South Arabia.

The British army went into action against the rebels three weeks ago to secure the desert road linking Aden with Dhala to the north.

Monroe-Woodbury Rejects School Again

MONROE, N.Y. (AP) — For the second time in two months, voters in the Monroe-Woodbury School District have rejected a bond issue to construct a new junior high school.

In a referendum yesterday on the $2.5 million proposal, 927 votes were cast against the bond issue and 647 for it.

Troopers Probe Highland Fire

A fire early this morning in the old pump house of the Highland water department on the New Paltz road, is under investigation by State Police.

Highland firemen were called to the pump house at 12:13 a. m. today where is was found the premises had been entered and fire set to the place. It was reported that the windows of the pump house and other damage had been done. Firemen under the direction of Chief Fred Visconti responded. The recall was sounded at 12:58 a. m. The fire and damage was reported to apparently be the work of vandals.

Ferris's Wheel

BLOOMINGTON, Ill. (AP)—The World's Columbian Exposition held in Chicago in 1893 recalls memories for Lura Eyestone.

One of the highlights of her trip to the fair was riding the Ferris wheel which was built by G. E. Gale Ferris, a mechanical engineer from Galesburg, Ill., especially for the Columbian Exposition.

It was 268 feet high and carried 36 cars. Each car could accommodate 60 persons.

Miss Eyestone said the cars were red-carpeted.

The wheel was sold for scrap after it was used in the St. Louis exhibition in 1904.

Caballeros Will Perform at Corps Meet on May 30

Featuring a special exhibition by the Hawthorne Caballeros of Hawthorne, N. J., and five other leading corps from the east competing for the first place award, the 10th annual Pageant of Champions will be held Memorial Day at 8 p. m. in Dietz Stadium, Kingston.

The glittering marching and musical spectacle is sponsored by the Criterions, a corps comprising personnel from the Mid-Hudson Valley area which, this year for the first time, will be affiliated with Kingston Post 150 of the American Legion.

The Kingston pageant will be basically the same show scheduled May 23 at New York City's Shea Stadium, scene of a huge drum corps and band festival. While the Caballeros will not compete in the Kingston pageant on the holiday night, their return appearance has been long awaited by the thousands of patrons of the annual show.

The Caballeros are known for their famed Latin-American beat. Their exciting and colorful unit has produced six national championships.

The competing units in the Kingston show will include the Marksmen of Springfield, Mass.; the Carver Gay Blades of Newark, N. J.; the Stateliners of Byram, Conn.; the Vagabonds of Torrington, Conn., and the Wanderers of New Rochelle.

The Marksmen, one of the outstanding corps in the Bay State, feature a new "Stereo in Motion," in their 1964 show. The Gay Blades, who have been acclaimed for their showmanship in past Kingston performances, captured the Northeastern Circuit championship in 1959 and successfully defended their title a year later.

The Stateliners accent jazz music, accompanied by a smart precision drill. The Vagabonds, another Connecticut corps, were one of the finalists last year in the Northeastern Circuit championship at Riverside Park in Springfield, Mass.

The Wanderers enjoy tremendous popularity in Westchester County. They blend a very enjoyable repertoir of Broadway show tunes with an eye-striking precision drill.

The Kingston drum corps pageant annually attracts upwards of 7,000. Reserved tickets are now on sale in Kingston at Tommy Maines Sports Shop, 359 Broadway; Rossi's Music Store, 49 North Front Street; Potter Brothers sporting goods at 294 Fair Street, or Fred Tierney, 61 Smith Avenue.

Overseer Reports Small Profit for President's Wife

BILLINGSLEY, Ala. (AP)—Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson's farm in Alabama brought her a net profit of only $284.23 last year, the overseer of the property said Tuesday.

Wallace Canterbury, the overseer, said Mrs. Johnson's gross income from the farm in 1963 was $2,463.41 and her expenses $2,179.18.

The farm came into the limelight recently when Reps. David T. Martin, R-Neb., and M. G. Snyder, R-Ky., described the tenants on the Johnson property as impoverished and their homes as tumbledown shacks.

A White House spokesman answered the charge by calling the rental of the homes and plots of land to tenants for only $60 a year a humanitarian gesture on the part of the First Lady.

The overseer added that there are tenants living on the property for whom Mrs. Johnson wants to provide a lifetime home.

Canterbury said he tried to persuade Mrs. Johnson to put the farm in the soil bank when he became manager five years ago. He said she could have realized as much as $5,000 annual profit that way.

"But she decided against it because she would have had to displace the tenants and also because of her attitude toward accepting that much government aid," Canterbury said.

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The problem of playing a recent legend faces talented, Alabama-born Dean Jones.

The actor leaves next month for Madrid and Viet Nam to portray the leading role in "The Tom Dooley Story." It's the best chance of his career, yet he admits that he was reluctant to take it.

"How do you portray a saint?" he asked.

Indeed, Dooley did appear saint-like, a dedicated Navy doctor who turned his back on the prospect of a prosperous practice at home to return to Laos and try to lend medical assistance. But Jones researched deeper.

"I found out that Dooley was an intensely human being," Jones said. "He apparently tried to hide his altruistic nature behind a flip image. He seemed to be afraid that people would get maudling about him.

"I had worried that he would have turned out to be a one-dimensional character. He isn't that at all."

Jones has read all of Dooley's books. He has seen all the film on Dooley he could find. This includes a "This is Your Life" show, two television documentaries and some Navy footage.

"The Navy stuff was the most useful," said Jones, "because it caught him unposed. The camera panned around and there he was treating a woman with bound feet. That gave me a chance to observe the real essence of the man."

Heads UR Officials

UTICA, N.Y. (AP) — William Warner of Mount Vernon is the new president of the New York State Association of Urban Renewal Officials.

Warner, elected Tuesday, succeeds George McCulloch of Syracuse.

Also elected at the windup of the group's three-day meeting were Joseph Leone of Albany, vice president, and James Connors of Mechanicville, secretary.

About 200 persons attended the meeting.

Orientation Is Held at School

An orientation session was held Thursday, May 14 at the New Paltz Central School. The students taking part in this session were the eighth grade students of St. Joseph's Parochial School who will be going to the Central School next fall.

The group was given welcome remarks by Bruce Grey, student council president. He then introduced John L. Wyman, high school principal who explained the administrative policy of the school. Miss Barbara A. Berlin, guidance counselor made remarks concerning the guidance services available to the students.

Extra-curricular opportunities were given by seniors active in the projects which they discussed. Arthur Stegen explained the boys athletic program. Jane Redfern covered girls athletics. The club program was discussed by Scott Yaeger. Linda Dyer, editor of the Huguenot made remarks concerning opportunities in the literary field. Carol Bond, representative of the music department, explained the music program.

Thomas P. Benenati, guidance director, showed slides covering the facilities, services, curricular and co-curricular offerings.

A tour of the school building was conducted by student guides. After the tour refreshments were served and entertainment from the Festival of Arts Presentation under the direction of Mrs. Brita Reed was presented.

First in Art Series Is on Display Here

The art department of the New Paltz Central School announces the first in a series of exhibits.

Mrs. Margaret Lyon is showing a group of recent paintings and drawings in the main hall of the school. Mrs. Lyon is the wife of Professor Judson Lyon of the State University College. She formerly taught art at the New Paltz High School and is currently teaching art in the Highland Elementary School.

During the coming year the art department hopes to sponsor further shows in the visual arts.

Drill Team Elects New Officers for Year

Officers for 1964-65 school year were elected at a recent meeting of the drill team of New Paltz Central School.

Wendy Carlsen is president; Jackie Stone, vice president; Kathy Riche, secretary-treasurer; Bonnie Thoben, drill captain; Beth Carvey, representative to music council.

The drill team performs at athletic contests and will march in the Memorial Day parade. Paul Steiner, instrumental music instructor is advisor to the drill team.

Band and Chorus To Perform at Fair

The concert band and the high school mixed chorus of the New Paltz Central School have accepted an invitation to perform at the New York State Pavilion of the World's Fair at 3 p. m. on Saturday, May 23. The students will be accompanied by the faculty of the music department, a group of parents and teachers. They will depart from New Paltz at 7:30 a. m. and leave the Fair at about 10 p. m. for the return trip.

Plan Car Wash

The New Paltz Central School Safety Patrol will sponsor a car wash on Saturday, May 23 at the rear high school parking lot from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m. The money will be used to send a member of the patrol to the National Safety Conference this summer.

Legion Auxiliary Announces Girls State Delegate

Miss Victoria Burkhart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. Wade Burkhart, of Palaphene Road, New Paltz, has been selected to attend the 1964 session of 'Empire' Girls State to be held at Elmira College, in Elmira, June 19 through June 27.

Miss Burkhart, a junior at New Paltz Central High School was selected by the faculty and Principal John Wyman. She will be sponsored by New Paltz Sullivan-Schafer Unit No. 176 American Legion Auxiliary.

"Tory" as she is more familiarly called by her classmates was chosen upon the basis of leadership, scholarship, courage and honesty as established by the American Legion Auxiliary Department of New York.

Girls State is a mythical 51st State wherein through actual participation the delegates share the duties, responsibilities and privileges of American citizenship. The girls actively participate in the functioning of local, county and state government.

Free Programs at Stake

Battle Rumbling Over Pay Video

By PHILIP J. KEUPER

NEW YORK (AP) — A big battle is rumbling over pay television.

At stake is perhaps the future of commercial television, the kind that beams programs free into the nation's sets.

Many in Fight

Already in the fight are citizen's groups, movie theater owners and the National Association of Broadcasters. On the sidelines are the federal government, the major television networks and television executives.

What is involvd?

Mainly a new company called Subscription Television, Inc., headed by Sylvester L. Weaver Jr., former president of the National Broadcasting Co. Weaver says he aims to turn pay television from a novelty into a paying business.

The job will take considerable salesmanship. Many Americans today shrug off pay television with the question: Why should I pay to see television when I can see it now for free?

Quality Is Pledged

"Quality," answer pay television spokesmen. "We'll offer special sports events, first-run films, ballet, opera, Broadway plays, all uninterrupted by commercials."

If pay television is sold to the public, say its critics, it could change much of the entertainment industry.

Movie theater owners see the dollars going into pay television coin boxes or for monthly bills for programs.

The major television networks and the National Association of Broadcasters claim successful pay television eventually would buy away the best of the talent from free television, making the public pay for what it used to see for nothing.

The National Broadcasting Co. and Columbia Broadcasting System say one thing is certain: If pay television proves to be an overwhelming competitive force, they will join it.

"Eventually," says Leroy Collins, president of the National Association of Broadcasters, "pay television could actually destroy free television as we know it today."

Repercussions Due

The first repercussions are due this summer in California. Starting in July, Subscription Television, Inc., plans to bring three channels of closed-circuit pay television to at least 7,000 homes in Los Angeles and San Francisco. By the end of this year the company hopes to have 70,000 sets in the two cities wired for pay television; in five years, 1.5 million sets in California and 10 million in the nation.

"In 10 years," said Weaver in an interview here, "half of the sets in the nation could be receiving pay television."

So far, pay television hasn't proved itself. Other pay television operations in Chicago in 1957 didn't last.

Two pay television stations operate today. One, near Toronto, Canada, began in 1961 with 5,000 subscribers and now has 3,500. The other, in Hartford, Conn., began in 1962 with 300 customers and today has 5,000.

25th Annual Fete

Restaurateurs To Hear Albany Lawmaker May 26

One of the guest speakers at the silver anniversary dinner-dance of the Ulster County Hotel and Restaurant Liquor Dealers Association this year will be Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson (R-Woodstock).

The veteran Albany lawmaker will address the restaurateurs during the 25th annual event next Tuesday night, May 26, at Sparky Greco's Flamingo Restaurant, Route 9W, Saugerties Road.

Other scheduled speakers include Fred Temming, president of the state hotel and restaurant liquor dealers and Thomas Lewis, commissioner of the State Liquor Authority.

A cocktail party will start next Tuesday's anniversary program at 7 p. m. and dinner will be served at 8. Festivities will continue through 2 a. m.

Assemblyman Wilson, who has served in the Assembly since 1953, is a member of the powerful ways and means committee which handles finances of the state and also served as a member and chairman of the penal institutions committee, general laws committee and the insurance committee.

The Woodstock legislator was recently named to head an eight-county area Republican campaign committee to stimulate the election of GOP assemblymen in counties which have produced low GOP majorities. He was named to the post by Assembly Speaker Joseph F. Carlino.

KENNETH L. WILSON

Newspaper Aid Vital

Editor, The Freeman:

I would like to extend a word of "thanks" to you and your newspaper for the assistance you provided by releasing information to the taxpaying public during the recent income tax filing period.

As you are well aware, the Internal Revenue Service is continually striving to improve voluntary compliance the most valuable asset we have in our tax system. Your assistance has been most important in helping us to improve compliance and achieve even higher levels.

Let me assure you that no one realizes better than the Internal Revenue Service how much help the press can be, for we fully understand that our tax system rests not just on words and rules and systems of organization, but on an enlightened citizenry that has been informed of its obligations and responsibilities and understands that a strong and sound Federal tax system is essential to America's future.

Very truly yours,

Power for the Cause

May 18, 1964

Editor, The Freeman:

Now that one of the biggest hurdles of Kingston's urban renewal program, the Common Council Public Hearing on Broadway East, has been cleared with encouraging public response, I want you to know how much I have valued your support.

The potency of your pen, as evidenced by your pre-hearing editorial, still remains as the most outstanding opinion moulding force in our community, and I am very grateful for your contribution to this very vital renewal program.

While I will have no official relationship with the urban renewal program when it moves into the execution phase, I think you know how much a part of my hopes for this City have gone into this endeavor over the years, and I feel confident that with a man such as you at the helm of The Freeman, these hopes will be fulfilled.

Again, my deepest appreciation goes to you for your help.

Sincerely yours,
ALEXANDER YOSMAN,
Urban Renewal Advisor

Zephaniah Lodge To Hear Human Rights Chairman

Guest speaker for the May meeting of Zephaniah Lodge 131, B'nai B'rith, to be held Monday at 8:30 p. m. at the Jewish Community Center, will be the Rev. Roy A. Hassel, pastor of Trinity Methodist Church and chairman of the Mayor's Committee on Human Rights.

Subject of the Rev. Mr. Hassel's talk will be Basic Necessities for Human Rights.

Immediate past president of the Kingston Area Council of Churches and a member of the Kingston Rotary Club, the Rev. Mr. Hassel is active in many other civic activities.

Refreshments will be served following the meeting.

Marvin I. Millens, Lodge first vice-president, will be chairman for the meeting in the absence of Lodge President Charles S. Ronder who is spending a two-week holiday in Mexico with his wife.

All members of the Lodge and interested guests are invited to attend.

Threat of Firehoses Breaks Demonstration

SCHENECTADY, N.Y. (AP)—About 200 Union College students marched into downtown Schenectady early today and sat in a main street, blocking traffic.

The students scattered and returned to the campus when firemen arrived to aim hoses at the mob, police said.

Police arrested nine students and charged them with creating a disturbance.

The march apparently was spontaneous, authorities said, and without any apparent purpose.

Town of Esopus Poppy Sales Set

"Honor the War dead and aid war's living victims," is the appeal of the women of the American Legion Auxiliary here and throughout the nation as they distribute veteran-made replicas of the famous Poppy of Flanders Field and receive contributions for the Auxiliary sponsored rehabilitation and child welfare funds.

"We would like all residents of our town to wear poppies this year," said Mrs. Lester Sanford, poppy chairman of the Town of Esopus American Legion Auxiliary Unit 1298. "This custom began in 1919 during the home-coming celebrations for World War 1 combat divisions when poppies were worn in memory of those who did not come back," Mrs. Sanford said.

The poppies are made by disabled war veterans working in hospitals and convalescent workrooms. Thousands of veterans unable to do work have been given employment making them for the Legion Auxiliaries throughout the nation.

Poppies will be offered at business places, post offices and some shopping centers throughout the Town of Esopus and all contributions received will be used for the work of the Auxiliary.

C/P Guild Offers New Pamphlets for Expectant Mothers

As a community service, the C/P Guild for Handicapped Children has sent pamphlets on prenatal care to area physicians practicing obstetrics for distribution to their patients.

"Do's and Don'ts for the Most Important 9 Months in any Mother's Life" was written by United Cerebral Palsy Associations, Inc. and stresses certain phases of prenatal care that many expectant mothers thoughtlessly disregard.

Statistics show that every 53 minutes a child is born with cerebral palsy. Current research indicates that most cases of cerebral palsy occur before birth. Such brain injuries may be result from lack of oxygen from the mother to the unborn baby. Often caused by Rh blood type incompatibility and German measles during early pregnancy.

During her first three months of pregnancy an expectant mother should avoid contact with people having influenza, chickenpox and German measles. She should avoid exposure to known toxic substances such as lead (paints), chemicals (cleaning fluids) and unnecessary X-rays. She should avoid taking drugs not specifically perscribed by her doctor. Heavy smoking increases the likelihood of premature birth, often a cause of cerebral palsy.

The C/P Guild is associated with the CP Treatment Center (UCP of Ulster County, Inc.) 400 Broadway, Kingston. The CP Treatment Center, a non-profit organization, is the only qualified agency in the area maintaining a full time professional staff and facilities for the diagnosis and treatment of cerebral palsy and other handicapping involvements in children. Some of the physical disabilities treated are cerebral palsy, birth defects, muscular dystrophy, speech disorders, hearing impairment, and post-poliomyelitis.

The Center maintains a growing nursery school for handicapped children as well as separate departments in physical therapy, speech therapy and conservation of hearing. Lending of equipment (wheel chairs crutches, braces) is commonplace at the CP Treatment Center.

The CP Clinic serves both Ulster and Greene counties and as its services are becoming better known, and with referals from area physicians and school nurses the clinic's average caseload increases sharply from month to month with staff and Center working at capacity and with waiting lists at hand.

Vincent-Copp Nuptials Are Announced; Ceremony at Trinity Methodist Church

Miss Shirley Louise Vincent, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Kohl of 94 Furnace Street, this city, exchanged marriage vows with Leonard Albert Copp, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Egan of 52 German Street, also this city, on May 10 at 2 p. m. in the Trinity Methodist Church.

Officiating clergyman was the the Rev. Roy Hassel. Mrs. Raymond G. Ingersoll was the organist.

White gladioli decorated the altar for the occasion.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of Alencon lace fashioned with a portrait neckline and fitted bodice, long tapered sleeves, bouffant skirt of lace over bridal taffeta ending in a circular train. An imported stylized headpiece held her triple tiered silk illusion veil and she carried a bouquet of white roses and pompons.

Miss Joan Rappleyea of 116 S. Manor Avenue, this city, was the maid of honor. She wore a gown of larkspur blue organza over matching taffeta. It was a street length sheath with detachable floor length overskirt. Her headpiece of tulle petals and dewdrop pearls held a short circular veil. She carried pink mums with pompons.

Miss Marilyn Bowers of Kingston and Miss Joan Hung of Zena were the bridesmaids. They wore romance blue gowns and carried yellow mums with pompons.

Richard Fox of Hudson Street, this city, was best man, and the ushers were Horace H. Vincent of Port Ewen, brother of the bride, and George Albright of Kingston.

Approximately 75 guests were entertained at a reception given in Ang-Els.

The bride was graduated from Kingston High School and is employed by Montgomery Ward and Company. Her husband, an alumnus of KHS, served with the U. S. Army in Germany for three years and is now employed by Utility Platers.

Mr. and Mrs. Copp will be at home at 143 Main Street, Kingston.

Prospective Bride Of Donald J. Purdy

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald A. Krom of 172 Downs Street, this city, announce the engagement of their daughter Linda Gale, to Donald J. Purdy, son of Mrs. Elizabeth Purdy of 28 Stuyvesant Street, this city, and the late Lester Purdy.

Miss MacDonald attended New Paltz High School and Mr. Purdy is a graduate of Kingston High School. He also served with the U. S. Air Force and is now employed by Franklin Pharmacy.

A rainbow wedding is planned for May 31 at the Church of the Nazarene in New Paltz.

A bridal shower was given for the bride-elect recently by her sister Donna MacDonald at 172 Downs Street.

Among those attending were Mrs. Nina Krom, Mrs. Addie Keator, Mae Emma Raff, Maude Blakeslee, Bessie Walker, Kay Lee, Janice Schultz, Noreen Mower, Marie Doud, Mrs. Donna Healy, Miss Doris Walker, Lenore, Lee, Cindy and Lillian Raff, Diane Donahue, Sharon Naccarato, James Smith, Jerry Krom, Jack Boughton, Mark and David Gorsline.

A SENSITIVE FRIEND

Q: I belong to a bridge club and the meeting was at my house last night. Yesterday afternoon a friend called and said that she was coming over to see me that night. I told her that I was having the bridge club at my house and asked her to come another night. I understand she was taken offense at my not asking her to come. Will you please tell me if I was wrong?

A: You were not wrong at all and she has no cause to take offense at your asking her to come another night.

Remembering Her Doctor

Q: My doctor who has been treating me for the past five years for a chronic ailment, is now himself in the hospital for surgery. I would like to know if it would be proper to send him a basket of fruit while he is recuperating. I know him only professionally but I would like to send him something in appreciation for his many kindnesses to me. I might ad that he is married and I am not. Would this fact make any difference?

A: Even though he is married and you are not, there will be no impropriety in your sending him a basket of fruit with a message of good wishes for his speedy recovery.

Hasn't Met Cousin's Bride-to-be

Q: My cousin is going to be married soon. His bride-to-be is from another city and I have not as yet met her. I would like to know where to send the wedding present? Would it be proper, under the circumstances, to send it to the bridegroom?

A: Even though you have never met her, you should send your present to the bride-to-be. If necessary, ask you cousin for her address.

Early Summer Fruit Selection

After winter's rather limited fresh fruit supplies, early summer brings a wider selection. Prominent choices in markets include bananas, rhubarb, strawberries, and watermelon. All of these but bananas are very seasonal, says Louise M. Kakargo, assistant home demonstration agent.

Bananas come to market in fairly steady amount the year around, although slightly more arrive during spring and early summer than other times of the year. The constant rainfall and favorable growing temperatures of the tropics contribute to the even supply.

The major buy time for fresh rhubarb is May and June when nearly two-thirds of the year's supply arrives, mainly from nearby areas. Some hothouse rhubarb is available from January through April; the fruit is usually unavailable from September through December.

While shoppers will find some strawberries in markets the year around, more than half of the annual supply arrives in May and June.

Watermelon is available from May through August, but virtually off the market in late fall and winter. Florida supplies many of our watermelons; growing conditions there have been favorable this season. The season was somewhat late but is now well under way.

Pointers

Some Shopping and Handling Bananas: Look for firm bananas, completely enclosed in peel. Handle bananas carefully at home, since the interior of the fruit is delicate and may bruise if the peel is pressed.

Bananas are a year around economical fruit choice and have decreased in price over the past 15 years.

According to the most recent release on United States retail prices from the Bureau of Labor Statistics, bananas in January 1964 cost about 2 per cent less than they did during the base period years 1947-49, averaged.

Rhubarb: Marketing specialists say that there are three main clues to tender rhubarb. First, look for stalks with a pale red or green color. Intense color means the rhubarb is over developed and so tough and stringy. Also, choose thin stalks rather than thick ones and stalks with small leaves rather than large.

Strawberries: Dryness is a key to choosing quality strawberries; moist berries are past prime condition. At home, wash the berries if you plan to use them immediately. Otherwise, remove any film overwrap from the container, sort the berries, and refrigerate them dry.

Watermelon: Choosing watermelon has been eased by the trend toward marketing the melons as cut pieces. This makes possible the purchase of a smaller amount of melon than the whole, usually 20 to 30 pounds in size, and assists selection for quality.

When you buy watermelon by the piece, note the color of the cut surface. It should not be light in color, a sign of immaturity, nor should it contain white streaks. A melon with hollowed areas or cracks on the cut surface may be dry. Ideally, the seeds should be dark, almost black; white seeds are a sign of immaturity.

The less watermelons are handled between field and store the less likelihood of quality damage. Minimum handling has been the marketing trend in recent years. More and more watermelons coming from Florida are placed directly into trailers after harvest and the trailer in turn loaded on a flat rail cars. This eliminates extra loading of melons onto and off trucks.

Edward G. Williams Gets Faculty Citation

HANOVER, N. H.—Edward G. Williams, Dartmouth College senior from Rosendale, N. Y., has been awarded a faculty citation for distinguished work in a military science course during the winter term here.

Mr. Williams was cited by Maj. Elmer W. B. Hassett, assistant professor of military science, "for organizing the annual pre-camp training bivouac for juniors." A cadet lieutenant colonel in the Army ROTC Brigade, Mr. Williams, despite other commitments and a leg operation, "actively supervised all phases of the bivouac . . . the finest yet conducted."

According to Thaddeus Seymour, dean of the college, citations are given on the average to one student in 100 in any single course. They are made part of the student's permanent college record.

Mr. Williams, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter G. Williams of Williams Lake, has been active at Dartmouth with the varsity ski team and with Kappa Kappa Kappa fraternity. He is a 1960 graduate of Kingston High School.

Benton to Address Area Study Council

Charles Benton, president of Encyclopedia Britannica Films, Inc., of Wilmette, Ill., will speak May 28 at 7:30 at an audio-visual conference of the Mid-Hudson School study Council at State University College, New Paltz.

The meeting will be attended by some 200 persons—members of the Study Council—plus board of education members and school administrators from the area.

Benton, who assumed the presidency of EBF last February, is a leader in the audio-visual profession and an expert on the application of the new teaching media. He is a graduate of Yale University and has been a fifth grade teacher in Evanston, Ill.

Summer Classes Will Be Held in Kingston, Deadline Is June !

The Kingston Board of Education has approved a program of summer instruction for elementary pupils during July and part of August 1964, depending upon the interest of parents and the number of boys and girls who may register for the program. The State Education Department has also given its approval of the program.

It is planned that elementary classes would meet at the George Washington School for 2½ hours daily (9-11:30 a. m.) beginning July 6 and ending August 7, 1964. The registration fee will be $3 per child (without refund) for any who may wish to take advantage of the program. The fee for children living outside of the Kingston Consolidated School District will be $20. Registration fee, if possible, should accompany application. Make checks payable to Kingston City Schools Consolidated.

Classes will be formed in groups of 20 per class for as many classes as there may be interest. These classes would be grouped by age and grade. The program would consist of instruction in reading, spelling, a library period, arithmetic and science. However, the 2½ hour instructional period can be made flexible depending upon the needs and interests of the students. Parents are assured that certified teachers will handle the instruction.

It will be the parents' responsibility to provide transportation where needed.

Registrations should be completed by Monday, June 1.

South Has Only One Opportunity

Most South players in the Charity Challenge Cup competition will find themselves in four spade contracts. If West opens anything but the ace of diamonds he will have no way to make his contract. Even if he opens the ace of diamonds and continues the suit, he is unlikely to find the winning line of play.

Boris Schapiro of England did in a match against France in the 1949 European championships.

Opening lead—♦ A

The bidding went as in the box. West opened the ace of diamonds and continued the suit. Boris ruffed, led a spade to dummy's king and came back to his ace. Then he led a low heart. West's queen lost to dummy's ace and Boris was ready for the key play.

He remembered that West had opened the bidding with three hearts and that West was vulnerable. He was sure that West would not have made that bid with less than seven hearts, therefore, East had played his only heart. Also West had shown the ace of diamonds. If West also held the king of clubs, he would have opened with one heart, not three hearts. Boris was sure that East held the king and plenty of other clubs in back of dummy's queen.

Boris simply led dummy's queen of diamonds. East played the king and Boris discarded a club. East was in the lead with no place to go. A club lead would run around to dummy's queen, a diamond would allow a ruff in dummy and a discard of a club. Either way Boris was going to make his contract.

Power Squadron Will Go to Fair Saturday

Commander George Stanley of the Mid-Hudson Power Squadron has announced plans of the local Squadron to participate in the United States Power Squadrons Day at the World's Fair, Saturday, May 23.

The trip to the fair will include a General Electric, "Welcome United States Power Squadrons" in lights and a private showing of Disney's "General Electric Extravaganza."

At 10:30 a. m. the 50th anniversary flag raising ceremonies of the USPS will be held at the Transportation and Travel Pavilion on Avenue, of United Nations, south. There also will be an inspection of the USPS Exhibit.

Later in the evening at 11 the General Motors Corp. will give a private showing of the G. E. Futurama for USPS members.

The U. S. government neither purchases, nor sells rare coins.

Let Baby Animals Be

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The State Conservation Department has warned hikers and sightseers against "animal napping."

The department noted Tuesday that the number of baby wild animals taken from their homes in the fields and woods usually increases about this time each year.

Aside from being dangerous, it is a misdemeanor to capture and harbor wild animals, the department said.

Dear Abby . . .

You Did, Lady!

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Could you please tell me if I did wrong? My son had a serious back operation last March. When he started to feel a little better, I brought a large stuffed rabbit (about 22 inches tall) to the hospital thinking it would cheer him up as it was during the Easter season. The rabbit did not look childish in my opinion. My son is 44 years old. He was embarrassed and insisted I take the rabbit home. Do you think this was a babyish gift or not?

LE MARS

DEAR LE MARS: Stuffed animals are usually for young children. (Most 44-year-old men prefer live bunnies.) A postoperative patient is in no mood to split his stitches over an Easter rabbit, so don't hold your son's lack of enthusiasm against him.

• • • •

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a mother who would put a diaper on a nine-year-old boy and make him parade around the school yard for punishment for wetting his bed? This lady must be cracked.

LIVES ACROSS THE STREET

DEAR LIVES: This woman is more than "cracked." She is cruel and ignorant. Bed-wetting is a symptom of an emotional problem, and to humiliate a child for wetting the bed will cure nothing and only compound the problem. I urge you to call on this neighbor (even if you know her slightly) and try to convince her to take her boy to a doctor and to heed his advice.

• • • •

DEAR ABBY: I laughed when I read the letter from the woman whose child didn't look anything like her or her husband, which was a constant source of embarrassment to her. I went through the same thing many years ago. My hair was mousy brown and as straight as a poker. My husband's was dark brown — what there was of it. Our son had a head full of reddish-gold curls. My oil man, who showed up every now and then, had hair exactly the same color as my son's, and he looked more like the boy's father than my own husband. Some stories got back to me that were positively outrageous. I finally had to change oil companies to shut up the neighbors.

COURT STREET, S. C., IOWA

• • • •

DEAR ABBY: Is there anything wrong with my girl friend and me meeting two very nice clean boys from school in the movies? All we do is meet them inside and sit with them. We don't hold hands or anything like that. We are 14 and so are the boys.

IMPORTANT QUESTION

DEAR IMPORTANT: There is absolutely nothing wrong with it, IF you first get your mothers' approval.

• • • •

Get it off your chest. For a personal, unpublished reply, write to ABBY, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif., 90212. Enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Draft Report Due Today on Baker

WASHINGTON (AP) — Storm clouds appeared to be closing in today on the proposed report on the Senate's Bobby Baker investigation.

The Rules Committee, which conducted the probe into the affairs of the former secretary to the Senate's Democratic majority, called a meeting to discuss the draft report, but apparently only Democrats were to be on hand.

Republican members sent word they probably wouldn't make it because they have to attend a Republican senatorial conference on proposed amendments to the civil rights bill.

Sen. John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., one of the committee's three GOP members, said he was sure the Republicans will draft a minority report protesting any conclusion that an exhaustive investigation has been carried out.

Balked in their efforts to have White House aide Walter Jenkins and others called as witnesses at the hearings, Republicans have cried "whitewash."

Order Inspection Of Mail Boxes On Rural Routes

Rural, Star and mounted route postal patrons were requested this week to inspect their mail boxes to determine if they meet all postal regulations.

Postmaster Oscar V. Newkirk listed the following requirements:

Rural routes — Boxes and supports should be kept painted and free from rust. The name of the owner should be shown on the side of the box visible to the carrier as he approaches, or on the door where boxes are grouped. The assigned box number may be shown. Patrons should group boxes wherever this is practicable, particularly where adequate turnouts can be provided. Boxes must be accessible to the RFD carrier in order that they can deliver mail without getting out of vehicle.

City mounted routes — On mounted routes with curbline delivery, the box may be the rural type, either the traditional or contemporary design. Any other model used must protect mail from the weather. Where boxes are not located directly in front of the owner's residence, the patron's name and address must be shown on the box.

Rural and Star Routes — Mailboxes on both rural and star routes must be located on the right-hand side of the road in the direction of travel of the carrier wherever it would be dangerous to serve the boxes on the left, or where this would be a violation of state or local traffic laws or regulations.

Postal patrons who keep their mail boxes painted, name on side of box, and roadway to box in good condition, help to make delivery of mail more efficient.

The postal patrons cooperation in Mail Improvement Week will be appreciated by the Post Office Department.

Glancing Over TV Bill of Fare

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Reruns have pretty well taken over the nation's television screens and the 1963-64 season has just about run its course.

The season will be well remembered for the coverage of the terrible events that started when shots rang out in Dallas on Nov. 22.

But it may be a memorable year in TV history for another reason: Negro performers began to turn up frequently in leading, supporting and extra roles in television dramas, and the sponsors began using Negroes in their commercials.

"East Side, West Side," which was canceled after a season, had a young Negro actress as a prominent regular in the cast. One of the teachers in "Mr. Novak's" high school was a Negro and the series was renewed for another season.

Reginald Rose, creator and in charge of scripts for "The Defenders," which has always used Negro performers as principal characters — judges, district attorneys, policemen and defendants—said recently that although the situation had indeed improved enormously in this area, there was still a way to go.

He still did not feel free, he said, "to cast a Negro in a villainous role," and suggested that the Negro's position would be really secure when such a casting job would not draw complaints from the sensitive.

It seems that New York has not lost, after all, the production of two of its five dramatic shows. The series moved to the West Coast after a local union strike shut down production.

Plautus Productions President Herbert Brodkin said on Monday that "The Defenders" and "The Nurses" would be produced in Hollywood "indefinitely." Tuesday, however, a vice president said both shows would return to New York after shooting one episode each in Hollywood.

Hair's Strength

Know why the cave man used his love's hair as a handle to pull her by? He wanted her to go with him, yes. But hair is one of the strongest animal fibers. A woman's head of hair can support the equivalent of five tons of weight without pulling from the roots. So, one way to take a lady from one place to another, drag her by the hair—but at your own risk.

Saturday at New Paltz

Wallkill, Onteora Favored in UCAL Meet

Wallkill and Onteora, two of the top small school powers in the area, will be the teams to beat Saturday as schools in the Ulster County Athletic League conduct their annual track meet at New Paltz Central. Field events will get underway at 12:30 and running events at 1 o'clock.

Several records are expected to be broken in this annual event. Tom Apuzzo of Wallkill has a 9.8 clocking in the 100 yard dash and the record is 10.3, set by Eddie Kreuscher of New Paltz in 1962.

Jim Dolan, the ace distance runner from Wallkill, is expected to compete in the two mile event. He was timed in 9:45 last week, well below the mark of 10:22, set last year by Barry Hopkins of Onteora. Dolan, the recent mile winner at the New Paltz Relays, has a 4:24 to his credit in that race.

Eric Stoutenburgh of Onteora is favored to capture both the 220 and the 180 yard low hurdles. He holds the record in the hurdles with a fast time of 21.1 seconds but has already bettered that mark this year. Chief competition in the 220 should come from Apuzzo and Jim Freer of New Paltz.

Another record likely to be broken will be in the high jump. John Mars of New Paltz won with a 5-8 jump in 1962. Harold Kearns of Wallkill has a 6-3 jump and Art Hawkins of Onteora is credited with a 5-10 jump.

The oldest record is in the 880 yard relay where the mark of 1:38.5, set by Highland in 1958. Pine Bush and Rondout Valley figure to threaten that record.

This promises to be one of the best meets the league has held. If the weatherman cooperates with a good day, a good attendance is expected.

Twins Are High On Tony Oliva

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — He's played fewer than 50 major league games. His conversation consists of a few English monosyllables, a smile and a nod of the head.

It is doubtful if he knows a single American League pitcher by name. It wouldn't matter if he did. He calls Vic Power, his roommate "Big Powder." For that matter, his own name is Pedro but he goes under the name of his brother Tony.

But there is hardly anybody in baseball who hasn't heard of young Oliva, the newest batting sensation of the Minnesota Twins, who has been flirting with the .400 mark all season.

"I knew he was a good hitter," said Sam Mele, the Twins' manager, "but I had no idea he had that much power. He hits all kinds of pitches and he hits to all fields. Although he's a left - handed hitter, he's already hit two home runs to left field."

"He could be another Mickey Mantle," said Calvin Griffith, the Twins' president, "and there's no question in my mind that Mantle is the best in the league. The kid can do it all . . . he can hit, field, run and throw. And he's got a physique that an artist would love to paint."

The 22-year-old rookie is a 6-foot-2, 180-pounder.

Oliva went 1-for-5 Tuesday night and his batting average dropped to .391 as the Twins beat the Yankees 7-2 in 13 innings.

"He's very popular with the guys," said Mele. "After leaving the ball park, everybody waits to make sure he gets on the bus before taking off. They don't want to leave him behind."

"He's so wonderfully naive, you got to love him," said Power. "We're playing in Chicago. Tony comes to me and points to Floyd Robinson, the White Sox outfielder, whose name was on the back of his uniform.

"'Say, Big,' he said to me in Spanish, 'is he the first Negro to play in the major leagues?'

"Can you imagine that? He thought that was Jackie Robinson."

BATTING — Norm Siebern, Orioles, went 3-for-4 in 3-2 victory over Kansas City, singling home the first run against his former teammates, scoring the second and providing the clincher with a homer in the 10th inning.

PITCHING — Jack Sanford, Giants, checked Philadelphia on four hits in 3-0 victory that lifted San Francisco into first place in the National League ahead of the Phillies.

Charley Finley, who is busy suing Kansas City these days, ought to start his legal beagles working on an indictment against an ex-employe on hit-and-run charges.

Finley may not have had time to notice but his ballclub ran into an old friend in Baltimore Tuesday night and the collision was devastating — for the A's.

Norm Siebern, who used to do his stuff in Finley Gold and Green, saw his ex-mates for the first time and he gave them plenty to tell the old boss about.

The rangy first baseman stroked three hits, the last one a game-winning homer in the 10th inning, as the Orioles nipped the Athletics 3-2. His first-inning single drove in another run and he scored the Orioles' other marker on Boog Powell's double after walking in the eighth.

The three hits ran Siebern's average to .336, Jin Gentile, the man Finley got for Siebern, went 1-for-4 for Kansas City dropping his average to .267.

Elsewhere in the American League, Boston pushed across four runs in a weird ninth inning to nip Los Angeles 4-3, Chicago outlasted Cleveland 6-5, Detroit topped Washington 5-2 and Minnesota went 13 innings before whipping the Yankees 7-2.

Against Wyatt

Siebern connected against John Wyatt leading off the 10th to win it for Dick Hall, Baltimore's third pitcher. Oriole starter Robin Roberts carried a 2-1 lead into the ninth but Manny Jimenez doubled and Charley Lau singled to tie it before Stu Miller came on and halted the rally.

Athletic starter Moe Drabowsky struck out 10 before leaving for a pinch hitter in the ninth.

Bo Belinsky was breezing with a three-hitter for the Angels when the Red Sox staged a Hollywood ending to pull their victory out.

Leading 3-0 with two out and none on in the bottom of the ninth, Belinsky seemed home free. But he walked Dick Stuart and after Tony Conigliaro doubled, Manager Bill Rigney brought in Barry Latman.

Latman walked Bob Tillman and then forced in a run by hitting Roman Mejias. In came Don Lee and pinch hitter Dalton Jones rocked his 3-2 pitch for a base-clearing double to win it.

Don Mossi fanned pinch hitter Johnny Romano to end a Cleveland rally in the ninth inning and preserve the White Sox victory. The Indians came up with two runs on only one hit in the ninth, knocking out Sox starter Gary Peters and reliever Hoyt Wilhelm before Mossi ended it.

Detroit stretched its winning streak to four straight as Dave Wickersham became the first Tiger pitcher to win five games. Norm Cash and Bill Bruton homered against Washington loser Buster Narum. Don Zimmer homered for the Senators.

Minnesota and New York struggled through 12 innings tied at 2-2 before the Twins broke it open in the 13th. An RBI double by Rich Rollins, who had homered earlier, and Bob Allison's sacrifice fly pushed two runs across before Jimmie Hall wrapped it up with a three-run shot into the right field seats.

Jim Roland, who worked the first 12 innings—the most any pitcher has gone this season—won it and Hal Reniff, who had a string of 18 1-3 scoreless innings snapped by the Twin rally, lost it.

Pace A Breeze Wins Feature at Yonkers

Pace A Breeze whipped to victory over Adios Ronnie in the $7,000 Elmsford Pace before 22,430 Tuesday night at Yonkers Raceway.

George Sholty piloted the 5-year-old son of Meadow Pace through the mile in 2:04 3-5 for payoffs of $6.60, $4.20 and $4.10.

Irish Annie was third.

At Buffalo Raceway, Grace Frost came from behind to win the featured $2,000 trot by a neck over Mr. Allerton.

Grace Frost, driven by Vince Aquino, did the mile in 2:05 4-5 for returns of $4.80, $2.90 and $2.50.

Marimba Hanover was third.

Hurls 3-0 Job Over Phillies; Mets Lose, 6-4

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

The San Francisco Giants are wild about Jack Sanford today, but for being wild there's nothing in National League history that tops Ernie Broglio's performance.

Sanford, purposely held out of Monday's game against New York so he could open the key series against league - leading Philadelphia, responded with a four-hit, 3-0 victory over the Phillies Tuesday night that moved the Giants into the top spot by one game.

But if the Giants were cheering Sanford, the Chicago Cubs probably had to muffle their laughter over the plight of Broglio, the St. Louis right-hander who matched a league record by uncorking three wild pitches in one inning.

Andre Rodgers started the wild seventh inning for the Cubs with a walk and proceeded to steal second. He didn't have to steal third. Broglio wild pitched him there. After Dick Bertell walked, Broglio fired another one past Cardinal catcher Bob Uecker, who was beginning to get more exercise than a relay team.

The 3rd Wild Pitch

Bertell reached second while Rodgers held third on the heave. Cub pitcher Dick Ellsworth then attempted a squeeze bunt with the count two strikes, but missed. Uecker, however, immediately pivoted and headed to the backstop for wild pitch No. 3 as Rodgers scored and Ellisworth reached first.

That was all for Broglio. The Cubs weren't through, however, and went on to score three runs in the inning—on only one hit—building a 4-0 lead that led to a 7-4 victory. The loss left St. Louis in third place, two games back.

Elsewhere, Dick Tracewski played the key role as the Los Angeles Dodgers defeated the New York Mets 6-4, Warren Spahn won his 353rd game in Milwaukee's 4-2 triumph over Cincinnati and Houston downed Pittsburgh 3-1.

Sanford, now 4-3, was locked in a scoreless duel with Dennis Bennett until the seventh when Jim Hart collected his third hit, moved to second on a sacrifice and scored on Del Crandall's single. Sanford drove Crandall in with the second run of the inning, stroking a single that was bobbled by Wes Covington.

Hart went 4-for-4 on the night, driving in the final run in the eighth after Willie Mays walked. Mays walked three times and was 0-for-1 officially as his average dipped to .404.

Besides the help from Broglio in the seventh, the Cubs got some help in the eighth, scoring what turned out to be the decisive run when Ron Santo reached base on Dick Groat's error and eventually scored on Dick Bertell's single. Ken Boyer drove in four runs for the Cardinals, two with a homer. Billy Williams and Santo homered in support of Ellsworth, 3-4.

Tracewski singled in two runs with the bases loaded in the third for the Dodgers, then doubled and scored in the sixth. Tracewski's key single provided Phil Ortega with a 5-1 lead and he held on as the Mets rallied in the late innings. The Dodgers had scored twice in the first without a hit, using a walk, a hit batter, an infield out and a passed ball.

Spahn and Sam Ellis of the Reds were locked in a 1-1 tie until the eighth inning when Milwaukee pulled out front on homers by Lee Maye and Joe Torre. Rico Carty homered in the ninth for the Braves while Gordy Coleman connected for the Reds. Spahn allowed just six hits in bringing his record to 3-3. Ellis is 2-1.

The Colts had not scored in 25 innings when Al Spangler finally broke the drought with a two-run single in the fifth inning. Walt Bond's homer in the sixth inning accounted for the other run. Bob Bruce won it for a 5-1 record but needed Hal Woodeshick's relief help in the seventh when the Pirates scored their only run.

Five Inning Game

Wallkill No-Hits Onteora Club, 1-0

The rains held up just long enough to thwart the Onteora Central baseball team yesterday at Wallkill as the Indians were no-hitted and dropped a 1-0 decision to the home side.

Lefty Art Serikstad did the job for Wallkill. He had some difficulty in the sixth as the visitors had a runner on second with only one out. However, the skies opened and the Indians didn't get a chance to try and knot the score.

John Mower went four good innings for Onteora. Linden Frasier came on in the fifth and with one out Bob Hayson greeted him with a single. Then an error and an overthrow on an attempted pickoff at first base gave the winners the game's only run.

Serikstad walked two and fanned eight. The runner on base in the sixth was there by virtue of a walk. Mower fanned one and Frasier a pair and the Onteora hurlers exhibited flawless control.

Onteora will host league leading Marlboro Thursday at the Boiceville diamond.

Four Share Honors In Pro-Am Tourney

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — Terry Dill, Fred Hawkins, Kel Nagle and Ray Floyd tied with one-under-par 70s for low-pro honors in a $10,000 Pro-Am Golf Tournament Tuesday.

Buster Cupit's team won the Pro-Am competition, shooting a 16-under-par 55 to earn Cupit the $800 top Pro-Am money.

Rocca in Hudson Friday Night

Antonino Rocca, one of the biggest names in the professional wrestling world, will meet Ivan Melkenoff (The Mad Russian) in a fight to the finish feature event at an all-star wrestling show Friday at St. Mary's Academy in Hudson.

In a popular tag team match, Alexander the Great and Mr. Puerto Rico will oppose Masa Eddie Deane in a best-of-three fall bout.

A 30 minute preliminary exhibition will match Coley Wallace, a former heavyweight contender against El Toro.

Other matches will be featured. Tickets may be purchased at the door.

2 Heavyweights In Olympic Bout

NEW YORK (AP) — Buster Mathis, an agile, springy mountain of a man at 295 pounds, and Joe Frazier, the slaughter house smasher who weighs 100 pounds less, meet tonight in the climax bout of the Olympic Boxing Trials finals at the World's Fair.

Frazier, a fast, dynamic puncher who has knocked out his last six foes, is the favorite of most of the experts who saw the exciting semifinals in the 18,000-seat Singer Bowl Tuesday night.

The 20-year-old, 195 - pound Philadelphian, stopped Clay Hodges, a 6-foot-4, 201-pounder from Torrance, Calif., in 2:46 of the second round. A fast left-right combination to the jaw dropped the 22-year-old Californian for seven and the referee stopped it seconds later.

Mathis, a 19-year-old, 6-3 AAU champion from Grand Rapids, Mich., gained a split decision over left-handed Tyrone (The Brute) Hollins, a 6-1, 196-pound Army champion from Coffeyville, Kan.

Although Buster admitted he had trouble with the southpaw style, he seemed to have deserved a unanimous verdict on the strength of his big second round alone. He shook up the soldier several times with his quick combinations and clubbing rights to the head.

Greenwich Pair Win in Doubles

Gordon Petteys and Clyde Greene of Greenwich won the gross championship of the 3rd annual Mr. Ho-Bo Doubles tourney with 1552-280-1832.

Tops in the net division was the duo of Tony Potenza of Highland and Ralph DeStephano of Poughkeepsie with 1699. Potenza socked 822 and DeStefano 877.

Vince LaRocca and Lou Guido of Kingston were second in the handicap division with 1804. Third went to Al Conrad and Howie Snyder of Poughkeepsie with 1792.

Jake Charter and Potenza were second in the net division with 1692 Phil Versace and Sam Taylor were third with 1677, despite a record breaking 945 series by Versace. He averaged 236 for the four games.

Robinson Wins

PORTLAND, Maine (AP)—Sugar Ray Robinson, the former world middleweight champion, won an unanimous 10-round decision Tuesday night over Gaylord Barnes of Trenton, N.J.

Robinson, at 44, showed little of his old time prowess. He weighed 162 and Barnes 157.

The one on top is a world famous legend.

The one below it is the same legend redesigned into an all new station wagon.

It has the deluxe interior appointments and comfortable ride of a fine passenger car... carries six big adults plus more luggage and equipment than you can imagine. It's powered by America's only automotive overhead cam engine, the high torque Tornado OHC... offers optional extras such as automatic transmission, independent front suspension, power steering and power brakes. But the all new Wagoneer is really a 'Jeep' vehicle at heart.

The 'Jeep' Wagoneer goes up steep hills, over rough rugged terrain and through snow and mud that leave other cars helpless. And around slippery turns that cause fishtailing and skidding, it hugs the road with traditional 'Jeep' traction.

The Philadelphia Phillies shudder every time they realize they exposed two of their hottest young stars to the expansion draft three years ago. And both were passed by the New York Mets and Houston Colts. Richie Allen, almost a cinch to be major league Rookie of the Year, was faulted for his fielding. Pitcher Ray Culp, who won 14 in his debut last year, was supposed to be a sore arm risk. Says general manager John Quinn, "It makes me nervous to think about it." . .

The Milwaukee Braves finally unloaded shortstop Roy McMillan on the Mets and got practically nothing (since they immediately sent acquired pitcher Jay Hook to Denver). Yet earlier this spring they could have made a deal with Houston for no-hit pitcher Ken Johnson, and nixed it.

What does a player think about when he learns he has been traded? The only thing that concerned Hook was his trade status. Though he was less than a month away from being a five-year player and qualifying for the pension, he was more worried about whether he was being optioned or sent outright to Denver. As an optionee (which he was), he'd get $600 in expense money that he couldn't collect otherwise.

Richie Allen

The many trades in pro football have left the veterans a little shell-shocked. . . . "Everybody's kind of got his collar buttoned up," reports Bart Starr from Green Bay. . . .

Since quarterback is such a sensitive spot, why should he be worried? "It takes five years to make a quarterback," Bart contends, "but only five minutes to trade him." . . .

Les Richter, the colorful former linebacker of the Los Angeles Rams, joins the long list who have switched to the closer confines of a telecast booth. He'll do color for the Dallas Cowboys. . . . Meanwhile, Eddie LeBaron, former Cowboy quarterback, has severed all Texas ties (he worked in the law office of part-owner Bedford Wynne) and returned west—as a cement company executive in Nevada. The little man quit a little bitter because he felt he could have played more. . . .

Arnold Palmer gets thousands of letters annually from his "army." . . . "And," says the general, "I answer every one of them." . . . Yankee pitcher Ralph Terry, a golf bug, is investing in a new golf course project planned for Morris County in New Jersey.. . . .

Most surprised guy in the world at the pro basketball draft was Red Auerbach of the Boston Celtics, who found that Mel Counts, the seven-footer from Oregon State, was still available when it came his turn to pick. . . . "He can shoot like hell for a boy that tall," said Red. "He can run, too; he jumps high enough. He's as good as any of the first-round choices." . . . And if anybody thinks the Celtics dynasty is in danger, Red warns, "This is one of the best drafts I've ever had. I usually can't get guys like Counts, Ron Bonham (Cincinnati) and John Thompson (Providence)."

You have to rate Detroit as one of the best incubators for baseball talent in the country. One sandlot team's roster a few years ago listed pitcher Milt Pappas of Baltimore, outfielder Al Luplow (Cleveland), shortstop Al Moran of the Mets, with Bill Roman (a .300 hitter at Syracuse) on first . . . and opposing them in the same league were Bill Freehan and Willie Horton of the Tigers, plus Dave DeBusschere (White Sox pitcher) . . .

Between you'n'me, baseball's hopes for a Monday night national television package might not be the bonanza they envision. At least one major network has already turned it down. And it won't come close to matching football's $14.2 million deal annually. . . .

Toronto Retains Two Game Margin

A two-run homer with two out in the 10th inning by Rochester's Curt Blefary halted the Buffalo stampede and kept Toronto's International League lead at 2½ games.

Rochester came from behind with two-run rallies in both the ninth and 10th innings Tuesday night to beat Buffalo 4-2 and halt the second-place Bisons' winning streak at five. In other games, Syracuse cut down Toronto 7-1, Richmond shut out Columbus 6-0 and Jacksonville blanked Atlanta 4-0.

Buffalo right-hander Darrell Sutherland checked Rochester on three hits for eight innings, but two triples and a single tied the score in the ninth. Al Pehanick came on in relief for the Herd and got the side out, but Blefary tagged him for the homer after Dave Johnson singled with two out in the 10th.

Syracuse's new outfielder Willie Horton had an impressive debut, going 3-for-4 and blasting a bases-loaded triple in the Chiefs' five-run rally in the seventh inning. Bruce Brubaker picked up his first victory for the Chiefs, although he needed help from Fred Gladding when Toronto scored its only run in the eighth.

Richmond's Jack Cullen had trouble the first five innings, but blanked Columbus on one hit in the last four for the first shutout by a Virginian pitcher this year.

Emerson Seeking French Net Title

PARIS (AP) — Roy Emerson of Australia opens defense of his men's singles title in the French Tennis Championships today. At the same time he'll be trying to forge the second link in the chain of the Big Four titles.

Only Don Budge of the United States in 1938 and Rod Laver of Australia in 1962 have been able to win the Australian, French, Wimbledon and Forest Hills championships in the same year.

Emerson started off last year with the Australian and French crowns, but he didn't get to the finals at Wimbledon or Forest Hills.

Sacred Five Wins CAA Loop Crown

Sacred Five finished the CAA league with a 75½-38½ record to easily win top honors. Joseph Fautz was the best individual kegler with a mark of 183.63. John Nagy's 666 triple was high as was a 258 by Thomas Brocco.

Team high nets were Immaculate Conception (2901) and St. Colman (1019). Team high triples were St. Peter's No. 1 (2951) and St. Mary's of Kingston (1011).

West Point Athletic Teams Face Rugged Foes This Week

WEST POINT—Tigers, Lions and Pirates will be after Army Athletic teams this Saturday, hoping to pull some spring sports upsets a week before the Cadets face Navy in the 1964 season finale.

The Tigers from Princeton will be at West Point for baseball, while they will protect their den from an Army lacrosse and tennis invasion. The Lions from Penn State, the Nittaney-type that is, will come to the Military Academy for a track meet. The Pirates of Seton Hall sail up the Hudson for a golf match on the Academy links. Thumbnailing this next-to-last weekend of spring activity, it looks like this:

Baseball: A victory over Princeton in an Eastern League clash Saturday at 2:30 p. m. at Doubleday Field will give the Cadets sole possession of second place in the final standings. That's much better than they did in 1963 when they won but three league games and ended in 8th place. Army has a 5-2 record at present and has league games with the Tigers and Navy remaining on the schedule. Harvard has already clinched the crown, going through all nine games without a loss.

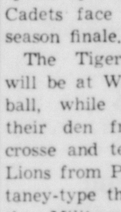
Track: Penn State's Nittany Lions close out Army's home schedule with a 2 p. m. meeting Saturday at Shea Stadium (West Point). Army trailed Harvard in the Heptagonal meet last week at Yale, but found itself only a half point better than Navy. Captain Bill Straub, the backbone of Army track both indoors and out, won the Heps mile and two-mile and probably will have to repeat to beat the Lions. Army's top hurdler, Kent Allen, has been sidelined for a couple of weeks and his loss has been felt. The Cadets have won three of four dual meets this spring.

Golf: Already holding an Academy mark for the most wins in a season (10), Army's undefeated golf team will close out its home program against Seton Hall Saturday at 1 p. m. Steve Pembrook, captain of the team and number one all season, played against Cornell and Syracuse last week with his back in a brace. But he came through with victories over both opponents. Aggravation of a high school football injury to his back have bothered the Cadet leader the past two weeks.

Lacrosse: Navy has already completed its pre-Army schedule with eight wins in a row . . . Army can match it with a win Saturday at Princeton. There is no doubt that the Army-Navy game on May 30th at West Point's Michie Stadium will be the big one for intercollegiate lacrosse. Navy has scored at least 11 and as many as 20 in each tilt, while the best their opponents could do was 7. The Maryland game was the closest, that ending 11-7 for the Middies.

Army got 14 against both Maryland and Syracuse, but only 8 in the victory over Hofstra. As far as scoring by opponents, Johns Hopkins bumped 10 past the Cadet goalie.

Tennis: Probably the toughest match of the year faces the Army net team Saturday at Princeton. The Tigers were the only team to beat Miami this year, and they have been eating up the eastern net circuit all spring. Except for an opening loss to Harvard, Army's team has won all of its matches and will take a 12-game victory record into the Tiger lair.



Miller Hurls Jaycee 1-Hitter

Steve Miller fired a one-hitter as the Jays shutout the Hawks, 6-0, in a Jaycee Little League game.

A single by Ted Blanchshan was the only hit off Miller's slants. He walked one and fanned nine.

The winners had seven safeties with Doug Clancy, Tom Ingara and Dave McGrath stroking doubles.

Esopus Giants Top Braves, 8-6

Scoring seven runs in the first two innings, the Giants scored an 8-6 Town of Esopus Legion Little League win over the Braves.

John Fitzgerald had a double and two singles to pace the winners. The hitting star for the Braves was Vince Provenzano with a single, double and home run in as many trips. He scored three runs, as did John Fassbender of the Giants.

Brad Fiel, Pete Ahearn and Fassbender also stroked doubles during the free-hitting affair.

Ahearn was the winning chucker with Ron White being charged with the setback.

WLL Yankees Top Dodgers, 15-5

The Yankees produced a pair of six run innings and beat the Dodgers, 15-5, in a Woodstock Little League game.

George Quinn led a 16-hit attack with three singles while Clayton Horsey, Tom Graham, Pete Johnson and Kevin Churchill had two safeties each. Mike Calyer had three hits and Danny Wells two for the losers.

Joe Kenney, Molyer and Horsey hit doubles.

Many Ex-Stars At Owens' Rites

ONEIDA, N.Y. (AP)—Members of the football dynasty he helped create gathered for the funeral today of Stout Steve Owen, beloved long-time coach of the New York Giants.

The 66-year-old Owen, who led the Giants to nine Eastern Division titles and three league championships as player and coach, died Sunday in Oneida City Hospital after a cerebral hemorrhage.

The funeral service was to be held at St. Patrick's Roman Catholic Church and burial was to be in St. Patrick's Cemetery here.

Owen had lived here for the last 13 years.

Giant President Jack Mara, Coach Allie Sherman, and Jim Lee Howell, a former coach who played under Owen, were the official representatives of the Giants.

The list of pallbearers included former Giant stars Ken Strong, Leland Schaffer, Al Owen and Ed Danowski. Strong and Danowski were all-league backs in the 1930s.

Palmer Nearing Top Shape For National Open Tourney

DALLAS (AP) — Arnold Palmer says "I find myself thinking of the Open more this year than ever before."

This means he was slowly and methodically getting himself ready for the second leg on his projected golfing Grand Slam—the Masters, National Open, British Open and U.S. PGA.

He already has won the Masters. The Open, at Bethesda, Md., is a month away.

Palmer was here Tuesday to play in an exhibition with Byron Nelson, Tony Lema and Bob Charles. He shot a one-under-par 70, a score matched by Charles over the 6,600-yard Brook Hollow Golf Club course.

"Last year I felt I got ready too early, so this time I'm taking it easy and making sure particularly that I'm physically ready," said Palmer. He added that he had done the same thing before the Masters.

Palmer has played in 11 tournaments, won two and finished in the first five places six times. He has taken down $41,673, which puts him only $2,625 behind the year's leader, Jack Nicklaus.

Arnie said that "from tee to green I've been playing very well. I haven't been putting too well, but I putted much better at Oklahoma City."

He won the Oklahoma City Open Monday with one of the come-from-behind finishes for which he is noted.

"I think I'll be at my peak by the time the Open comes around," said Palmer.

With a heavy schedule of tournaments and exhibitions, Palmer appeared a little tired. But he insisted that he felt fine, was in good spirits and demonstrated his golf talents for a crowd of 2,200 that paid about $4,000 to the Crippled Children's Society of Dallas.

EMPLOYMENT

NOTICE TO JOB APPLICANTS

The Kingston Daily Freeman does not knowingly accept Help-Wanted advertisements from employers covered by the Federal Wage-Hour Law if they offer less than legal minimum wage. Most employes engaged in interstate or foreign commerce or in the production of goods for such commerce must be paid not less than $1.25 an hour and at least one and one-half times their regular rate of pay for hours worked after a maximum workweek of 40 hours, unless specifically exempt. Also most employes in certain large retail, service, construction and other enterprises engaged in or producing goods for commerce, who have been entitled to a minimum wage of at least $1.00 an hour since September 3, 1961, must be paid overtime pay of not less than one and one-half times their regular rates for all hours worked after a maximum workweek of 44 hours, unless specifically exempt. If you are offered less by covered employers, or if you have questions concerning the Fair Labor Standards Act or other activities of the U. S. Department of Labor, call or write the Department's local office at 881 Gerard Ave., Bronx, N. Y. 10452 WYandotte 2-1235

Nurse Institute Hears Facts on Stroke Problem

The last session of the Heart Institute for Nurses on Strike Back at Stroke was held Monday at the Brigham School. The subject of Psychosocial Aspects was presented by Frederick A. Whitehouse, Ed.D., director of Rehabilitation of the American Heart Association.

In pointing out the magnitude of the stroke problem he said that cancer is a known and dreaded disease and some people mistakenly believe it equal or greater to cardiovascular disease as a killer. Yet, even informed people seldom realize that in considering all age groups, strokes alone cause almost three-quarters as many deaths as cancer, he said.

"At this moment in time we seem to have arrived at the merging of two main streams of knowledge about strokes," Dr. Whitehouse said. "Up to fairly recently it has seemed that the main stimulation and progress for such patients have come in the rehabilitation field which has in the past 20 years slowly built up a highly competent knowledge of how to deal with stroke patients chiefly after primary medical and nursing treatment was completed. Sometimes the patient was left too long without rehabilitation and it was too late to really help since months or even years had passed."

"The other stream fed by early detection, early treatment, new drugs, new surgical techniques and other advances has come along and we are better able than ever before to combine both these branches for the treatment and rehabilitation of the stroke patient."

"Nurses, social workers, rehabilitation personnel and others ought to be made aware of the early signs of stroke and the detection of little strokes so that in their contacts with such individuals, referral can be made for medical examination to delay, or if possible, avoid a full stroke."

Sister Mary Charles, co-administrator of Benedictine Hospital and co-chairman of the Heart Institute Planning Committee, presided.

Miss Katherine A. Bower, executive director of the Ulster County Heart Association, in thanking the members of the planning committee, pointed out that this institute would not have been possible without their outstanding cooperation and support, and that it was one of many programs sponsored by the Ulster and Greene County Heart Associations.

Anyone wishing information about Heart Disease may contact the Ulster County Heart Association, 268 Fair Street, or the Greene County Heart Chapter, 302 Main Street, Catskill.

Commandery Is To See Films Of Africa Safari

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard M. Clarke, operators of a fruit farm in Milton, who have recently returned from a three-week safari in Africa, will give an illustrated talk on their trip at Ladies Night of Rondout Commandery 52, Knights Templar, Wednesday, May 27, in the Masonic Temple, 31 Albany Avenue, at 8 p. m.

Not only are the Clarkes expert marksmen with a gun as proven by the 30 specimens of wild life they bagged, but also are experts with the camera and were able to capture on film some of their most thrilling experiences, especially with the African lions.

The safari party included a white guide, a dozen natives consisting of trackers, cook, motorboy, and servants to take care of the camp and equipment.

Rondout Commandery will hold a brief meeting at 7:30 in order that the program of entertainment may start promptly at 8 p. m. All Sir Knights and their ladies are urged to attend and all friends of the Commandery will be welcomed. Refreshments will be served in the dining room following the program and a social hour enjoyed.

Robbed of $132,000

MONTREAL (AP)—A woman employe of a car dealer was robbed of $132,000 in cash and checks Tuesday as she was taking the money to a bank in a northeast Montreal suburb.

Mrs. A. Verdon was ordered out of her car after two unarmed men in another car had forced it over to the side of the street.

The bandits grabbed the bag containing $12,000 in cash and $120,000 in checks and fled in Mrs. Verdon's car, abandoning it two blocks away.

LEGAL NOTICES

The regular Town Board meeting of the Town of Olive will be held at the Town Hall in W. Shokan at 8 p. m. on June 1 instead of June 2.

Thumbnail Sketches Of Pageant Workers

This is the eighth of a series of brief releases about members of the board of directors of Pageant, Inc., sponsor of the Miss New York State Pageant held here. The 1964 pageant will take place in Kingston High School Auditorium July 9, 10 and 11.

Frank H. Reis of 78 Plymouth Avenue, is serving as director of production for the 1964 Miss New York State Pageant. His responsibilities include all phases of production including: the auditorium, arrangements for and working with a producer-director, a settings director, lighting, orchestra, master of ceremonies and stage hostesses.

Reis has worked on the pageant program as a volunteer for the past five years, serving as producer in 1961. He represents the Kingston Junior Chamber of Commerce on the board of directors and is associated with his father, Frank A. Reis in operating the Reis Liquor Store on Central Broadway. Reis is a member of the Kingston Kiwanis Club; B Battery 156th Artillery, New York National Guard and St. Joseph's Holy Name Society.

Reis is one of a large group of volunteers who devote many hours of extra time planning and staging the Miss New York State Pageant. It is conducted as a self-supporting project financed almost entirely by the sale of patron tickets, which also entitles the purchaser to the best reserved seats, one for each night of the three performances, and the sale of admission tickets.

The state pageant is conducted as a major statewide publicity or promotional event. It publicizes Kingston and attracts many people to the pageant itself. A large percentage of those who attend come from out of town.

This year it is expected that between 22 and 26 contestants from all parts of the state will vie for the state title. This will be the largest number of contestants since the state franchise was awarded to Kingston in 1959.

Woman's Club Plans Festival, Fashion Show

The regular monthly meeting of the Woman's Club of Rosendale was held at the home of Mrs. Vernon Freese Thursday, May 14 at 8 p. m. Co-hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Raymond Ford and Mrs. Ann Duffy. Program chairman Mrs. James Merck introduced Mrs. Florence Pope, Rondout Valley Times editor as guest speaker.

Mrs. Frederick Dippel and Mrs. Paul Purcell attended the county luncheon held at the Governor Clinton Hotel. Mrs. Paul Purcell narrated on the clubs activities that were written by President Emma Pezzello who was unable to attend the meeting.

The General Federation of Women's Clubs convention which was held at Grossingers Hotel at Grossinger was attended by Mrs. Pezzello, Mrs. Howard Mansfield and Mrs. Paul Purcell. The convention was reported extremely successful.

A fashion and wig show will be held by the Woman's Club of Rosendale at Williams Lake Hotel Wednesday, Oct. 21. The fashion show committee will be ticket chairman, Mrs. Alfred Trandle; fashions, Mrs. Howard Mansfield, Mrs. Emma Morelli, Mrs. Irwin Smith, Mrs. Ann Duffy and Mrs. James Merck; hostesses chairman, Mrs. Peter Mathews; wardrobe, Mrs. Paul Purcel and Mrs. Howard Mansfield, treasurer.

At the close of the meeting refreshments were served. A cake was presented with the names of the outgoing officers, president, Emma Pezzello; vice president, Laurette Morrelli; recording secretary, Pat Merck; corresponding secretary, Lena Larabee.

The June meeting will be held on June 11 at the home of Mrs. Mary Hill.

Aging Parley Opens At Thayer Hotel

WEST POINT, N.Y. (AP)—A seven-county regional conference on problems of the aging opened this morning at the Thayer Hotel here.

The one-day session was called by the State Office for the Aging, in connection with the statewide observance of senior citizens month. The office noted that about 1 out of every 10 persons in the seven counties is 65 or older.

The conference chairman was Dwight S. Sargent of Dobbs Ferry. Delegates represented the counties of Dutchess, Orange, Putnam, Rockland, Sullivan, Ulster and Westchester.

Think of Compromise

HARRISBURG (AP) — Some Pennsylvania Democratic leaders are advancing the theory that perhaps it would preserve party unity if a compromise candidate were named to run for the U.S. Senate, according to party sources.

As of today, three weeks and one day after the April 28 primary, the Democrats had no candidate at all.

Justice Michael A. Musmanno, on leave from the state Supreme Court, led Genevieve Blatt, secretary of internal affairs, by 171 votes out of 920,000 votes cast.

The figures take in the full count, with absentee ballots, in 63 counties, and unofficial tabulations, with unchallenged absentee ballots, from Philadelphia, Lackawanna, Somerset and Washington Counties.

Cuba Schedules Maneuvers Along Northwest Coast

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The Cuban Armed Forces Ministry said today that coastal artillery and military jet planes would hold maneuvers along the northwest coast of Cuba.

Havana radio reported the ministry warned ships and aircraft that the area from San Pedro Beach, in Cabanas, to Pinar del Rio Province should be avoided between 9 a.m. and 2 p.m. Ships were warned that navigation would be dangerous within seven miles of the coast.

Await Signatures On Novel Contract

BERNE, Ind. (AP)—An agreement that could cost union members up to six weeks' pay and management a comparable amount if they let future negotiations collapse was ready today for final signatures.

The contract, called the first of its kind in the history of collective bargaining, is to be signed in New York Thursday by Harold D. Sprunger, president of the Dunbar Furniture Corp. of Berne, and Sal B. Hoffman, president of the Upholsterers' International Union.

Local union and management officals signed the agreement in Berne Tuesday. Present wage scales were not disclosed.

Dunbar employs about 300 workers, 70 per cent of them union members. The only strike at the plant, in 1959, was settled one day short of six weeks.

This is the way the contract works:

For a period up to 12 weeks beginning with the start of negotiations, 50 per cent of employes' wages and a matching amount from company funds will be paid to the First Bank of Berne, which will donate its services.

If agreement is reached within six weeks, all the money held by the bank is returned. If a settlement is arrived at within nine weeks the payoff is 75 per cent. Up to 11 weeks it drops to 50 per cent, the 12th week to 25 per cent.

If the 12-week period expires without an agreement all the money goes to a community or charitable project, with the Berne Ministerial Association to determine the recipient if union and management cannot agree.

After 12 weeks the union may strike or the company may impose a lockout, but only after giving advance notice. Otherwise the previous agreement is renewed automatically for one year.

Report Sub Base Pact

PARIS (AP) — The paper Figaro said today that the Soviet Union and Algeria reportedly have signed an agreement providing for a Soviet nuclear submarine base in Algeria.

The Figaro dispatch was written by its correspondent in Madrid. It gave no further details.

Pools, Benches to Open

BEAR MOUNTAIN, N. Y. (AP)—Pools and beaches in the Bear Mountain State Park will open Saturday for the 1964 season, the Palisades Interstate Park Commission announced today.

Kingston Woman Wins Shopping Spree Contest

A Kingston woman is the winner of one of the grand local prizes in Pepsi-Cola's $1,850,000 1964 Shopping Spree selected Tuesday, by Henry Mitchell of Newburgh Chamber of Commerce at the Pepsi-Cola Newburgh Bottling Co. Inc.

The grand local prize, a five-minute free shopping spree in a food store, was won by Mrs. Jerry Bouchard of 72 Van Deusen Street.

The Grand Union at the Kingston Plaza Shopping Center, was selected as the site of the shopping spree, local grand prize in the $1,850,000 1964 Pepsi-Cola Shopping Spree, it was announced by Tenney, president of the Pepsi-Cola Newburgh Bottling Co., Inc.

Saturday morning, 8:30 a. m. has been set for the spree. During the spree, the winner will be permitted five minutes to take as many groceries off the shelf as she can carry to the check-out counter.

At the conclusion of the time period, the local Pepsi-Cola Bottling Company will pay the full retail cost of the check-out tape run up by the winner.

Teener Is Held For Theft of Kingston Auto

One of four teenagers apprehended in the Highland area early today as they were riding in a car allegedly stolen from Hasbrouck Avenue, was charged with first degree grand larceny the others are to be petitioned to children's court as juveniles.

Booked on the charge was Richard W. Tucker, 16, of Terrace Heights, Ellenville. City Court hearing was put over to Friday, and he was to be released in the custody of his mother.

The car, owned by Stewart Sharot, of 153 TenBroeck Avenue, was spotted by Trooper Wallace Mahan on Route 9W near the intersection of Route 299. The car was reported taken from Hasbrouck, near Foxhall Avenue between [illegible]n. Tuesday and 2:30 a. m. today.

The four were brought to Kingston police headquarters for questioning, after they were apprehended by Trooper Mahan, and the larceny charge was lodged here.

Halts Pact With U. S.

RANGOON, Burma (AP) — Burma's revolutionary government has terminated the $94.5-million Rangoon Mandalay highway project, financed by America, authoritative sources reported.

The U.S. ambassador, Henry Byroad, called at the Foreign Office Tuesday and was told of the Burmese decision to terminate the 1963 agreement with Washington.

Survey for the first section was well under way by the contractors, the Louis Berger Corp. of New Jersey.

The termination capped a series of steps aimed at reducing the U.S. influence in this strategic neutralist nation.

Board to Discuss Curriculum at Thursday at GWS

The fourth of a series of meetings to discuss the educational and curricular program of the Kingston Schools Consolidated will be held by the Kingston Board of Education Thursday, 8 p .m, in the music room of the George Washington School.

The subject for discussion will be Curriculum Needs for the Special Curriculum Group in the Junior High Schools.

A group of teachers from the Myron J. Michael Junior High School, under the chairmanship of Donald Anderson, principal, will present their ideas and tentative conclusions as to the type of curriculum from which the less academically talented group can gain the maximum profit.

Although further study of this problem is needed and is in the planning stages, it has been tentatively decided that the curriculum for the special curriculum students should stress the basic skills (the 3 R's), elements of good citizenship, and a functional program of useful vocation skills.

This will be an educational meeting. No business will be discussed. The public is invited to attend.

T-Men Seize Arms Cache

CLINTON, Ill. (AP) — U.S. Treasury agents have seized a stockpile of machine guns, flame throwers, mortars and explosives and arrested a one-time Illinois leader of "The Minutemen," a nationwide anti-Communist group.

The agents, who posed for weeks as middlemen for an unnamed foreign weapons buyers, said they paid $17,000 to Richard Lauchli, 37, for the arms in an abandoned barn. The agents also arrested Donald Sturgis, 36.

An inventory showed at least 100 submachine guns, five 50-caliber tripod-mounted machine guns, a flame thrower, several 25-pound aerial bombs, several mortars, many automatic pistols and rifles, and ammunition for all the weapons.

In addition, Treasury agents raided Lauchli's home and confiscated more submachine guns and another flame thrower.

Asst. U.S. Atty. Leon Scroggins said Lauchli and Sturgis were charged in a federal complaint in Springfield, Ill., with possession of unregistered automatic weapons. He said Lauchli bought the weapons as scrap and reconditioned them.
